The Conference then took up the discussion of the gen ral principles of His Majesty's Go ernment's proposals The discu lons con tinued until 5 1 m when the Conference when the Conference adjourned until tomorrow

On the following day the Conference re assembled in the morning but dispersed before lunch as it had readed certain provisional and the delegates expressed a conclusions wish to conf r an on, t themselves two furtler postponements the last one for a period of a fortnight

No authoritative light was thrown on the proceedl gs of the Conf rence but press reports agreed that the initial provess chieved by the Conference was not kept up after the second day By it e second day the Conference had agreed on the m in principles of the Wavell Plan such as parity bet een caste Hirdus agreed on the m in principles of the Wavell Plan such as parity bet een caste Hindus and Massims representation for other minorities and Massims representation for other minorities of the reconstituted F equive council under the present Government of India Act and the retution by the Vicercy of his power of veto What rem ined wa the composition of the proposed Lecculive Council and it steps it as were expected to flow from it It as suggested that representatives of the Convress and the Leavue aloud meet with a view to exploring by His Majesty's Government f' the advance in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the future H in the H in t

Excellency said there was no limit to the them and we shall always be ready and willing number of nominations or the field of choice, to help them to improve their position socially but he reserved to himself the right to make and economically. Therefore, it follows that the final selection subject to his broadcast the Congress will on many important matters conditions. He refused to commit himself be sufely entitled to count on their support in regard to the League demand that no non-League Muslim must be included The Congress agreed to submit the names, but insisted that its quota must not be confined to easte Hindus The I ergue, on the other hand, declared its intention to examine the whole question, adding that only if it was satisfied it would proceed with the recommendation of its nominees

In a statement issued that evening. Mr.

Jinnah said

We have no illusions about this parity between Hindus other than Scheduled Castes and Muslims, because on the Liecutive Council as proposed the Mu-lim quota will not be more than one-third and in the whole of the Liecutive Council Muslims will be a minority of one-third

"Whereas the Hindu quota will be in parity with Muslims, there will be Scheduled Castes representation and Sikh representation and we do not know yet which other community or communities will secure representation, because the strength of the new Executive Council is yet to be determined

The Congress on any important matter will be safely entitled to count on the support of the scheduled castes and the Sikhs We of the scheduled castes and the Sikhs are willing to make full contribution to any just and reasonable settlement. The Congress just and reasonable settlement. The Congress has already claimed the right to choose a member or members from the Muslim block, and some other party or parties may make similar claims. While we have every desire to find a solution, this point, namely, that the Congress or any other body, should be entitled to chose a Muslim from the Muslim block, Congress or any other body, should be entitled to chose a Muslim from the Muslim block, to pursue her own course, both at home and in is one which we cannot accept either on principle or on facts as they are before us "Therefore," Mr Jinnah declared "there or on facts as they are before us

"I want to give you a little background First, the Mushm League passed its resolution in Delin in Mirch 1943, and we there formulated our demand. The demand was that we were always ready to consider any proposals or negotiate with any party on the basis of equality of representation on the provisional Central Government—at that time the party meant was the Congress—provided the British Government made a declaration guaranteeing to the Mussalmans the right of self-determination and undertaking to abide by the verdict of the Mussalmans to give effect to the Pakistan scheme in accordance with the principles out lined in the Lahore resolution of the All-India Muslim League in 1940

'The Wavell proposals do not concede or accord with the declaration referred to Both the Viceroy's broadcast and the announcement by the Secretary of State contain certain negative assurances

'Now, as regards the Scheduled Castes, their real grievance is of social tyrainy and economic oppression in Hindu society, but with regard to political ideal or political goal, it is the same so far as the Scheduled Castes are concerned So, the representative or representatives of the Scheduled Castes will

"As regards Sikh representation, they are already opposed to dividing India and their political idea and goal are the same as those of the Congress. And so, they are not likely to have any particular bias for us

" As to any other community, I do not know

"Then there will be two British members, the Commander-in-Chief and the Viceroy The composition of this Council, will, therefore, be such as to enable the Congress invariably to command a majority

"I know the Viceroy's veto is there, and I know that Mr Amery says that the veto will be exercised to protect the minorities, but also I know that the Governor-General and Viceroy will be placed in a very invidious position if he were to exercise the veto constantly and as a normal business

"The powers and functions of the proposed Executive Council are stated by Mr Amery as follows in representing the White Paper in the House of Commons

"There is nothing in the proposals, if accepted, that will debar members of the Council from dealing with the whole problem of reconstruc-tion entirely as they please It will be for them to decide the industrial, agriculturial and health policies and so on It will be in and health policies and so on their power, so far as British India is concerned, to represent her as ministers in foreign capitals, and in which capitals India wishes to be re-presented The proposals, if accepted, impose no real burier or check upon India's freedom is no adequate provision against the Congress forcing their decisions by a majority vote against the Muslim block Therefore, we will have to consider how to provide against this position We are willing to make full contribution to any just and reasonable settlement

"Mussalmans desire honestly to come to a settlement and not play with facts And I do not think it can possibly be denied that 99 per cent of the Mussalmans of India are with the League We have not lost a single by election, except one—that was in the early days of 1937—out of about 70 by elections. The total number of Muslim members in all the provincial legislatures and the Central the provincial legislatures and the Central Legislature is somewhere about 600 and out of them there are only about 30 who are Congressite Muslims and who happened to be in one or the other provincial legislature

"I am told that in the Central Legislature, there is not a single Congressite Muslim from a Muslim electorate There are two Muslims a Muslim electorate There are two Muslims who have been returned by joint electorates We maintain, therefore, that the Muslim League alone and nobody else is entitled to give the names for the entire Muslim block to the Viceroy There cannot be un immity in this world

"I do not think you will find it anywhere in the world There are a handful of Muslims not have any particular bias for us, although in the world. There are a handful of Muslims I repeat we have the fullest sympathy with who are outside the League, there are Muslims

"Dear Mr Jinnah—His Excellency asks me to thank you for your letter of 7th July, and to say that he will be glad to see you at 4 p m this afternoon, or later this afternoon if that is more convenient to you Perhaps you would be kind enough to ask your secretary to ring me up and confirm the time—Yours Sincerely, L. M. Jenkins."

Letter from I ord Wavell to Mr Jinnah, dated July 9, 1945—"Dear Mr Jinnah—At the end of our talk yesterday evening you said that I could make your problem easier if I replied in writing to your letter of 7th July I do not think you expect any comment now on the first and third points in that letter Our talk was concerned mainly with the second point, 'that all the Mushm members of the proposed Executive Council should be chosen from the Mushm League before they are finally recommended to the Crown for appointment.

"I fully appreciate your difficulties, but regret that I am unable to give you the guarantee you wish, ie, that all the Muslim members of the proposed new Council shall necessarily be members of the Muslim League As I explained to you, I cannot commit myself to give similar guarantee to any other party I have to attempt to form an Lecutive Council representative, competent, and generally acceptable But of course I cannot compet any person or any party to co operate in my own solution if they do not wish to do so

"It will help me greatly if you will let me have names from the Muslim League and I sincerely hope you will do so I asked for eight, but will certainly accept five if you do not wish to send more. You can consider later whether any solution I put forward is acceptable to you

"During the next two or three years decisions of great importance will have to be taken by the Government of India, whatever its composition may be These decisions—on demobilisation, economic development, taxation, trade and so on—cannot wait, and it is the hope of H M G that the Executive Council responsible for them will be one in which the major political parties are represented. Letter from Mr Jinnah to Lord Wavell dated July 9, 1945 "Dear Lord Wavell,—I thank you for your letter of the 9th July which I placed before my Working Committee. The Committee, after giving its very careful consideration to the matter, desires me to state that it regrets very much to note that Your Excellency is not able to give the assurance that all the Muslim members of the proposed that all the Muslim members of the proposed Executive Council will be selected from the Muslim League. In my letter of the 7th July I mentioned that the Committee considers this as one of the fundamental principles, and in the circumstances, I regret I am not in a position to send the names on behalf of the Muslim I carne for inclusion in the proposed Executive Council, as desired by you

"I should like to assure Your Lxcellers; that it has been the carnest desire of the Committee and myself to assist you in every reason able way, but it is not possible for us to depart from our fundamental principles

"I need not, therefore, at present say any thing more with regard to the other points raised—Yours Sincerely, (M. A. Jinnah)

Tetter from the Secretary to the Governor General to Mr Jinnsh, dated July 10, 1945 "Dear Mr Jinnsh,—His Lxcellenev asks me to thank you for your letter of 9th July He will have to take two or three days to consider the position and will write to you when he has decided what to do—Yours Sincerely (etc.)

When the Conference reassembled on July 14, the Viceroy announced the failure of his efforts

"As you know, my original intention was that the conference should agree upon the strength and composition of the Lecutive Council, and that thereafter the parties should send me lists of names To these lists I would, if necessary, have added names of my own, and attempted to form on paper an Elecutive Council which might be acceptable to His Majesty's Government, myself, and the conference, I intended to discuss selections with the leaders, and finally to put them to the conference

"Unfortunately, the conference was unable to agree about the strength and composition of the Executive Council, and on the 29th June I undertook, with the approval of the conference, to endeavour to produce a solution not based on any formula agreed in advance I asked the parties to let me have lists of names and said I would do what I could to produce a solution acceptable to the leaders and to the conference

"I received lists from all parties represented here except from the European Group, who decided not to send a list, and the Muslim League I was, however, determined that the conference should not fail until I had made every possible effort to bring it to a successful ending I therefore made my provisional selections, including certain Muslim League names, and I have every reason to believe that if these selections had been acceptable here they would have been acceptable to His Majesty's Government

"My selections would, I think, have given a balanced and efficient Executive Council whose composition would have been reasonably fair to all parties I did not find it possible, however, to accept the claims of any party in full When I explained my solution to Mr Jinnah he told me that it was not acceptable to the Muslim League and he was so decided that I felt it would be useless to continue the discussion In the circumstances, I did not show my selections as a whole to Mr Jinnah, and there was no object in showing them to the other leaders. The conference has therefore failed

"Nobody can regret this more than I do myself I wish to make it clear that the responsibility for the fallure is mine The main idea underlying the conference was mine

attributed to me and I cannot place the blame for its failure upon any of the parties

I ask the party leaders to accept this view and to do all they can to ensure that there are a recriminations. It is of the utmost import ance that thi effort to secure agreement between the parties and communities should not result in a worsening of communal feeling I a k you all to evercise the greatest possible restraint

If it had succeeded its success could have been I had taken place in the Intern tional sphere and those changes had undoubtedly repercussions on the Indian problem The inevitable result of those changes has been to bring to the fore-front the question of Indian freedom and that of the freedom of the Asiatic countries

White fully bearing The Maulana added In mind the fact that the present arrangement is purely temporary and interim and should not possibly be regarded as a precedent for the permanent arrangement of the future I should like to emphasise and make it pe feetly clear that the Congress is essentially a national organisation and it cannot possibly be a party to any arrangement lonsoever interim and to any arrangement romsover interin and temporary it may be that prejudices its national charact r tends to impair the growth of nation alism or reduces it directly or indirectly to a communal body

During his interviews with the Viceroy he had mphasised the national claracter of ne had improsessed the incrona, of stracter of the Congress organisation and said that hattached consid rable importance to the de-ciration that the provi lonal plan was nitended as a preliminary step towards it e achievement of the cherist d go lof independence of India He had also m de It plain to His Excellency it at the Congress Working Committee wished Hat the Congress morang committee without to co-operate in every rea anable way to help to resolve the pesent deadlock and the C noreas had accordingly in spite of adverse circum stances come to Simia to participate in the conference would have become not Britain's war against; Japan, but India's war against Tapan There could not be two opinions as regards the question of liberating countries in South-Past Asia It would be the duty of the new Government of India to carry on the war against Japan cease lessly till those countries were liberated, but if it was the desire and intention of the Powers that the status quo in those countries should be restored, then surely the new Indian Govern-ment would not be a party to it They would not permit a single Indian soldier or the expenditure of a single pie for the maintenance of the status quo of the South East Asia countries

On the question of Caste Hindu-Muslim parity, which formed the basis of the new proposals, he said that he had impressed on Viceroy that in the constitution of the new Government, the criterion should be the political views held by the parties and not religious belief. The Congress did not wish to attach undue importance to the fact of a few more Muslims being in the Government or there being fewer Hindus "I raised all these issues at the conference itself, and I must say the replies His Excellency gave were to my mind reassuring," he said

"After the settlement of those fundamental issues, the conference came to consider the strength and composition of the new Executive Council,' said Maulana Azad "The conference was adjourned to enable private and informal talks to be carried on amongst the parties for a settlement You know the conversations led to no results

"In the course of those informal talks, the position taken up by Mr Jinnah was that the Mushm League on behalf of the Mushms should nominate Muslim members in the new Executive Council The Congress found that such a position would be inconsistent with its basic national character. You must remember that as far as we are concerned it is not merely a question of seats, but one affecting the fundamental principle. We were prepared to accommodate the Muslim League, but Mr Jinnah took up an uncompromising attitude "

The Viceroy asked the various groups to submit lists of names from which His Excellency would choose, after consultation with party leader. Mr Jinnah refused to submit names "In the interview I had with His Excellency on July 12, he told me that so far as the Muslim seats were concerned, he had endeavoured to prepare a list and seek Mr Jinnah's approval,' said Maulana Azad "The Vicerov further told me that he did his best, but failed to persuade Mr Jinnah who insisted that the Muslim nominees should be nominated by the League Working Committee The Viceroy was unable to agree to it, and felt it was not profitable to proceed with the proposals at present Maulana Azad also revealed that he had made an offer to the League that he would not press for the inclusion of the Congress Muslims in the seats reserved for the Muslims in the proposed reconstituted Executive Council

His proposal was that if the League agreed to the inclusion of two able and suitable national ist Mushms who belonged neither to the Congress nor to the League, he would not insist upon the inclusion of my Congress Muslims

He made this offer on his own responsibility and before he had a chance to consult his colleagues of the Working Committee, but he felt confident that if the League had proved agreeable, he would have been able to persuade the Congress Working Committee to accept the suggestion

"Two points arise at present The first is that the attitude of the Mushm League has been responsible for the failure of the conference The second point which emerges from the refusal of the Muslim League is that it is for I ord Wavell to decide whether to go forward or not His Excellency has decided not to proceed for the present. In this connection I must say what I said at the conference The British Government could not absolve themselves of the responsibility for the com munal problem here "So long as the third Party remains in India, these difficulties will remain as pawns on a chess-board and will continue to move in this fashion Whether it is today or tomorrow they must take up a firm stand in a just and fair basis. There is no other alternative And once a decision is taken, orward Those who are prebut to do that we must move forward pared to go forward must be allowed to go forward and those who wish to be kept out should be left out Without determination nothing could be done. Wavering minds and faltering steps will never carry us forward in the path of progress We must think before us forward we take a step And once we decide hesitation is no virtue but a sign of definite weakness. There is nothing new in this so called communal

"I have no regrets whatsoever for the Congress stand at this conference,' Maulana Azad emphasised

Asked how in view of the fact that the broadcast and the White Paper referred to an agreement amongst parties for the success of the plan the Government could be blamed for the failure of the conference, he replied "That is true We accepted the invitiation, knowing full well the position But that certainly does not mean that any group should be given the right to veto or that any group should be allowed to impede the progress of the country It should be seen that no party takes up a stand which is obviously wrong There could never be perfect unanimity "

He contested the claim that the Muslim League was the sole representative and authoritative organisation of the Muslims of India In the provinces where Muslims were in a majority, there was no League Ministry There was a Congress Ministry in the Frontier Province In the Punjab, it was a Unionist Ministry In Sind, Sir Ghulam Hussein depended on Congress support, and the same was the position It would not, therefore, be claimed ın Assam that the Muslim I eague represented all the Muslims, There was a large bloc of Muslims who had nothing to do with the League Mr Jinnah said "On a final examination and relative of the Weyell plan and found and analysis of the Wavell plan, we found that it was a snare 'There was the combination consisting of the Gandhi-Hindu Congress, which stands for India's Hindu national in dependence as one India, and the latest exponent of scorraphical unity. The Hindu Mahasabha.

The Hindu Mahasabha, which in recent veristics claimed a growing share of public attention as far as official recognition was concerned, and organisation of comparatively at the Simla Conference, for example, not only cent origin. Its beginnings can be traced to was the Hindu Mahasabha vas denied representations. has claimed a growing share of public attention in India, is an organisation of comparatively! recent origin. Its beginnings can be traced to the first years of the current century, almost simultaneous with the awakening of Muslim consciousness in 1906 and in vigour equal but opposite to that of the Muslim Communal organisation

During the first twenty five years of its life, the Hindu organisation had to struggle for its existence, what with the proverbial indifference of the Hindu masses, the inherent inability of majorities the world over to organise, and the better response which the Congress with its wider nationalistic appeal evoked among the Hindus All thus time, however, the causes which hampered the growth of the Hindu organisation were gradually, if imperceptibly, neutralised instance, the Hindu community's indifference began to give place to communal consciousness as a result of a number of Hindu-Muslim riots in which the majority community came out second best The waves of conversion from the Hindu fold, partly due to the discontent of the outcastes and partly because of the proselytising nature of the Islamic and Christian religions, opened the eyes of Hindu leaders to the growing decrease in the number of people owing allegiance to the Hindu faith

In addition to the reasons stated above, the political gains secured by the Muslim community under the Minto-Morley and Montague Chelms ford Reforms Schemes taught the Hindu community to come together and set up an organisation which will voice its claims in future adjustment

Even the wider platform of national emancipation and Hindu-Muslim unity from which the Congress appealed to the Hindu mind has latterly given signs of weakness, because Hindu-Muslim concord, far from coming within reach, threatens to go beyond grasp

It is however, wrong to assume that the Hindu organisation is anywhere near as powerful as the Congress, or even the Muslim League of the past six or seven years The Hindu Mahasabha has undoubtedly consolidated its position in recent years, most Hindus, not excluding many Congressmen, professing nationalistic ideals, have a sneaking sympathy for the Mahasabha, but when it comes to a question of elections to representative institutions, the Mahasabha has fuled to make an appeal to the Hindu electorate to the exclusion of the Congress

Just as the Muslim League, in spite of its not very flattering success at the polls in 1937, has become a mighty organisation among the Muslims of India, similarly the Hindu Mahasabha has given proofs of considerable following among the Hindu and even of a certain amount of powerbe the find that even it to the importance bestowed on it Hindusm) movement ceases to be merely by His Excellency the Viceroy In 1940, for the first time in its history, the Mahasabha was recognised as an organisation influential enough in the country to be reckoned with for purposes in the country to be reckoned with for purposes of political power is bound to be shifted in their for our result of the first time in the country to be reckoned with for purposes in the country to be reckoned with for purposes of the first time in its history. The first time in its history, the Mahasabha was recognised as an organisation influential enough in the first time in its history, the Mahasabha was recognised as an organisation influential enough in the first time in its history, the Mahasabha was recognised as an organisation influential enough in the first time in its history, the Mahasabha was recognised as an organisation influential enough in the first time in its history, the Mahasabha was recognised as an organisation influential enough in the country to be reckoned with for purposes of political and national movement in the country to be reckoned with for purposes of political power is bound to be shifted in their of representation in the Central Government

sentation but its demands found no place

Speaking for the present, however, it is difficult to say whether the status now enjoyed by the Mahasabha will continue in the event of the Congress coming to a settlement with the British Government, because the Congress has been in the field for a much longer period and has perfected its organisation in the country to an extent which the Mahasabha has yet to achieve

Moreover, it was only recently that the Mahasabha struck out a path of its own, to the point of hostility to the Congress, having in the first twenty or twenty-five years of its existence contented itself with occupying a status subordinate to that of the Congress and seeking only to emphasise the communal claims of the Hindu as distinct from their national claims

During the past two or three years, the Mahasabha has figured prominently—advocating, from the communal point of view, more aggressive opposition to the Muslim claims than the Congress and, from the political standpoint, a less militant programme and policy than the Congress Even in respect of the latter the Mahasabha has of late tended to become less and less "soft" For instance, at the last session of the All India Committee of the Mahasabha some of its leaders, including a Knight, renounced their titles as a protest against the British policy towards Hindus in general and the Mahasabha in particular Broad hints were thrown at the prospect of a movement to be launched by the Mahasabha for "national liberation and the vindication of Hindu rights" When the Congress went into the wilderness in August 1942, the Hindu Mahasabha como into the lime light as it was the only organisation to which the Hindus could look up both for urging the Hindu cause as against the militant communalism of the Muslim League and generally to propagate nationalism which, so to say, went by default as the result of the then Congress policy

Those who first urged the community to organise were actuated by a fear lest the numerical strength of the community should be adversely affected by the proselytising activities of the champions of other faiths A Hindu leader, for instance, remarked "Political power in development of the in democracies hinges more and more on the population strength of a community which in the case of the Hindus must depend in the main on the proportion in which the Hindus succeed in stopping the dreadful conversion activities of alien faiths and in accelerating the reclamation of the alienated numbers back to the Hindu fold In a country like India where a religious unit tends inevitably to grow into a cultural and national unit, the Suddhi (reconversion to Hinduism) movement ceases to be merely theological or dogmatic, but assumes the wider includes a continuous manufactural and in the sum of t

If the establishment of to establish Swaraj and to create its own national-democracy meant subversion of Hindu States. ism, to maintain internal law and order and to he did not want such democracy defend the swaraj from external aggression"

For a period of six or seven years since 1937 Mr Savarkar was Hindu-India's No 1, until, dwing to his ill health, his place was taken by the Bengali leader Dr Syama Prasad Mooker jee In 1937 the Mahasabha declared as its goal the attainment of complete independence by all legitimate and peaceful means. In 1945 some prominent Mahasabha leaders gave up their titles as a token sacrifice for their ideals

In the Limelight—The declaration of war in September 1939, followed as it was by numerous efforts by His Excellency the Viceroy to get leaders of Indian opinion to agree on the political and constitutional issues with a view to unifying and intensifying India's war effort, brought the Hindu Mahasabha very much into the limelight It was in 1939 40 that the Mahasabha secured for the first time official recognition at the hands of the Govern ment of India, a fact which was appreciated by the annual session of the Mahasabha in 1940 When His Excellency the Viceroy summoned leaders of different communities and interests for consultation on the political question, the Hindu Mahasabha insisted that it alone had the right to speak in the name of the Hindu community The resolution passed by the Mahasabha welcomed "the recognition by the Viceroy and the Secretary of State that the political situation in the country cannot be satisfactorily solved without, the co-operation satisfactorily solved without the co-operation of the Hindu Mahasabha, which is the most outstanding body representing the Hindu community's interests "

In the middle of 1940 when the Viceroy was considering the best method of associating representative Indian opinion with the gover-nance of India by means of an expanded Central Executive Council, the Hindu Mahasabha strongly advocated the claims of the Hindu community for adequate representation thereon, and stoutly resisted the claims of Mr Jinnah that the Muslim League should have a majority in the Central Executive Council if the Congress abstained from participation

This status of equality with the Muslim League, in the eyes of authority, the Mahasabha appears to have lost, witness the neglect it suffered at the time of the Simla Conference

Mahasabha and Indian States—A some-what recent development in the outlook of the Hindu Mahasabha is its attitude towards Indian States Presumably as a result of Muslim agitation in certain Hindu States, the Hindu Miliasabha leadership took the side An example of this new trend in Nahasabha thought is to be found in a strong plea made by Mr Savarkar to maintain Hindu States and strengthen them in all possible ways

Princes were not foreigners, he said, and as such their people should back them up in all their attempts to preserve their individuality Savarkar envisaged a bright future for the Indian Princes who, he thought, would be required to play a great part in laying the foundations of a united and free India

Opposition to Pakistan —During 1939 40 the Hindu Mahasabha was considerably exer-Pakıstan —During cised over the demands of the Muslim League for the division of the country into Muslim and Hindu Indias Anxiety was also expressed over the statements made by the Secretary of State for India on this subject, which were interpreted by the Mahasabha as conceding too much to the Muslims The Working Committee of the Mahasabha claimed that India should be granted Dominion Status within a definite time limit and expressed the opinion that the statements made by the Viceroy and Mr L S Amery as highly "unsatisfactory and disappointing" in that they contained no reference to India's right to independence, which was the declared goal of the Mahasabha, and that the reference made to the grant of Dominion Status as an immediate step in constitutional advance was vague and uncertain The Statement to the effect that the British Government would not agree to hand over the administration of the country to a system of Government which would not be acceptable to large and powerful elements of Indian life, the Committee thought, required clarification as it was capable of the inter-pretation that if the Muslim League, the Princes or other vested interests opposed the recognition of the legitimate rights of the majority in India the further constitutional advance would be held up, or the rights of the majority would be surrendered to them. This would mean negation of the principle of democracy and an incitement to the minorities to obstruct and revolt

Direct Action Threat -The annual session of the Mahasabha met at Madura in South India in December, 1940 and passed a resolution appreciating the recognition by the Viceroy and the Secretary of State that the political situation in the country could not be satisfactorily solved without the co operation of the Hindu Maha-

The resolution added that while reiterating faith in the goal of complete independence, the Hindu Mahasabha is prepared to accept Domi-nion Status of the Westminster type as the immediate step

The resolution also called upon the Governof the Princes It is also conceivable that ment to recruit Hindus for the army and the Hindu leaders tried to emulate the example navy, make military training compulsory for of Jergue leadership in regard to the authority Indians, and to promote the establishment of and prestige of some Muslim Princes whose war industries in India. The resolution conadministration was criticised by their Hindu cluded. "In case the Government fails to war industries in India The resolution concluded "In case the Government fails to make a satisfactory response to the demands embodied herein before March 31, 1941, the Mahasabha will start a movement of direct control of the contr States and strengtion them in all possible ways action. India is to be an effective partner in the struggle for freedom, her defence policy must be determined and her defence arrangements must be August 9, 1942, the Mahasabha President made on the responsibility of her own defence minister enjoying the confidence of all sections of the people The tragic experiences of Malaya and Burma have demonstrated that apart from the deplorable failure of military strategy, the apathy and hostility of the people who were deliberately kept unarmed, contributed to the British reverses The psychology necessary for full and willing co operation in the sta present war amongst the Indian people cannot in be created unless and until the defence of to that of Great Britain herself, and by investing India is put in Indian hands

"We note with satisfaction that this scheme provides for a constitution-making body for framing the future constitution of India, and that the constituent assembly may begin its work with the declaration of India's independence But the principle on which it will be constituted is vicious. The constitution-making body will be elected on the basis of the Communal Award which is not only anti-national but runs counter to the essential principles of democracy

"Unless and until the scheme of his Majesty's Government is radically altered and readjusted on the vital issues mentioned above, the Hindu Mahasabha cannot be a party to the acceptance masmuch as the scheme is to be accepted or rejected in toto"

The rejection did not mean, however, that the Mahasahha refused to co operate in any case In fact, Mr Savarkar agreed to join in a Government at the centre, in spite of the Mahasahha's opposition to the other parts of the Cripps formula

The months that immediately followed the Cripps visit witnessed a strong denuncation by Hindu Mahasabha leaders of the demand for Pakistan, rendered more sterce by the proposal of leaders like Mr C Rajagopalachariar to settle with Mr Jinnah and the Muslim League on the basis of Pakistan When Mr Rajagopulachariar's move was condemned even by the bulk of Congressmen (see chapter on the Indian National Congress) it is easy to under stand the opposition of the Mahasabha leaders

Dr B S Moonje, for instance, expressed pain humiliation at Mr Rajagopalachails insistent propaganda in favour of Pakistan and taid. "He (Mr. Rajagop dachari) must not forget that he is a Brahmin and that for a Britain to talk of vivisceting our holy land and motherland is blashemy and, in the words of Sir Ley Bahadur Sapra, 'a black treachers' If Muslims persist in regarding them elses as an alien or separate nation, with nothing in common with the Hindus or

When disturbances broke out in the country active support to the Congress move, as the Congress resolution was bound to prove detri mental to Hindu interests and to the integrity and strength of India as a nation and State
At the same time he urged Government to appease Indian discontent by an unequivocal Furliamentary declaration giving India the status of a completely free and equal partner in the Indo British Commonwealth, equal India with actual political power

The position of the Hindu Mahasabha was indeed unenviable It could not unduly condemn the Congress which had now given up the cry of "No swaraj without communal unity" and had instead gone all out to win freedom for the country irrespective of what the Muslims said or did Thus one of the major grievances of the Hindu Mahasabha against the Congress had been removed. At the same the policy of the Congress was opposed to that of the Hindu Mahasabha which was one of responsive co opera-The Mahasabha would very much like the Congress demand for India's political emancipa-tion being conceded without delay, but would not at the same time support the Congress methods

The period when the Congress was behind prison bars witnessed the growth of certain new elements within the Hindu Mahasabha A right wing came into being-rather right wing forces which were already there came to the fore This comprised leaders like Dr Syama Prasad Mookerjee who were, in com-parison, for example, with Mr Savarkar, less communally minded, and more politically conscious

For a time there was a tussle between the old and the new forces, and the official policy of the Mohasabha fluctuated in consequence In August 1942 the Working Committee of the Mahasabha demanded immediate declaration of India's independent status and negotia tion by Britain with the principal parties in India to solve the political deadlock and establish an Indian National Government The relevant resolution stated that if the British Government did not respond to the demand the Mahasabha would be compelled to revise its programme and device ways and means whereby Britain and her Allies "will realise that India as a self respecting nation can no longer be suppressed. In pur sunce of this resolution Dr. Mookerjee sought permission to meet Mr. Gandhi, but the Viceroy declined to give it

This tendency to move away from the communal basis of the Mahasabha was checked wher in December 1942 the Vicerox, speaking at Calcuta referred to the geographical unity with nothing in common with the Hindus of Hindus of Hindustin, then the Hindus will be forced to this them at their word and to the stem as really allows decree to be treated. The failure of Mi Gandhi to evoke response from the Viceroy to this gesture soon after his release (see chapter on "The Indian National Congress") led the Mahasabha Working Committee to express deep concern at the consti-tutional deadlock which "continue to exist at a time when the war menace to India has become so real and so imminent" and regret that "Government have taken no practical steps towards resolving the deadlock and the establishment of national coalition Governments at the centre and in the provinces"

A resolution passed in July 1944 said "The Working Committee reiterates that no communal settlement will be acceptable to the Hindus which has not the approval of the Hindu Mihasahba, and it will be a fatal mistake for Congress leaders to come to a patched-up agreement with the Muslim League so long as it persists in its Pakistan ideology and refuses to identify itself with the national interests of India as a whole The Working Committee declares that the suicidal policy of appeasement, specially jeopardising Hindu rights, has not proved a success in the past, nor will it be so in the future. Instead of this policy being pursued, there should now be all India effort for uniting all progressive parties and organisations throughout the country who believe in the unity and integrity of India on a common Indian national demand, and both Hindu and Muslim public opinion should be effectively In the preparation of, mobilised on such lines and in giving effect to, such a scheme the Hindu Mahasabha will be glad to offer its wholehearted co operation "

Reaction To C R Formula —Ironically enough, within a few weeks of the adoption of this resolution Mr C Rajagopalachari published the details of his negotiations with Mr Jinnah on the basis of the Gandhi cum CR I ormula conceding the right of secession on certain conditions (see chapter on "The Indian National Congress) This roused vigorous protests from Mahasabha leaders Mr Savarkar remarked -

"I'ron the 'Quit India' the Congress has inevitually landed on 'Split India'. The Hindu Mihisabha hid foretold that just as the Swaraj Khilafat ended in strengthening the Khilafat forces and give birth to the Pan Islamic move ment, the Swaraj Pikistan movement could involved, specially minority Hindus," asked result in strengthening the Pikistan forces." Dr. Mookerjee, 'Gandhiji feelingly announced He added that this offer had completely justified the policy of the Mihasibha to refrain from that India's unity is an article of faith with being duped into the movement of Quit India which has now ended in such a miserable firsco"

It is really unjust, observed Mr Savarkar, to look upon Mr Rajugopalachim as the villium of this tracedy. The first is that a Muslim Raj in India has always been looked upon by Gandhiji and a large number of Congress-nours cent per cent Swiraj. He contended that perther Mr. Gandhi nor Mr. Rajagopalachari and the authority to make a gift of any of the limitin provinces. He appealed to the Sanata to join hands with the Sanatanists in th efforts to organise the anti-Pakistan front

He made an appeal to all Hindus to save land from danger of being vivisected, su "it is almost certain that no pact or serv submission to Government on the part of the same o Congress can bring about any constitution change in India as long as the war lasts"

"The policy of satisfying disruptive for will not only fail, but will also give rise further disruption which will be immical the highest interests of India" said Dr Syai Prasad Mookerjee He added "The solution." offered by Mr Rajagopuluchari will lead to t perpetuation of communal differences and t ideal of Indian Nationalism, for which t Congress and generations of Indian patric have fought, will never be realised Aff all, 90 per cent of the Muslims in India we originally Hindus and it is absurd to sugge that a mere change of religion will entitle the to demand a partition of India and the creatu of zones which will also include a large population of people pursuing other religions Religions to be banished from the field of politi and must not be made a basis of our nation reconstruction

Dr Syama Prasad Mookerjee said "Mischi has been done and it must be boldly rectific without delay." He suggested that publ opinion throughout India should vigorousl assert itself and indicate in no uncertain term that India would not accept any politic settlement based on the self determinatio principle of Pakistan of either the Jinnah of the Raiagopalachari brand "What surprise the Rajagopalachari brand us most, added Dr Mookerjee, Gandhiji should have allowed his name to b dragged into this amazing offer which is partia acceptance of Pakistan India's freedom will never come by running after a man of Mi Jinnah's type Gandhiji was prepared give Muslims a blank cheque at the Round Tabl Conference Did that offer succeed? He adopted the attitude of neither accept no reject' regarding the Communal Award Die that please the Muslim League? He offered to make Mr Jinnah Prime Minister of India Did that change his outlook? Was it not morally fair and equitable, before he committed himsel to Mr Jinnah on such a highly controversia issue, that he should have obtained the views at least of representative people of the province him and if Pakistan is to come it is to come over his dead body. The arch magician of Madras has worked a miracle, making Gandhiji forget this momentous declaration of his own

Milhisabhi suspicions were accentuated by the prospect of Gandhi Jinnah negotiations Mahasabha leaders were so much disturbed by the fear of fresh concessions to Mr Jinnah that Dr Mookerjee sought clarification from Mr Gandhi on the latter s intentions

Outlining his impressions of his talk with nit's to defind the peographical integrity of Mr. Gandhi, Dr. Mooderice made three points

"Leaving the doctors analogy aside, let us analyse the Viceroy's comments He is not prepared to have any modification of the present constitution during the war this means that India's destiny must completely remain in the hands of the totalitarian Viceroy and Governor-General If formal changes in the constitution are not possible, why can he not create a convention and trust a national cabinet consisting of representative Indians whose services will be readily available for organizing national defence with the willing co-operation of the people and for the economic regeneration against of the country?

"Lord Wavell asks Indians to put faith in him and in the British But he is not prepared to reciprocate and trust an Indian Cabient to look after Indian interest Regarding the future constitution of India, the Cripps offer conceded India's right to frame her own constitution and India could secode from the empire if she so liked. This however was accompanied by a scheme whereby any existing province might secede from the Indian Union under certain conditions. We have opposed this part of the proposal as a virtual acceptance of the principle of Pakistan. No well wisher of India can believe in the breaking up of India's unity Lord Wavell, I am glad, has emphasized in his Calcutta speech that India's safety will be jeopardized by any major surgical operation such as Pakistan

The British by fanning communal differences and he conceding communal electorites have sown the seeds of Pakistan in India Indeed the frimework of the 1935 Act did not give right to my province to secode What happened

"The British quack says there will be other means of solving the the Indian patient, communal problem. The Cripps scheme, thus British settlement so far as the future consti tution is concerned

> "But the impasse during the war will even The British Govern ment is the party that holds in its hand the power that it has to part with and deliver to India The Vicerov therefore cannot take shelter under the plea that two previous offers have been rejected by India Complete com munal unity on the main political issues is impossible so long as the British Government does not undo the mischief it has itself created Initiative for a settlement must therefore come from Britain and a fullure in this direction will be nothing but a breach of faith and a regrettable shirking of responsibility and duty

"Political agitation and struggle have gone on in this country for nearly half a century. The true position in India is that Britain will not willingly part with power and will create divisions and barriers so as to weaken the forces of resistance in the national life of the country A survey of the constitutional changes that have come from time to time will disclose how the powers given to the people of the country have been limited by restrictions so that in the case of an ultimate clash between British and Indian interests the former may prevail at the will of British representatives Further, a deliberate policy has been pursued by Government to weaken and cripple the Hindus because it is they, more than any body else, who have rused their standard of revolt against foreign rule The Indian National Congress does not itself claim to represent Hindu point of view It has therefore happened that although the Congress has entered the parliamentary bodies in India through Hindu seats, it has allowed Hindu interests to be sacrified and jeopardized in the vain hope of placating reactionary Muslim demands I cannot conceive of any narrow and sectional communalism in any organization supported by Hindus which genuinely aspires to see their country freed from foreign domination interests of Hindus are identical with those of the nation itself. Hindus want that their country should be politically free. They recognize that their country has been the home of many sects and religions and they are anxious that there should be a common right of citizen ship for one and all They stand for one undivided India This oneness comes not from merely geographical surroundings, but culturally, racially, spiritually and politically India has been one country and must remain as such for all time to come Hindus are eager for complete political unity with all other communities. They must upon two conditions are these wants of patients and one asks, either in India or in the world, which justified the British Government to accept the principle of partition of India and thus to undo its perhaps one great achievement in India under British rule? Lord Wavell, if he has the courage of his conviction should not be parts to further fanning of disruptive tendencies in India. The principal resolution of the session express ed the opinion that an agreed scheme of reforms which would solve her political problems and a united front were the pretexts which were being put forward by British politicians to enable Britain to defeat Hindusthan's claim to freedom The resolution declared that "a major surgical operation like Pakistan not in the best interests of Hindusthan With out prejudice to the Mahasabha's demands for complete independence and the right to frame its constitution, the resolution called upon the British Government to prove their bona fides by taking immediate steps to imple ment the Cripps scheme, shorn of clauses giving power of secession to provinces, and to dissolve the legislatures as the first step with a view to forming a constituent assembly elected not on the basis of the Communal Award but on the basis of a joint electorate with reservation of seats where necessary

The working Committee of the Mahasabha met a month later and decided to send a delega-tion to Great Britain, USA, USSR and China to "counteract the anti-Hindu and anti-Indian propaganda which is being carried on in England, America and other countries and sacrifice on the part of the valuant to educate public opinion in the said countries than in different theatres of war

issues and by its latest acceptance through a Gandhili of an equal political status with an avowedly communal and reactionary organisa tion like the Muslim League In view of the fact that the Congress does not itself claim to represent Hindus as such and in view of the further fact that the Hindu community as such is not represented at the Simla Conference, any decision taken behind the back of the Hindu Mahasabha, which alone is the accredited political organisation of the Hindus and which has been in the past recognised by the Government itself as a major political organization, shall not be acceptable to the Hindus of India

"The Working Committee demands that a referendum be taken of the Wavell plan and the opinion of the people be ascertained before it is put into operation

"The Working Committee therefore declares that the Wavell Scheme even if it be accepted by the Simla Conference will be repudiated by the Hindus and if enforced will be resisted by all possible means

"The Working Committee hereby calls upon all its branch organisation and the Hindu community in general to realise the gravity of the dangers that he ahead of them to raise their voice of protest against the plan and to be prepared for any action necessary to combat it "

Renunciation of Titles—Government's "increasingly hostile attitude towards the legitimate rights of Hindus" came in for violent criticism at the meeting of the All-India Com-mittee of the Mahasabha held at Delhi in August The meeting witnessed the unprecedented spectacle of some Mahasabha leaders renouncing their title as a protest against Government's policy

Opening the session of the All-India Committee Dr S P Mookerjee, the President, said that a new situation had been created by the Wavell Mookerjee added Lord Wavell offer \mathbf{Dr} had not invited the Hindu Mahasabha to the Simla Conference, because the Viceroy feared opposition from the Mahasabha, who not only opposed the offer but also charged the British Government with unwillingness to part with real power

Referring to Mr Jinnah, Dr Mookerjee said, the League leader had now changed his demand from parity with Hindus to that of parity with the rest of India Dr Mookerjee claimed that the Mahasabha was the only national organisation and challenged any one to prove that the policy and programme of the Mahasabha was inconsistent with national aspirations He strongly demanded that the future of India should be based on unity and drew support from the speeches of Pandit Nehru.

The principal political resolutions ran as follows "On the termination of the world war causing untold misery and sufferings to millions of people in India and the other countries both in the east and the west, we call upon His Majesty's Government to redeem the pledge of liberation of oppressed humanity from both political and economic fetters Hindusthan was blod white and made great sacrifices both in mon and materials in fighting the forces of agression and sacrificed millions of her sons due to famine and pestilence caused by the conditions created by the war In view of the glorious part played by the Indian Army in achieving victory in theatres of war, and particularly by the Hindus, who formed about 70 per cent of the combatant forces and won as many as 27 Victoria Crosses out of 31 won by Indian soldiers, the United Nations should stand by India's demand for justice fairplay and see that no injustice is done to the Hindus in this crisis If Democracy has any meaning, no power on earth can deny with impunity the united demand of the vast majority of the Indian masses for independence By the independence of India and other countries in bondage will the United Nations now be judged

"To make agreement between political parties and communities a condition precedent to the freedom of India is a pretext for imperialism to cling to power The present constitution is based on the so-called communal award which is a negation of democracy and makes impossible the real verdict of the Indian people to be expressed constitutionally. We call upon the British Government immediately to repeal the communal award, which is unfair, un democratic and anti-national The Hindu Mahasabha has all along rejected the communal award We are of the opinion that the election should be based on the genuine democratic principle of one man, one vote A constituent assembly returned on communal electorates based on the communal award can never reflect the true mind of India and will merely create artificial issues which will disrupt Indian unity and help imperialism to continue its domination The Mahasabha insists that any constituent assembly or any body entrusted with the work of drafting India's new constitution should proceed on the basis that India is and shall remain one and indivisible and further, that any majority community shall not be reduced to a minority or equality

"A genuine national election based on democratic franchise will pave the way for the formation of a true constituent assembly for framing the constitution of free Hindusthan for the uplift of the masses, the economic prosperity of the people, the uprooting of the The resolution on titles said "As a mark of protest against the increasingly hostile attitude of the Government towards the legitimate rights of the Hindus, the Working Committee of the All India Hindu Mahasabha impoverished masses

We shall never permit our motherland to be at the mercy of permit our motherland to be at the mercy of the advent of the War and the supply by those who disown it "

Subsequent to the withdrawn of the Cripps' offer, the Sikhs have been somewhat in the limelight in connection with several proposals, unofficially mooted, to determine the allocation of territories and powers in the event of a compromise between the Muslim League and nationalist India. The virile and compact community of Sikhs, mostly confined to the large the large that large that large the large that large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large that large the large that large the large that large the large that large the large that la nationalist India The virile and compact community of Sikhs, mostly confined to the Punjab, had an important say in regard to the question of Pakistan With a view to buying over Sikh opposition to Pakistan and thereby strengthening the demand vis-a ris the rest of India, Mr Jinnah made more than one attempt to reassure the Sikh community and thereby induce them to come under the scheme of Pakistan on the basis of guaranteed safeguards for their interests At one stage it looked as though a section of the Sikh lendership was favourably inclined towards \mathbf{Mr} Jinnah's Some of them seemed to be impressed with the argument that, whereas in an All-India Federation the Sikh community would be a drop in the ocean, they would not be a negligible factor in Pakistan not only because of their proportion in the population of the Punjab, but also by virtue of statutory guarantees offered to them by the Muslim League leader Eventually, however, Mr Jinnah's overtures were turned down because the bulk of the Sikh community was opposed to Pakistan

"We do not wish to labour the point any hand, to the growingly militant Muslim League

The advent of the War and the supply by the murtial race of Sikhs of a large number of recruits for the Allied armed forces invested by Lord Wavell to consider his proposals for the establishment of an interim Government It now seems certain that a at the Centre Sikh leader will find a place in any new Government that may be formed at the Centre

Whereas the bulk of Sikh opinion continued to be hostile to the idea of partitioning India into Hindusthan and Pakistan, there is a small section of opinion which suspects the possibility of the Congress compromising with the Muslim Lergue in its Pakistan demand. This section tends to take the destinies of the community in its own hands and forestall a possible division of the country by entering into advance arrangements with the League in the event of the creation of Pakistan

The position at the time of writing is a trifle confusing, as Sikh opinion is divided between those who would fight partition tooth and nail, those who seek to establish a sovereign Sikh State called Sikhisthan in the event of the establishment of Pakistan, and those a small number-who would safeguard the position At the same time there began to grow up of the Sikh community by a pact with Mr in the Sikh community a tendency at exclusivism Jinnah cashing in on the latter's overweening and self-reliance. This was due, on the one desire for Pakistan

Cripps Offer—When Sir Stafford Cripps came to India with the proposals of the British War Cabinet in 1942 (See Chapter on "The Indian National Congress", elsewhere in this Indian National Congress", elsewhere in this issue and earlier issues of The Indian Year Bool.) the Council of the Liberal Federation expressed itself thus

"The Council of the Liberal Federation has very carefully examined the draft declaration brought by Sir Stafford Cripps It welcomes the proposals to make India a self-governing dominion with the same status and functions as are enjoyed by Great Britain and other members of the Commonwealth On examination of the different heads of the proposals the Council feels that the provision giving liberty to any province not to accede to the Indian Union is fraught with serious difficulties and dangers The creation of more than one Federal Union in India, having their own separate armies, may result, in certain conceivable circumstances in a conflict between them It would almost immediately lead to customs barriers, and complicated questions about ports, railways, existing public debt, etc., would arise More-over, the weakness of the military organisation of the one or the other of the different Unions will seriously impair the safety and defence of India as a whole

"The Council further feels that communal feelings would be further exacerbated in the course of carrying out the process of arriving at a decision about accession or non accession

"All these and other considerations, and the serious dangers and difficulties should be fully considered before His Majesty's Government finally decide to implement these proposals

"The Council has always been of the view that the interests of different communities should be adequately safeguarded and that the different communities should have proper voice in the governance of the country But the

"One of the effects of the proposals is that the question whether a Province accedes to the union or not will in the last resort be determined by a plebiscite unless 60 per cent of the lower The plebiscite vote is to be determined by a bare The Council feels that the decision of such momentous question should not be concluded by a bare majority, but that some minimum percentage, say at least 55 per cent, should be prescribed. The Council also sees no reason why women who are entitled to vote for the elections to the legislatures, and can be, and are members of the legislature, should be denied a vote in the plebiscite

"With regard to the representation of Indian States on the constitution-making body, the Council urges that the people of the States should be given a voice in the selection of the representatives of the States on this body "On the subject of defence, the representation of India on the War Cabinet and the Pacific War Council is satisfactory so far as it goes But this should not stand in the way of the appointment of an Indian as a Defence Member Such an appointment will have a tremendous effect in producing the necessary psychological reaction which will bring the Indian people whole heartedly in the war effort

"The Council of the Liberal Federation would also urge the British Government to appreciate the fact that totalitarian aggression involves totalitarian defence and that a total war cannot be won unless the Indian nation as a united political entity throws itself into this Malaya, Singapore and war heart and soul Rangoon serve as grave warning as to how even in modern warfare, technical skill alone, without the spontaneous support of the millions on the 'home front', can achieve little on the military front It is the considered opinion of the Council that full co operation of the Indian people will not be secured in the war effort unless an Indian Defence Member is appointed

"With regard to the question of reconstituting the Executive Council of the Governor-General, the Liberal Federation Council would suggest that the Governor-General's Council should be nationalised, so that by conventions in the near future, the Governor-General may assume the position of a constitutional head of his Government"

Expansion of Executive Council.—Undeterred by the failure of the Cripps Mission, the Viceroy went ahead with his plans for the better government of the country and more efficient prosecution of India's war effort. With this end in view His Excellency reshuffled his Executive Council This gave an overwhelming majority to Indians in the Central Executive Council

Since July 1941 there have been quite a few changes in the personnel of the Viceroy's Executive Council, involving a reshuffling of portfolios Vacancies caused by resignations -three resigned at the time of Mr Gandhi's should be adequately safeguarded and that the fast in February 1943—and by the deputation different communities should have proper voice of Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar to the British in the governance of the country But the proposals now made go far beyond the necessities of the case and will seriously affect not only British officials in Viceroy's Executive Council, the unity and solidarity of India but her stature and influence in the Commonwealth of Nations The Commander-in Chief was, of course in charge of the conduct of the war Congress leaders under detertion the dan or while War Transport was being looked after by to Mr Gandhis life brow ht these cer re a British bon-on-cial bir Liward Benth ill | aders into play

ment of India published on the eye of his fast; that they would unconditionally and enthuin February 1943 to the intermediaries no common factor which they could exploit to bring about an under standing between the two opposite view points,

Lven so, efforts, though of a sporadic nature, continued to be made by unattached leaders to secure a change in the official policy towards the Congress or at least to induce Government to release the leaders so as to enable them to consider the altered situation. Undeterred by their failure to move the Government following Mr Gandhi's fast, the moderate leaders urged the appointment of an impartial tribunal to investigate the charges made against Congress under detention or, in the alternative the release of those leaders so as to enable them to review the situation and attempt a solution of the deadlock To this, however, the Secretary of State replied in the House of Commons, saying that the Government of India had no intention of "staging a trial" of Mr Gandhi and other detained Congress leaders - (See last year's issue)

In the winter of 1943-44 the annual session of the National Liberal Federation met in Bombay under the presidentship of Kunwar Sir Maharaj Sirpah The Session was remarkable for the diametrically opposite viewpoints expounded by the President and the Chairman of the Reception Committee (Sir Cowasjee Jehangir)

While deploring the August resolution of the Congress, Sir Maharaj Singh criticised Government for failure to announce a complete change of policy at the commencement of the war, adding that "if Sir Stafford Cripps had come to India with his proposals in 1939 or early in 1940, instead of 1942, there would have been an excellent prospect of their acceptance." Under present conditions, he deplored, 'we are face to face with a divided India, with thousands of our fellow-countrymen, including many prominent and popular leaders, in prison, the retention by European officials of the key departments of Finance, Defence and Home in the Government of India, a complete absence of popular government in large portions of India, swellen prices, general distress and famine in large and densely populated areas"
Sir Maharaj complained that the advice of moderate leaders had been brushed aside by Government'

Sir Cowasi Jehangir took a different view of the problem. He blamed the Congress for the failure of the Cripps Mission and affirmed that it broke down owing to the eleventh-hour raising of the issue of the Viceroy's veto cited Mr Jinnah's opinion in support of the contention that the formation of a national Government on the lines of the Congress demand would have been totally opposed by the minorities in general and the Muslims in particular

After drawing attention to the events that followed the August resolution, Sir Cowasıı declared that if any progress was to be made it was essential that the Congress should not only withdraw the August resolution of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru explained that he had but also give an assurance to the British public placed before Mr Gandhi the idea of a committee and to the peoples of the Allied Nations that of the kind now decided upon and Mr Gandhi all people in India were behind this war and had said —"I shall unreservedly co operate

Thus there was available slastically help the war effort

Resolutions — The unconditional release of Congress leaders, the treatment by the Congress leaders of the "Quit India" resolution of August 1942 as a dead letter, a conference of political parties and the formation of national composite governments at the Centre and in the provinces—these suggestions were embodied in a resolution, passed by the session The conference also passed resolutions dealing with the war, India's position at the peace conference, Government's food policy and the Bengal famine

Early in the summer of 1944, a session of the Non party Leaders' Conference met at Incknow under the presidentship of Sir Tej Bahadur (See last year's issue) Sapru

Two-fold Appeal.—In June 1944 the Council of the National Liberal Federation met in Poona and made a two fold appeal one to the Government unconditionally to release Congressmen not found guilty of violence and the other to the Congress to treat the August resolution as a dead letter, to put it aside and take measures to arrive at a working arrangement with other political parties for the formation of a provisional Government

The next meeting of the Council was held at Allahabad in October and expressed the opinion that the two-nations theory advanced by Mr Jinnah was opposed to facts while his meastence on a plebiscite confined to Muslims was unfair to other communities and incompatible with democratic concepts. The Council also declared democratic concepts The Council also declared that the division of the country into two or more separate sovereign states was not a right solution for the Hindu-Muslim question

Conciliation Committee—Soon after the failure of the Gandhi-Jinnah talks in Bombay Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, President of the Non-Party Conference, announced his intention to set up a committee (Called the Conciliation Committee), comprising eminent public men with no marked political affiliations, to examine the Indian communal question from a political and constitutional point of view This was the constitutional point of view this was the outcome of a resolution passed by the Standing Committee of the Non-Party Conference which said 'The Standing Committee of the Non-Party Conference, having considered the present situation in view of the breakdown of the Gandhi-Jinnah talks on the communal issue, hereby resolves to appoint a committee which will examine the whole communal and minorities question from a constitutional and political point of view, put itself in touch with different parties and their leaders, including the minorities interested in the question, and present a solution within two months to the Standing Committee of the Non-Party Conference The Standing Committee will take all reasonable steps to get that solution accepted by all parties concerned The Standing Committee cultivaries of The Standing Committee cultivaries of The Standing Committee C Committee authorises Sir Tei Bahadur Sapru to appoint members of the committee and announce their names in due course" with it You can call me whenever you like put me any questions you like and ask me for any assistance you like

Sir Tej Bahadur added that it was his intention that there should be on the committee no one who was a partisan or one who had expressed himself violently on political issues of the contry. It was also the idea that there is old be one or two retired judges who would bring a judicial mind to bear on the country a probl m

The basic conception of the committee was that the discussion of the communal and political problem should be lifted from the partisan level to the scientific and judicial level

The effort of the committee would be to under tand the views of each p rty acts as a rt of conciliation board by e tablishing contact with all parti s and recommend some solution that they thought good on their own respon I bitty I t would be open to each party to accept a wholly or p rightly or to reject he wholly or p rightly or to reject he accept wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholly or a right wholl a parties to consider whether at it at stage they hould not call a bigger confe ence—either an all pattles confrence or a convention

The following are some of the quations put to Mr Gandhi a d the replicate received from him —

Qu stion —In his letter of S ptember 17. Mr Jinnah says that the word (Paki tan) has now become ynonymous with the Lahore resolution. Did you ask him whether in ac ord nee with the Lah re resolution of the All I dis Musilla League a schem of constitution accordance with the bis to principles pro iding resting of all powers such as defende externel othe Inklian eres of Punjah and Pencal that affairs, on it until the resting to the examination.

Answer - " No. Qelda Aram's position un-focturately was that while he could come as far as resing me and testing to construe for ellis president, he, the fresident of the Leading could not discuss details with ris, a more in lividual But so fee as I could gather from our conservations, he had no prepared eitene. As the correspondence shows he had referred me to two tools, both of which I read, but reliter of which could help me to understand his exact position. One thirs he insisted upon was that if I first accepted the I'al istan of his conception, he could then discuss other thin, a with me, even though I was t it an individual.

As ed if it was true that the real breakdown between blm and Mr Jinnah came about on the question of central authority or Government. Mr frondly replied the cin be said that the breat down tool place because the could not · come to an expression on the two cation theory of Quide Aram As the correspondence will show, I wanted to avoid a central Government I suggested an authority acceptable to both the parties, but he would invist first on complete partition as bets cen two nations and then an agreement between them as on foreign affairs, etc. He would not agree to anything simul-

Gandhi's attention was drawn to a Mr pracage in his letter to Mr. Jiunah dated September 28, 1914, in which he said —"That If it means utterly independent sovereignty so that there is to be nothing in common between the two, I hold that it is an impossible proposi-tion. That means war to the luife" and was asked what he meant by "war to the knife."

Mr Gandhi replied is a simple English idiom "War to the knife I have never known it used in the literal sense. It simply means a determined quarrel between parties. I hold that if there is nothing in common between the two or nothing which does not come in conflict with each others culture, there can be no friendly mutual agreement "

To another question Mr Gandhi replied "Although I could not agree to the two nation theory, I agreed on the basis of members of a family desiring severance of the family tie in matters of conflict but not in all matter so as to become enemies one of the other as if there was nothing common between the two except enmity"

" My position after the fallure of the Gredhi Jinrah talks is a tout in the introduction to the fored) I Jirrah talks published by the 'Hindustan Times." I need add nothing to what I have stated thee in about the communal issue. I wish however, to add one other point for the consideration of the Committee. It is not psychologically possible to create an atmosphere of reas mableness unless Self Government denouration lines in some shape or other is a settled fact, and such form of Government as is functioning and threatens to continue is replaced by an agreed constitution. I therefore appreciate the stand taken by the Non-Party Conference. The federal part of the Government of India Act of 1935 should with suitable modifications, be introduced at once with or without fresh Provincial elections according to the convenience of the British Government I would prefer fresh basic Provincial elections, so that it the federal part of the Government of India Act of 1935 cannot be brought into force at once during interim period, an 'ad hoc' control executive may be constituted out of the Provincial Governments of the 11 Provinces which should all be restored in replacement of the Section 93 regimes. This ad hoc. Central Precutive should replace the present Vicero,'s Council. This can be done with very little parliamentary legislation and may be statutorily vested with a fixed term of If either of these things is done and a tenure Central Executive is constituted on a popular basis, there will be a sanction of conciliation An agreed constitution on the basis of the declaration of His Majesty's Government of April 11, 1042, will replace the interim arrangement. Parties will feel that unless they come to an agreement the interim arrangement will continue "

Lord Wavell - While the Com Cable to mittee was still in session and before the formulation of its conclusions, Sir Tej Bahadur sent a cable to Lord Wavell, who was then in London discussing with His Majesty's Government proposals for a solution of the Indian political deadlock, communicating the following resolution unanimously adopted by the Committee

" In view of the internal situation particularly relating to the economic life of the people and in view of the rapid pace at which international events are marching, and in view of the necessity of India being represented in her own right and by her own representatives at all international conferences and peace conferences, if berately misrepresented by certain advocates any, this committee strongly recommends that of the Muslim League It is only for fixing the following steps be taken at once

- () Indis should by a royal proclamation, be declared an independent state and treated as a dominion equal and in no way inferior to any other dominion of the British Common wealth of Nations e en though pendin the framing and coming into force of a new constitu tion the Governm at of India may have to be conducted in conformity with the provisions of the Act of 1935 subject to minimum necessary modifications
- (3) (a) The proclamations issued in several pro inces under ection 93 of the Act should be withdrawn forthwith and the legi ! should be withdrawn forthwith at the lexi tures allowed to resume their normal activities (b) Lopular Ministeries should be ree-tailish (b) Lopular Ministeries should be ree-tailish (b) Lopular Ministeries should be ree-tailish (c) to provi lone of the Act (c) in the formation of such Mini tries the 1 rim Mini ter representing the largest single p try in the legislature should be r quired as far as possible to include in the Ministry persons commanding the confidence of other parties in the legi lature
- (4) In addition to the restoration of autonomy in all tile provinces of Briti h India a National Covernm at all ould replace the present Executive Council at the centre

For this purpose the committee would remmend for consideration the following

two alternatives

- (a) S ction fi e of the Government of India Act 193 should be o ame ded as to from the fact is a proclamation by His Majesty bringin into being forthwith a federation of India without institute on the entry tion of India without IBM ling on the entry of Indian States as a ondition precedent as provided in sub- ection (2) of the said section Indian States bing at liberty to accede to the federation in accord nee with the terms of section 6 of the A t
- (b) Part 11 of the Go ernm at of I dia Act, 1933 with 12 propose 4 meadments should be brought into f e and 1 ps taken limme diately to hold electio a to the two houses of the federation I gli ature and to appoint a Council of Mini trs i accordance with the provisions contain d in that part

Provided however to t in the form tion of revined nowever if t in the 10 m tion of such a min try the prime Minister representing the largest singl p rty in th Legislature shall as far as possible, include in the mi istry persons commanding the condence of other important p rties in the Legisl ture

SECOND ALTERNATIVE

- Schedul IX of the Act may be continued in force but should be so m nded as to provide f z altering the constitution and functioning of the Go ernor General in Council on the follow ing lines
- (A) Except for the Commander in Chief who my continue to be e-officio m mber of the Ex cutive Council in charge of war operations a d matters anciliary the eto the entire Execu ut e Co neil should con; it of Indians comman

- (1) All political prisoners and detenus be of section 36 which requires that three at least released immediately of the members should be persons who have been in the service of the Crown in India for a period of at least ten years being repealed
 - (B) So officials belonging to the permanent s twices shall be nominated to either Hou e of the Central Legislature The nominated block in each of the two houses shall consist entirely of non-officials nominated by the Governor General in Council
 - (C) In the 9th schedule of the Act the provisions excluding from the control of th Legislature expenditure under he ds Ecclesiasti cal Extern all irs Defence Tribal areas and other items incurred by the Governor General in his discretion shall be repealed
 - (D) The Political Adviser to the Crown Representative should be an Indian with the rank and status of an I recutive Councillor thoughth emay not be a member of the Precutive Council
 - (F) The decision as to when the general elections to the Central and Levincial Legisla tures should take place should be left to the ational Government at the centre and the popular governments in the pro inces
 - The Committee greatly appreciates your initiative in proceeding to London for the purpose as it believes of ending the present purpose as it beneves of chang the pres map political de dlock in the country and trusts that the suggestions th tit 1 now making will boof assistance to you and His Majerty's Government in solving the problem that f a you. The Committee is continuing its wo k.
 - The cable represented the first part of the Committees wirk and contained its recommendations with regard to the interim period
 - Mr] mahs pr te t.—Mr Jinnsh who represented the principal factor in the internal deadlock reacted unfavourably to the suggetions made in Sir T j Bahadur s cable to Lord Wavell Mr Jinnsh said
 - Sir Tei Bahadur Sapru and his associates have been passing off under different labels from time to time, first as all party conference then as no party conference and now they have a sumed the label of concillation com mittee
 - They are nothing but handmelds of the Congress and have played and see playing to the tune of Mr Gandhi Their pompous and plous profession that it y are a detached and independent body of men is utterly faise and lidependent body of men is utterly faise and resolutions and from the character and the nature of the present resolution they have plassed to the present resolution they have plassed to the present resolution they have plassed to the plassed of the present resolution they have plassed to the present resolution they have plassed to the present resolution of the plassed of P. kistan would be torpedoed by thas subtle and fishing movement if either of the m is They are nothing but handmaids of the
 - and flanking movement if either of them is accepted
 - Muslim India will n t accept any attempt to change the present constitution in any way which would directly or indirectly be on the basis of a united India. The question of Pakistan is the fit t and the foremost! sue to be decided ding the confide ce of the parties in the Central preliminary to any consideration of the framing Legislature the povision in sub-section (3) of any future constitution any attempt to countenanced by the British Government will be at the energice and betrayal of the hundred 51, Scheduled Castes—20, Indian Christians—million Mussalmans in this land 7. Sil-hs— 8, Backward areas and million Mussalmans in this land

"I am confident that having regard to the solemn declarations of His Majerty's Government and the pledges and assurances given to the Muslims they will not po back as an honourable nation and coerce the Mussalmans or force or impose upon them a constitution against their will and without their approval and concent if the British Government are stampeded into any departure from or reversal of their declared policy by some undue pressure, which I do hope will not be the case I shall be falling in my will not be the case duty, having regard to the temper, determination and the deep feelings of Muslim India regarding this issue, if I did not draw the attention of Britain to the disastrous consequences it may lead to, for which the British Government alone will be responsible

Hindu-Muslim Parity-Within a week the Sapru Conciliation Committee unfolded its proposals for the future constitution of India which proceeded on the basis of parity between Hindus, other than the Scheduled Castes, on the one hand, and Muslims on the other, in the constitution-making body, the future Central Legislature and in the Executive, the over-riding condition being that the unity of India and joint electorates were accepted

The Committee emphatically declared itself ainst Pakistan Mr N M Joshi dissented against Pakistan from this declaration, as also from the corollary that no province should elect not to accede to the future Indian Union or secede therefrom

The Committee envisaged the transfer of Paramountcy to the Union, and recommended the appointment of a Minister in charge of functions in relation to Indian States, whom a body of three Indian States' advisers in to be associated

A declaration of fundamental rights, the setting up of a minorities commission, and special proposals for minorities in the Punjab were included in the Committee's recommenda-

"It is needless to say that the recommendations do not constitute a full blue print for the future constitution" Said the Committee "They merely indicate the outlines which the Committee feels would suit the conditions in India They are essentially suggestions made for the constitution of the country at large

"These proposals are confined to British India only When the Indian States decide to come into the Union, as the Committee hopes they will, it is obvious that arrangements will have to be made in consultation with them for necessary adjustments and additions"

The Constitution-Making Body—The constitution-making body shall be constituted in the manner prescribed in Clause "D" of the draft resolution of His Majesty's Government, brought by Siz Stafford Gripper which the stafford Gripper which t brought by Sir Stafford Cripps, subject to the following modifications - militate against, prejudice or torpedo the namely, commerce and industry, land holders, Pakistan demand directly or indirectly, if universities, labour and women—16, Hindus, countenanced by the British Government will excluding the Scheduled Castes—71, Muslims— Sillis— 8, Backwar -3, Anglo Indians—2, arcas and tribes-3. Luropeans

- -1 , others—1
 (2) It is because Clause "D" of Mis Unjestr's Government's declaration provides for election by a joint electorate, composed of members of all Provincial Legislatures, under the system of proportional representation, that the Committee has decided to recommend that, in spite of the disprity in the population strengths between Muslims and Hindus other than the Scheduled Castes, the Hindu community should, in the intere ts of promoting communal unity, agree that the representation of the Muslim community on the constitution-making body shall be on a par with that given to the Hindus, other than the Scheduled Castes
- (3) No decision shall be valid unless it is supported by three fourths of the members present and voting
- (4) His Majesty's Government shall enact the constitution on the basis of the valid decisions of the constitution-making body, supplemented wherever necessary by its own awards on matters in which the requisite majority for decision was not forthcoming

Division of India — The Committee, having considered carefully the resolution of the Muslim League passed at Lahore in 1940, the various other resolutions of the League and the published version of the talks between Mr Jinnah and Mahatma Gandhi, and having also considered the "C R" and Gandhi proposals, is emphatically of the opinion that any division of india into two or more separate independent sovereign States is unjustified, and will endanger the peace and orderly progress of the whole country without any compensating advantage to any community, and that the political unity of India should therefore, be maintained

Indian States - Provisions should be made in the constitution for the accession from time to time of Indian States as units of the Union, on such terms as may be agreed upon establishment of the Union should not, however, be made contingent on the accession of any Indian State or of any minimum number of Indian States The Union should be brought into being and should commence to function at the earliest possible date, even if no Indian State has acceded to it as a unit by then

Non-Accession and Secession vince of British India may elect not to accede to the Union, nor may any unit—whether a Province or a State, which has acceded—be entitled to secede therefrom

Provincial Boundaries - While it is not desirable that the new constitution should be delayed by the realignment of provincial boundaries on linguistic or cultural considerations, the Constitution Act shall indicate the machinery and prescribe the procedure for such realignment of the old Provinces and for the creation of new Provinces after it has come into force, and on such realignment or creation of Provinces all (1) The total strength of the body shall be consequential amendments may be made, in 160, distributed as foollows Special Interests, the constitution

Silver Jubilee Session—The Silver Jubilee Session of the National Liberal Federation was held in Lahore in March 1915 under the presidentship of Mr T P Venkatrama Sastri of He made a demand for an immediate declaration by the British Government granting Dominion Status to India and urged the release of political prisoners and Congress detenus including the members of the Congress Working Committee

"The Government must Mr Sastri said declare immediately that India shall have the status of a Dominion at the end of the war Her millions have fought on the battle field for the cause of the United Nations The Cripps Offer contained that declaration and the answers of Sir Stafford Cripps to the questions put to him made clear that the status the coof India shall be the same as that of the other nation

"That declaration must be made forthwith and implement described for a ft may be, by the Pritt h Government. While they are dealing measures for the reconstruction of Italy, Poland Greece, they can have no lealtimate excusfor portpaning the freedom of India intricae of the problems in the countries me allowed above did not but them from taking st pe even when the war is on, and the Indian problem pre ent no features more difficult problem pri ent no features more difficult to resolve than the problems, they are solving now the whore

"I should an that the Governor General should have released the political pri-oners the Legislature and the executive in regard to and the continuance of their detention is wholly the implementing of non justicable fundamental unjustified. They should be immediated released I ven for a solution of the present communities, and to submit a report to the Prime Minister

(I) The recommendations of the the Cabinet Jail and the refusal of the Government to allow and the Prime Minister Commission shall be mutual consultation between them only adds to the difficulties in the way of finding a solution

> Mr Sastri dealt at length with the problem "Pakistan is no soluof minorities and said tion for the problem of the minorities creation of separate foreign states does not really get rid of the minority problem altogether. There will be a large proportion of non-Muslims in the Muslim areas so reparated and comparatively a small proportion of Muslims in the Hindu areas Definite and satisfactory safe-guards for the non Muslims in the Muslim are is are offered. If such an offer is just and fair to minorities of over 40 per cent in those provinces, would it be impossible to devise safeguards for the protection of the essential cultural features of all groups, including the Muslims, within a united India? Hindu areas Definite and satisfactory safe-

"What, again, of the expense of defence which each independent state will have to maintain? and would the defence organised by the separate states be adequate in the event of aggression? will the four states in the North West agree to join and belong to one state? Will the Punjab agree to look after their financial needs and requirements? Will the non-Muslim areas in the Punjab desire to remain in an independent Muslim State or claim to form a separate state of their own? If separate independent states are formed and they have their own armies will joint action invariably result when emergencies arise? may they not be turned against each other in a fratricidal

"The Muslim League appeals to the principle of self determination This principle is a much misunderstood one It is a case of secession from an existing state to which that principle does not apply and should not be applied. It has been recognised that it is impossible to grant independence to a section of the population unless they had a territory capable of sustaining the economic and political framework of a ar sinnan we has dem astrated his power to solve the Indian problem. The Federation also passed a resolution demanding for Indians in South Africa full citizenship rights

Deploring the failure of the Government of the Union of South Africa to abolish the Pegging Act, the resolution stated in part "In view of the uncompromising attitude of the Government of South Africa towards this legitimate demand of India, this Federation feels that it was a mistake on the part of the Government of India to have sent the High Commissioner to South Africa and it urges the Government of India to recall the High Commissioner forthwith and to adopt all fiscal and commercial sanctions against South Africa until the Pegging Act is abolished "

Another resolution 'expressed deep regret and concern at the "misuse of the Defence of India Act and Rules on numerous occasions" The resolution stated that the civil liberties were being invaded without adequate justification and for political ends

The Federation also deplored racial pre-judice existing between the white and non-white peoples of the world and suggested that "unless a determined effort is made on a world scale against the course of race prejudice, the non-white peoples of the world who are now fully conscious of their rights, are bound to revolt against the tyranny of the whites and imperil the cause of world peace"

The Federation pressed upon the Rulers of Indian States to declare full responsible government as their policy as rapidly as possible and assured the people of the States of its full support in their constitutional methods for securing reforms and the redress of their grievances

The Federation, in another resolution, expressed profound concern at the food situation in the country "which, though somewhat improved is still far from satisfactory. It urged the Government to evolve a more satisfactory policy and administer it efficiently so as to save the people from all avoidable hardships and distress

The Pederation unanimously passed a resolution demanding that in the Imperial and International conferences India should represented largely, if not wholly by non official public men commanding the confidence of the people "until such time as a National Government can appoint its own proper accredited representatives "

Demanding complete nationalisation India's Defence services within a short period, the Federation also urged that India's status as envisaged in the post-war world and her future role as a bulwark of peace in Asia required a radical change in regard to her defence policy The Federation suggested that the Defence portfolio should be entrusted to an Indian Member commanding the confidence of the public and that a policy of Indianisation in all grades of the army, navy and air force be expedited It further suggested that Indian emergency commissioned officers should not be demobilised after the war and that the army should be recruited from all provinces and classes to a much greater extent than at present

The President, Mr T R Venkatarama Sastri, winding up the session, expressed gratification at the formation of a Ministry by the Congress in the Frontier Province and expressed the hope that this will be followed The Federation expressed concern over by the assumption of office by the Congress the continued recruitment of the Indian services in those other provinces where Section 93 rule

THE MUSLIM LEAGUE

The awatening of political consciousness League do not prevent us from co operation with among Muslims in India as a separate entity others. On the contrary it is part and parts dates book to 1000 when the All India Muslim of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it is part and parts of the contrary it on evil days in the twenties and differences set in among its members. When changed powers were construed on India by the Monitorid Raforms. Muslims became more and more politically minded and began to spire for a greater shars in the control of the administration of the country and in Government posts. This feeling gave rise to the formation of a new body whose promoters concentrated on aggressive presentation of Muslim demands With th prespect of still further constitutional reforms at the end of the first ten years of the working of the Montford Scheme these leaders strove to organise Muslims into an influential body which would saleguard their intere to more effectively than the League The result was the All Parties Huslim Conference in 19 S The publication of the Communal Award and its inclusion in the White P per Scheme of Reforms in 1933 helped this process of consolidation

An attempt was made early in 1934 to consolidate the community by healing healing the split within the Muslim League and if possi ble bringing the League and the Conference together to work as a united body The latter failed but the former object was I rgely succe s ful and the League marched from trength to trength until it emerged as a powerful organisa trengtu until temerged as a powerist organisation of the Muslim community on the eve of the first elections to the provinci liegt latures under the Government of India Act of 1935. For the first time in the political history of Muslims their representative institution functioned as a vigorous and active all I d! organi ation with results which fiattered Mr Jinnah nd his results which faitered Mr Jinnah on this coworkers atthough the success of Leaque momines was not very striking Doubless Mr Jinnah who was the guiding pirit behind this new activity was handlesspeed by fisspaces of the success of t altho gh his control over th the Muslim might be induced to co-operate with the Congra-in its eltremist programme and negotiations were started but it soon became apparent that the two could not come together. The situation was rendered more difficult by the tittude of deat Panolit Awabatia Motur Mr. Jinnah grused to con eriths League into an under study of the Congress and firmly upheld the po lifon of the Muslim community. The Congress for its part found as the result of the 1 ctions that it did not he will be upported the Justime commonly the ery few Congress Muslims Muslim community Verylew Congress Muslims were put up as candid tes for the elections and were put up as and the feator the elections and even they failed. The Congress therefore set about roping in the H lim by an appeal to their economic conscience explaining that the Congress was out to alleviate the autherings of the masses Muslims as well as Hindus and to uplift the nation as a whole In this process the League and its le ders came in for a great de I of violent criticism at the hands of the Co gre s man gers On behalf of the League Mr Jinnahretorted The Congress have not The Congress have not of Indian nation lism As I have always m intained the Muslim League is prepared to i in hand with any progressive party in the fight for the country's freedom but to achieve this the question of minorities must be settled this the question or minorities must be severe s ti fetorily Here I am not talking of only Muslims but all minorities Further we are not prepared to m rge ourselves into any organis tion however great it may be and however advanced its programme and policy may be unless it is determined by common consent

Paying little heed to these words of warning the Congress leaders went their own way Puffed with the success at the polls they affected to ignore the clims of League leaders In to ignore the ci ims of League leaders an what m y be describ d as non Muslim provin ces—that is those in whi h the Muslims are in a minority—the Congress formed Ministries with out consulting and securing the co-operation of the Muslim League No doubt attempts were made to arrive at an understanding with the Muslim Le gue but they failed mainly on acc unt of the Congress demand that wherever acc unt of the Congress demand that wherever such an understandig was reached the Muslim Le gue ho ld ceas to be a separate parliamen tary body and merce Beef into the resultant tary body and merce Beef into the resultant was willing to co-operate but not on the ferm imposed by the Congre In the result the negotiatio of filed in the League remained in the Opposition Although the bulk of the Muslim represe tail as returned to the provin all agiciators or the section of the work in opposit. Bhothly after the 1036 elections Mr Jianah is um represe to a securing to see growing the second of legislature Nowhere in any of the so called office and without the power and influence which Congress provinces did the Muslim Ministers went with it. Whereas the Congress lost through have the support of the majority or even a decent the resignation of its ministries such bargaining number of Muslim legislators. Thus these power as it had while in office, the League Muslim Ministers in the Congress provinces acquired some indirect power through the interwere the objects of repeated displays of national complications that resulted from the Mushm hostility

Having failed to reach an agreement with the League and its leaders, the Congress tried to crush the League and its leaders by making a direct approach to the Muslim masses through an economic and national programme. For a time this appeared to succeed, but eventually failed to achieve its object The League leaders counteracted the Congress propaganda by yet another direction the League manœuvred pointing out to the Muslim masses that their litself into a comfortable position, whereas, the true interests lay in their organisation under the banner of the League which alone could serve them truly The League's counter drive succeeded in a large measure aided by allegations that in provinces where the Congress was running the Government the Muslim minorities were not treated well. The widening gulf between the Congress and the League gave an additional stimulus to the consolidation of the Muslim forces under the League which found fruition at the Lucknow session of the League in the autumn of 1937

Lucknow Session—The session was unique several respects For the first time in the history of the Muslim organisational movement, complete unity was achieved, and every section of Muslim opinion, including those which till then had been opposed to the League or outside it, rallied round the League There was no discordant note and Muslim political unity was complete The Muslim League emerged the only strong and influential political organisation of the Muslim community

The session changed the creed of the League to "the establishment in India of full independence in the form of a federation of free democratic states in which the rights and interests of the Muslims and other minorities are adequately and effectively safeguarded in the constitution"

(For details of the proceedings of this session, see Indian Year Book, 1938 39)

The foundations of Muslim solidarity laid at the Lucknow session of the League in the autumn of 1937 proved very strong indeed. The League grew from strength to strength in the two succeeding years and today it is admittedly the most powerful organisation of the community The League's spokesmen claim that it is the only mouthpiece of the Muslims, and one may be inclined to recognise that claim but for the existence of other organisations in the community with more or less following and influence, not excluding a large number of Muslims who are members of the Congress There may be two opinions about the claim that the League is the only organisation of the community, but no one can question that it is the most powerful and the most influential

With the outbreak of the war and the changes it wrought in Indian politics, the League found itself in an extremely advantageous position perusal of the chapter on the Indian National Congress will show how the Congress withdrew its ministries from the provinces where it had held sway for nearly two and a half years a result of this the League came to be on a par repeatedly declared in favour of 'a free India, 't

Whereas the Congress lost through war Again, whereas the Congress had alienated the sympathies of the Indian Princes by sponsor ing and encouraging agitation for responsible government for the States people, the League carned the friendship of the Princely order by condemning such activities and upholding the rights and privileges of the Indian Princes in any revision of the Indian Constitution In yet another direction the League manœuvred Congress categorically withheld its co operation from the war, the League abstained from taking any such attitude and merely insisted on the satisfaction of its claims prior to making up its Even this was only the official attitude mind of the League as an organisation Most of its individual members were in favour of wholeheartedly aiding in the prosecution of the war And the League winked at this

A fortnight after the declaration of the war, the Working Committee of the League passed a resolution which illustrates the tact and firmness with which the League steered the Muslim ship The League Committee stated that "if full, effective and honourable co operation of the Mussalmans is desired by the British Government in the grave crisis which is facing the world to be a support of the control of the desired to be a support of the control of the desired to be a support of the control of the desired to be a support of the control of the desired to be a support of the control today and if it is desired to bring it to a successful termination it must create a sense of security and satisfaction among the Mussalmans and take into their confidence the Muslim League, which is the only organisation that can speak on behalf of Muslim India"

Attack on Congress Ministries—Side by side with the demand for the redress of Muslim grievances and the assertion that their full and free consent should be obtained before any change in the Constitution was attempted, the League continued its campaign against the Congress ministries to which a against the Congress ministries, to which a reference has been made in past issues of the Indian Year Book Apart from the "atrocities" which, the League affirmed, had been perpetrated on the Muslim minorities in the provinces administered by the Congress, the League made a fresh point which was soon to become the nucleus of a serious development in Indian politics

In a resolution passed in September 1939, the orking Committee of the League said "The Working Committee of the League said developments that have taken place, especially since the inauguration of the provincial consti tution based on the so called democratic parliamentary system of government and the recent experiences of over two years, have established beyond any doubt that it has resulted wholly in a permanent communal majority and the domination by the Hindus over the Muslim mnorties, whose life and I herty, property and honour are in danger, and even their religious rights and culture are being assailed and annihi lated every day under the Congress Governments in various provinces

had "While Muslim India stands against As exploitation of the people of India and has " While with the Congress in that both were now out of is equally opposed to domination by the Hindu majority over the Mu salmans and other minorities and vassalisation of Muslim India and is irrevocably opposed to any federal of the All India Muslim League as indicat debject e which must necessarily result in a majority community rule under the guise of the All India Muslim League as indicat d d morrary and parliumentary system of government Such as come intoin stofally manifed on the 17th and 18th of September and 2nd of the toth expires of the country which such as the second country which all India Muslim League emphatically reference is composed or various and studies and the second country which all India Muslim League emphatically reference is composed or various and studies and the second country which is composed or various and studies and the second country which is considered to the country which is composed or various and studies and the second country which is considered to the country which is considered to the country which is the second country which not constitute a national state

This attack on provincial auto omy and on majority rule was an alto ethe n w line which was struck almost for the first time by the League Till then the Muslim demand had always been am the und anguism demand had always been for effective safeguards fo the protection of the Muslim community s reli ious cultural and other rights now the Mn lims beg n to question the very basis of democracy in declared that the western democracy in the sense of rule by majority was unsuitable. This was developed in the summ r of 1940 into a demand for the separation of Muslims on the ground that they constituted an integral nation and not a minority in the Indian population.

In the succeeding weeks numerous attempts were made to ascertain the grievances of the huslims and to find out whether th y we e justified—in other words whether th Congr ss ministries had been guilty of oppressi g them or even neglectin th m But all thes ended in smoke

P litical Di cu ns - Meanwhile discus sions on the political fild conti ued and early in October 1939 the Viceroy called into co sultation leaders of all sections of opi ion in India with a view to secretaini g their wishes in the matter of constitutional reform. the Government of India Act 193 is totally unsuited to and unworkable in the peculia conditions of this country and is altogether unacceptable to Muslim India

It further records its emphatic view that while the declaration dated the 18th of Octob r 1939 made by the Viceroy n beh if of His Mai sty s Government is reassuring in so far s it declares that the policy and plan on which the Government of India Act 1935 is be ed ill be reconsidered in consultation with the nt to be reconsidered in constitution with the various p rites interests and communities in India Muslim India will not be satisfied unless the whole constitutional plan is reconsidered de no o and the to revised plan will be accept. able to the Muslims unles it is framed with their pproval nd consent

Commute to main a screene of constitution in accordance with these basic principles providing for the assumption finally by the respective regin so fall powers such as Defence External Aff its Communications Customs and such other matters as may be necessary

This created a stir in the country among nation lists and Hind like and allo mong me M lim True the nov lty of the thing caught the Muslim imagination but even mong becam clear that th Muslim League was it is a substitute of the state

The evolution of Muslim League thought so far as our free national homelands are con 1940 41 followed the lines laid down cerned' Muslim India will never submit to at in April 1940 when the Pakistan resolution was adopted at Lahore Percentages and weightages, proportion of representation and share in services, guarantees and safeguards—notions which had held the political field for decades—were clean swept aside Mr Jinnah was not thinking in terms of these trifles, outworn gadgets of a democracy held to be unsuitable to an oriental people and totally mapplicable to the peculiar conditions of India All these devices pre-supposed the continuance of Muslims as members of a State, more or less secured and safeguarded, enjoying greater or less share of power, but scarcely likely as a community ever to occupy dominant position Mr to think of an arrangement which would not respecting each, the other's rights' give the Muslims equal power and authority with the majority community He would not with the majority community He would not be party to making the Muslims subordinate to the Hindus Being a numerical minority they as a community would perforce be the junior partner in any composite State

As in a composite State the Muslims could not in the nature of democracy expect to be reckoned as equals with the majority community, two different nations, more than two different much less as the dominant force, Mr Jinnah nations, in this sub-continent, when you have went away from the idea of a composite State totally two different societies." He also and proposed that India should be divided into two spheres Muslim and Hindu Each was to be autonomous internally and for purposes of a Central Government with minimum powers the two should collaborate as equals

The Pakistan ideal began to exercise the Muslim mind. It provided the League and Mr Jinnah with a new plank, gave the Muslim community a new goal, a new vista free from what was described as "the danger of Hindu Raj" Every development affecting the future of India in any way was viewed against the background of Pakistan, how will more power for the future Indian State affect the Muslims? Therefore the League claimed the right to approve or reject every proposal calculated to affect the country and its population. The threat was put forth that "any move by the Congress to widen political power in India without the League's approval will meet with the League's resistance"

Madras Session — The annual session the League was held in Madras amidst scenes of great enthusiasm in the middle of April 1941 Mr Jinnah, who presided, urged the British Government to give up their policy of appeasement towards those who were bent upon frustrating the war efforts and to get on with those who wanted to get on with them

Outlining the policy of the Muslim League, said 'The goal of the All-India Muslim League is that we want to establish a completely independent State in the north-west and eastern zones of India with full control finally on defence, foreign affairs, communi finally on defence, foreign affairs, communi question A resolution passed at Nagpur in cations, customs, currency, exchange, etc We December said "The Committee are deeply do not want under any circumstances a constitution of an All-India character with one Govern ment at the Centre We will never agree to sate as laid down in the Declaration of the If you once agree to it. let me tell you that If you once agree to it. let me tell you that IR. 1940 there is a constitution of the British Government still remains the sate of the British Government still remains the sate of the British Government still remains the sate of the pointer.

Muslim India will never submit to at All-India constitution and one Central Govern The ideology of the League is based or the fundamental principle that the Muslim of India are an independent nationality and that any attempt to get them to merge their national and political identity and ideology will be resisted. The policy of the League is to endeavour—to promote goodwill and harmony other peoples on the basis of equality. among other peoples on the basis of equality fair-play and reciprocity. This can best be fair-play and reciprocity. This can best by secured by agreement with other peoples and parties and states with the object of achieving collective security and orderly development of the people living in different states as well as among Jinnah refused the different free states as members of a comity

> Emphasising the unsuitability of democracy to India, Mr Jinnah said "Majority rule in a single nation, in a single society is understandable Representative government in a single nation, harmonious and homogeneous, is understandable But you have only to apply your minds for a few minutes to see if such a system can even work or succeed when you have referred to Dravidistan in South India and said that they were fully agreeable to the establishment of Dravidistan

> Change of Creed -The most important resolution of the Madras session was that which changed the creed of the League

- The establishment of completely independent States formed by demarcating geographically contiguous units into regions which shall be so constituted with such territorial readjustments as may be necessary that the areas in which the Muslims are numerically in a majority as in the north-western and eastern zones of India shall be grouped together to consti tute independent States as Muslim free national homelands in which the constituent units shall be autonomous and sovereign
- (2) That adequate, effective and mandatory safeguards shall be specifically provided in the constitution for minorities in the above mentioned units and regions for the protection of their religious, cultural, economic, political, administrative and other rights and interests in consultation with them
- That in other parts of India where the Mushms are in a minority, adequate, effective and mandatory safeguards shall be specifically provided in the constitution for them and other minorities for the protection of their religious, cultural, economic, political, administrative and other rights and interests in consultation with them "

Towards the end of 1941 the League Working Committee expressed itself on the political that If you once agree to it, let me tell you that 8, 1940, there is a growing tendency in a the Muslims would be absolutely wiped out of section of the British press and politicians who, existence We shall never be a feudatory of under the stress of war against the Axis Powers any power or of any Government at the Centre and the entry of Japan in the archa, are urging

() In the Draft Declaration a constitution in king body has been proposed with the primary of et et et eting one Indian Union So fr. a the 31 mills League is cone med it has finally decided the the only solution of Indias continued to the continue of the second of the continue of the c

"Besides, the machinery which has been proposed for the creation of the constitution-making body, namely that it will consist of members elected by the newly elected lower houses of the eleven provinces, upon the cessation of hostilities, as a single electoral college by the system of proportional representation, is a fundamental departure from the right of the Mussalmans, hitherto enjoyed by them, to elect their representatives by means of separate electorates, which is the only sure way in which true representatives of the Mussalmans can be chosen

"The constitution making body will take decisions by a bare majority on all questions of most vital and paramount character involved in the framing of the constitution, which is a departure from the fundamental principles of justice and contrary to constitutional practice so far followed in the various countries and dominions and the Mussalmans, by agreeing to this will, instead of exercising their right and judgment as a constituent factor, be at the entire mercy of the constitution-making body in which they will be a minority of about 25 per cent

"The right of non accession to the Union as contemplated in the draft declaration has been conceded presumably in response to the insistent demands by the Mussalmans for the partition of India but the method of procedure laid down is such as to negative the professed object, for in the draft proposals the right of non-accession has been given to the existing provinces which have been formed from time to time for administrative convenience and on no logical basis

"The Mussalmans cannot be satisfied with such a declaration on a vital question affecting their future destiny and demand a clear and precise pronouncement on the subject. Any attempt to solve the future problem of India by a process of evading the real issues is to court dispater.

"In the draft proposals no procedure has been laid down as to how the verdict of the province is to be obtained in favour of or against accession to the one union but in the letter dated 2nd of April from the Secretary of Sir Stafford Cripps, addressed to the President of the All-India Muslim League, it is stated that "a province should reach the decision whether or not to stand out of the Union by a vote in the Legislative Assembly on a resolution to stand in

"If the majority for accession to the Union is less than 60 per cent, the minority will have the right to demand a plebiscite of the adult male population." In this connection it must be emphasised that in the case of the major provinces of Bengal and the Punjab they (the Muslims) are in a minority in the Legislative Assemblies, and in the Assemblies of Sind and the North-West Frontier Province, the total number, namely, 60 and 50 respectively, is so small and the weightage given to the non-Muslims so heavy that it can be easily manipulated and a decision under such conditions cannot be the true criterion of ascertaining the real opinion of the Mussalmans of those provinces

"As regards the suggested plebiscite in the provinces in which the Mussalmans are in a majority, in the event of the requisite majority not being available in the Legislative Assemblies,

"Besides, the machinery which has been to possed for the creation of the constitutionaking body, namely that it will consist of embers elected by the newly elected lower buses of the eleven provinces, upon the cessa-

"(4) With regard to the Indian States, it is the considered opinion of the Committee that it is a matter for them to decide whether to join or not to join or form a union

"(5) With regard to the treaties to be negotiated between the Crown and the Indiar Union or Unions, the proposals do not indicate as to what would happen in case of disagreement on the terms between the contracting parties nor is there any provision made as to what would be the procedure when there is a difference of opinion in negotiating a revision of treaty arrangements with the Indian States in the new situation

"(6) With regard to the Interim arrangement, there is no definite proposal except the bare statement that His Majesty's Government desire and invite the effective and immediate particlipation of the leaders of the principal sections of the Indian people in the counsels of their country, of the Commonwealth and of the United Nations The Committee are, therefore, unable to express their opinion until a complete picture is available

"Another reason why the Committee are unable to express their opinion on the Interim arrangements for participation in the counsel of the country, is that Sir Stafford Cripps has made it clear that the scheme goes through as a whole or is rejected as a whole and that it would not be possible to retain only the part relating to the immediate arrangements at the Centre and discard the rest of the draft scheme and as the Committee has come to the conclusion that the proposals for the future are unacceptable it will serve no useful purpose to deal further with the question of the immediate arrangements

"In conclusion, the Committee wish to point out that the position of the Muslim League has been and is that unless the principle of Pakistan scheme, as embodied in the Lahore Resolution of March 1940, which is now the creed of the All-India Muslim League is unequivocally accepted and the right of the Mussalmans to self-determination is conceded by means of a machinery which will reflect the true verdict of Muslim India it is not possible for the Muslim League to accept any proposal or scheme regarding the future"

Attitude to Congress—During 1942 43 the policy of the Muslim League was somewhat negative in character. It made no specific contribution towards the settlement either of the Indo British question or of the Hindu-Muslim problem. The resolutions of the League and the utterances of its leaders have been in the nature of comments on the actions of other people and response—rather the lack of it—to others' moves

When Mr Gandhi on behalf of the Congress evolved the "Quit India" slogan and developed it up to the stage of the AICC resolution Mr Jinnah made a series of public statements repudiating Mr Gandhi and the Congress and warning his community against the dangers of playing into the hands of the latter and the Sikhs This was not to the liking of Mr Jinnah who desired a full-fledged League and impossible, and unless there is a changeministry in the Punjab, the corner stone of Pakistan The second object of his tour was to scotch proposals to bring about a provincial solution of the Hindu-Muslim problem in the resolution of the Hindu-Muslim problem in the resolutions. There is reason to believe that Mr Jinnah also utilised his tour to reach an agree ment with the Sikhs so that the Palistan proposal, at any rate as far as the Punjab was concerned, could be satisfactorily settled While he failed in this last object, Mr Jinnah achieved a large measure of success in preventing the materialisation of any proposal to bring about a provincial solution of the Hindu-Muslim problem He also infused the spirit of the League among the Muslim masses of the Punjab Doubts whether Mr Jinnah's campaign in the Punjab would succeed or not were laid at rest by the sudden death, a few weeks later, of Sir Sikander Hyat Khan and the succession to the premiership of Malik Khisar Hayat Khan who seemed more amenable to the League than his predecessor

As regards the Sikhs, Mr Jinnah said "Since I am on the Punjab soil I should like to say that the question between the Hindus and the Muslims is an all-India question and the question between the Sikhs and the Muslims is that of Pakistan, and, for all practical purposes, it is a question between the Sikhs and the Mushims in the Punjab If our Sikh friends wish-and we wish-that there should be an understanding and settlement between them and us, then I tell them let us not talk at each other but let us talk to each other no designs on our Sikh friends I o I only appeal to them to free themselves from external influences, meet us, and I am confident that we shall come to a settlement which shall reasonably satisfy our Sikh friends"

He ridiculed the idea that self-determination should be extended to all communities in the Punjab and said "The Muslims claim the right of self-determination because they are a national group on a given territory which is their homeland and in the zones where they are in a majority Have you known anywhere in history, he asked that subnational groups scattered all over be given a State Where are you going to get a State for them In that case you have got 14 per cent Muslims in the United Provinces Why not have a State for them? Muslims in the United Provinces are not a national group, they are scattered fore, in constitutional language they are characterised as a sub national group who cannot expect anything more than what is due from any civilised Government to a minority I hope I have made the position clear The Muslims are not sub national, it is their birth right to claim and exercise the right of self determination

Since his failure to bring round the Sikhs, Mr Jinnah stiffened up on the question of Pakistan. He said "We consider that the decision of the Congress is not only a declaration of rebellion against the British Government but it is an internecine war and this movement Government to accept the Congress demand and if you do not approve of it, it is your res

Delhi Session.—A session of the Muslim Leagu was held at Delhi late in the spring of 1943 M Jinnah, who presided, made a three-hour speed in the course of which he said —"Nobody wi welcome it more than myself, if Mr Gandhi! now really willing to come to a settlement wit the Moslem League Let me tell you that will b the greatest day, both for the Hindus and th Muslims If that is Mr Gandhi's desire, what i there to prevent him from writing direct to me Who is there that can prevent him from doing so (Renewed Cheers) What is the use of going t the Viceroy? Strong as this Government may be in this country, I cannot believe that they will have the daring to stop such a letter, if it is sent to me It will be a very serious thing indeed, if such a letter were stopped Mr Gandhi gets all the information and knows what is going on If there is any change of heart on his part, he has only to drop a few lines to me Then the Muslim League will not fail, whatever may have been our controversy before "

"When we passed the Lahore resolution, we did not use the word Pakistan at all," Mr Jinnah continued

"Who gave us this word? (shouts of 'Hindus') Let me tell you this is their folly They started damning this on the ground that it was Pakistan They foisted this word upon us, and they talked of Pan-Islamian We ourselves went on for a long time using the phrase 'the Lahore resolution popularly phrase 'the Lahore resolution popularly known as Pakistan' But how long are we to have this long phrase? I say to Hindu and British friends, we thank you for giving us one

Deprecating talk of some sort of loose Federa-on, Mr Jinnah declared "There is no such tion, Mr Jinnah declared thing as a loose Federation When a Central Federal Government is established, it will tighten and tighten until the units are pulverised in the matter of real power and are reduced to the same status as Indian States at

"We are opposed to any such scheme bound in the long run to lead to certain emascula tion of the entire Muslim nation, socially, educationally, culturally, economically and politically and to the establishment of a Hindu majority Raj in this sub continent Therefore, dismiss from your mind any idea of this kind that might lure you"

After charging Mr Gandhi and other Congress leaders with systematic and deliberate attempt to establish Hindu rule in India, Mr Jinnah said "let us close that chapter Even nations that have killed millions of each other—we have not done so yet even they who were the bitterest enemies yesterday have to day become That is politics representative of the Crown speaking with all A resolution setting up a committee of action seriousness and responsibility could think was moved by Chaudhury Khaliquzzaman that he could win this war while he was totally It ran indifferent to the political situation British Government had to get the wholehearted and enthusiastic support of some party in the country if not all Livery party was kept at arm's length, discontented and dissatisfied. The Viceroy's appeal for co operation, Mr Jinnah raid, was really a flagrant abuse of the English word "co operation" "What does a constitution of the length of the co operation mean in plain English? Without giving any real share or authority in the Government, we are asked to do the work of camp followers, menials and subservients. Can we expect any self-respecting organisation to accept that position?"

"The British Government are pursuing a definite policy," Mr. Jinnah declared "They do not want co operation from any party. The Congress has decided to non co operate and has resorted to mass civil disobedience. The Congress has been outlawed. What has the rest of India done? We have offered our hand of co operation for the job of winning the war provided it is accepted as that of a friend, with a share and authority in the Government, and that a definite promise is given that we shall reap our share of the fruits of victory when we win it That has been rejected when we win it And yet our organisation is being treated like the Congress organisation which represents no doubt a solid body of Hindus Both the organisations, the Congress and the Muslim League, are treated alike They would like to outlaw the Muslim League We are quite ready for it."

Mr Jinnah asserted that the Hindus were Mr Jinnah asserted that the Hindus were responsible for holding up the progress of the country He asked "Can we Mussalmans of India accept Akhand Hindustan, Hindu Raj over the entire sub-continent? Is it possible to expect Muslim India to agree to Akhand Hindustan and Hindu Raj on the continent? This is their proposal They have not given up their dream On the other hand, they talk of independence Whose independence? I have repeatedly warned you that when they talk of independence, they mean the independence of India and the slavery mean the independence of India and the slavery of Muslim India If the Hindus, owing to their obsession or dream or cussedness, put obstruction in the path of freedom of both and insist upon the freedom of one and the slavery of the other, I ask you who are responsible for holding up the progress of the country except the Hindus?"

A committe of action consisting of not fewer than five and not more than seven members and with a proper secretariat to organise, co-ordinate and unify the activities of the League was suggested by Mr Jinnah "It will be the duty of this committee to examine the various suggestions received for the uplift of the Muslims," he said He appealed for of the Muslims," he said He appealed for funds to carry on the activities of the League He said that he appealed nearly two years ago for a sum of Rs 10,00,000, but so far he had received only Rs 5,50,000 With that money at their disposal they could make a beginning Mr Jinnah also suggested the setting up of an All-India Parliamentary Board—a supreme body to supervise the elections and disputes regarding clections

A resolution setting up a committee of action

"Whereas the All-India Muslim League, in its annual session held at Delhi in April 1943, had, in view of the vague, indefinite and unset tled policy of the British Government towards the Muslim demand of Pakistan on the one hand and the unpatriotic, short sighted, and antagonistic attitude of the Hindus on the other, resolved to rely on the Mussalmans of India generally and the Muslims of Pakistan zone in particular for the attainment of their cherished goal, this session of the All-India Muslim League hereby resolves to appoint a committee of action of not less than five and not more than seven, to be nominated by the President, to prepare and organise the Mussalmans all over India to meet all contingencies, resist the imposition of All-India Federation or any other constitution for a united India and prepare them for the coming struggle for the achievement of Pakistan '

Shortly after this Mr Jinnah gave an interview to a representative of the British press which has been "held to constitute a modification of the Pakistan demand made at the Karachi session of the League, indicating a softening of attitude as far as the British are concerned and militating against an understanding with the Congress or the Hindus" At Karachi Mr Jinnah raised the slogan "divide and quit" On the minds of most people that expression left the impression that the League, like the Congress, demanded that the British should forthwith leave India, but with this difference that the League wanted them to leave after dividing India According to his latest explanation, that does not seem to be his desire seems now to contemplate a transition period of undefined duration, with the British authority remaining paramount as far as armed forces and foreign affairs are concerned while the work of settlement and adjustment progresses The duration of this period is to depend on the speed with which the two peoples (Hindus and Muslims) and Great Britain adjust themselves The last phase of this to the new constitution process of adjustment would be the evolution of a treaty understanding between Great Britain on the one hand and the Hindus and Muslims on the other, somewhat analogous to the Egyptian Treaty of Independence

This interpretation has been variously understood by his critics. Unfriendly observers read in it a desire to obtain from Britain a reward for his consistent and persistent mud slinging at the Congress and Mahatma Gandhi One commentator said Mr Jinnah has made it as clear as the noon day sun that "he relies on the British not only to effect the partition of India but to protect that partition by remaining in the country" In addition to explaining or diluting the Pakistan goal, according as the critic views it, Mr Jinnah's latest utterance furnishes a commentary on the recent Viceregal pronouncement He interpreted Lord Wavell's address to mean that Government were content with the present position But Mr Jinnah's critics return the compliment they say that he, too, is content with the present situation He does not want Government to afford facilities for negotiations with, or between

Congress leaders as it would mean that the Letter t Mr Junah,—Shortly after the Congress has won and that Government cannot release from jail in May 1914 Mr Gandhi released

"First take the preamble, the basis of the land immediately establishing a National Go terms which, if accepted, will completely bind the Muslim League, whereas the Mahatma may withdraw his blessings as ho is not speaking. according to Mr Rajagopalachari, with the authority of the Congress or in his representative capacity, whatever that may mean

"Then we come to the first clause, 'subject to the terms set out below as regards the constitution. I do not see 'the constitution' in this formula, which constitution does he refer to?

"Then comes the demand for our endorsing the Indian demand for Independence It implies that we are against the independence of the peoples of India, and both Mr Gandhi and Mr Rajagopalachari know that it is an un called for insinuation to make, and they are casting an unwarranted reflection upon the Muslim League

"Next comes the condition that we should co operate with the Congress in the formation of a Provisional Interim Government for the transitional period, thereby arrogating to the Congress a dominant and superior position and requiring our co operation as a subordinate body with this leading organisation to the kind of provisional interim Government for the transitional period that is to be formed, no indication is given as to its form, character, personnel, its powers, etc. After the termination of the war, a Commission shall be appointed for demarcating contiguous districts in the north-west and east of India, and a plebiscite of all the inhabitants would be held districtwise where the Muslim population is in absolute majority It is not stated who will appoint this Commission, what will be its personnel and its powers, and who will enforce its findings

"Really how can Mr Rajagopalachari stand unabashed and make a public statement that his formula concedes all that the Muslim League's resolution of March 1940 demands? It would be open to all parties to advocate their point of view before a plebiscite is held, although this agreement is intended to be only between the Congress and the League

"Next in the event of separation, mutual agreements shall be entered into for safeguarding defence, commerce, and communications and for other essential purposes. The question arises, safeguarding these matters from whom, and what does it mean? These mutual agreements are made obligatory, and it is not very easy to understand the significance of this clause

"Then comes the last clause, which is the light of ingenuity These terms shall be height of ingenuity binding only in case of transfer by Britain of full power and responsibility for the Government of India But it does not say to whom, how and when "

Jinnah said —"Let Mr MrContinuing, Gandhi join hands with the Muslim League on the basis of Pakistan in plain and unequivocal language and we shall be nearer the independence of the peoples of India, which is so dear to the heart of not only Mr Gandhi but of millions in this country Mr Gandhi and Mr Rajagopalachari are putting the cart before the horse when they say that all these clauses can have any value or can become effective only if Great Britain transfers power to India, save and except acting on his latest seven points on July 22 and I thank you for it

ment of Mr Gandhi's conception Ther no chance of it unless the Hindus and Mu: come to a rettlement and unite and thus means of a united front wring out our free from the unwilling hands of the rulers of (Britain

"At last—and it is conducive to fur progress that Mr Gandhi has, at any rat his personal capacity, accepted the prin of partition or division of India What rem What ren now is the question of how and when this got to be carried out Mr Gandhi knows understands the position better than any li man, for in one of his articles in the Har he put the question of Pakistan demand nutshell This was what he said the Quaid e Aram does not represent the sidered opinion even of his colleagues according to him in a nutshell, is a den for carving out of India a portion to be wl treated as an independent and sovereign St

"I hope I have made it clear that the cedure and method adopted is hardly condu to friendly negotiations and the form is dictation, as it is not open to any modificat This is not calculated to lead to fruitful resi or a solution and settlement of the problem w concerns the destiny of a nation of hunc millions of Muslims and their posterity and regards the merits of the proposal, Mr Gai is offering a shadow and a husk, maimed, m lated and moth eaten Pakistan and thus tr to pass off having met our Pakistan scheme Muslim demand

"But since all these happenings," Mr Jin added, "I have received a letter from Mr Gai dated July 17 I already replied to him July 24 from Srinagar They are as folk Let us, therefore, wait and see, hoping for

"(vn) Mr Gandhi would then be willing to edvise Concress participation in the Antional Government so formed

'This bods', said Mr Jinnah, 'can only be worled out on the footing that the present constitution must be scrapped and a new constitution be sub-tituted for it. I warn the public to understand the far reaching implicitions of the e propo ils, and the question arises that if this constitution is to be scrapped and a new constitution has got to be framed, then what about Pall-ton?

"But after these proposels were put by Mr Gaudhi Mr Rejagopelachari makes a proposal which is vitally different. He says "What we ask is that the Vicerov's reserve powers should not be claimed as they are claimed When we took over the Government in 1937 in the provinces, there was the same quartel as to the powers of the Governors. We came to an agreement. There was an un-derstanding that except in extraordinary cir-cumstances necessitating interference for the sake of the war the minorities and so on, there should be no interference by the Governors In the same manner, a working arrangement about the Vicero's reserve powers would be most practicable and easy." This amount to practically the Cripps proposals, namely, that we should participate in the Government under the present constitution immediately "

Mr Jinnah continued "Then next we have before us the question of a Hindu Muslim settlement and before either of the above mentioned proposals of Mr Gandhi and Mr Rajagopalachari can be considered, Hindu Alfarences must be settled first and Muslim differences must be settled first and for that purpose Mr Gandhi and I are going to meet, I hope very soon I naturally do not wish to say anything at present to the press representatives, and I am sure that you here will not expect me to discuss them at present

"Suffice it to say that Mr Gandhi has now accepted the principle of partition or division of India

"In these circumstances, I appeal to the press and leaders of all communities to maintain a complete truce and apply their energies to create a friendly atmosphere and goodwill for my proposed meeting with Mr Gandhi and withhold their judgment until then, and give us the fullest opportunity to do our best in the interests of the two great nations—Hindu and Muslim-which may lead to the desire of our heart, namely, the achievement of freedom for both

As regards the Sikh community, Mr Jinnah bira

Muslim League and I shall ends from in every was to meet them in every fair and reworable 15.12 They should not allow them elses to be influenced by any out-file agencies and Lapperl to them not to put any of struction in the way of our achieving Pakistan as they will be much better oil in Pakistan than in Alhand Hindustan "

He added "I will to ent a word to make the position of the Muslim League clear so far no the Scheduled (ask s and other minorities are concerned. Their just claims will have to be met before any complete settlement is achieved. It is the cardinal principle of the Muslim League that the minorities be they within Pakistan or Hinduston, shall be adequately safeguarded and protected and this is, in fact, embodied in the Muslim League re-olution of 1940 out-lining the basic principle of Pakistan."

Inspering the question whether he regarded the Sikhs as a sub national group or a nation Mr tinnah said. "It has been brought to my notice that the Sikhs think that I have described thum as a sub-national group and they feel This is only a constitutional phrase hurt which means people belonging to a nation who are scattered all over a given territory or even islands, such as the Muslims are in the minority provinces, and at the time I used the expression sub national group. I made it quite clear that so are the Mu-lims in certain provinces I think it was clear at the time I made that speech and since this question has been asked I again make it clear, if possible more clear

"Sub national group does not mean that the Sikhs are not a nation. I do not dispute that the Sikhs are a nation The recognised leaders of the Sikhs or their authorised organisations are welcome to send their proposals to me or to Mr Gandhi or both of us if they like They should give us their considered demand now and forget the past So far as the Muslim League is concerned we are ready and willing to meet them in every way We want to give the minorities such a deal that afterwards they may not feel that they have been taken in, but that they should be happy That is the spirit in which I want to happy That is the spirit in which I want to approach the whole problem"

Asked if he would invite proposals from other minorities also Mr Jinnah said "We two (Gandhi and Jinnah) are not the enemies of any particular community, and we are meeting, and our one and sole desire is to secure freedom for all sections of the peoples of this country"

On the morrow of the League Council meeting Mr Jinnah, in pursuance of the resolution passed at the Karachi session of the All-India Muslim League in December 1943, announced the appointment of a planning committee whose main function was to survey and examine the condition of India, and more particularly of the Pakistan area, with a view to preparing the Muslims to participate in the natural develop gards the Sikh community, Mr Jinnah ments in the direction of commercial and agri Some of the Sikh leaders are unduly cultural expansion and industrialisation and

" xt it is stated that the Muslim League will co-operate with the Congress in the formation of a Provisional Interim Government | off our talks when I refused to assume or acfor the transitional period." I would like to a representative capacity Of course, I know the basis or the lines on which such a pledged to use all the influence I may I Government is to be set up or constituted If you have a complete and definite scheme, please let me have it.

- Who will appoint the (3) Clauso Commission referred to in this clause and who will give effect to their finding? What is the meaning of "absolute majority" referred to in it? Will the contemplated plebiseits. be taken districtwise, or, if not, on what basis? Who will determine and decide whether such a plebiscite should be based on adult franchise or other practicable franchise? Who will give effect to the decision or verdict of the abovementioned plebiscite? Would only the districts on the border which are taken out from the boundaries of the present provinces by delimitation be entitled to choose to join either extent or also these outside the present either state or also those outside the present boundaries would have the right to choose to join either state ?
- (4) Clause 3 Who parties "in this clause? Who are meant by "all
- I would like to know between whom and through what machinery and agency will the "mutual agreements" referred to in this clause be entered into? What is meant by "safeguarding defence and commerce, communications and for other essential purposes Safeguarding against whom?
- (6) Clause 6 "These terms shall be binding only in case of transfer by Britain of full power and responsibility for the Government of India" I would like to know to whom is this power to be transferred, through what machinery and agency, and when?

These are some of the important points that occur to me for the moment, which require explanation and clarification, and hope that you will let me have full details with regard to the various points that I have raised, in order that I may be better able to understand and judge your proposals before I can deal with them satisfactorily

Gandhiji's letter dated September 11, 1944

Dear Quaid-1-Azam,

I received your letter yesterday at 3 30 p m I was in the midst of appointments I hasten to reply at the earliest opportunity

I have said in my letter to you, it is implied in the Rajaji Formula and I have stated publicly that I have approached you as an individual My life mission has been Hindu Muslim unity, which I want for its own sake, but which is not to be achieved without the foreign ruling power being ousted Hence the first condition of the evercise of the right of self determination Pakistan and Hindustan, as briefly Isid dow is achieving Independence by the joint action in the Lahore Resolution of March, 1940, an of all the parties and groups composing India proceed to settle the details forthwith Your Island of the control then too I must fight with the assistance of

with the Congress to ratify my agreement 1 you May I remind you that the Ra Formula was designed in the first instance your acceptance and submission thereafter the League?

It is true that I said an ocean separated and me in outlook But that had no refere to the Lahore Resolution of the League Lahoro Resolution is indefinite Rajaji taken from it the substance and given it a she

Now for the points raised by you

I have already answered this in foregoing

The constitution will be framed by Provisional Government contemplated in formula or an authority specially set up by after the British power is withdrawn independence contemplated is of the whole India as it stands

The basis for the formation of the Provisio Interim Government will have to be agr to between the League and the Congress

- The Commission will be appointed Provisional Government 'Absol Provisional Government the majority' means a clear majority over n Muslim elements as in Sind Baluchistan the Frontier Province The form of plebis the Frontier Province and the franchise must be a matter for discussi-
- 4. "All parties" means, the interested
- "Mutual agreement" means agreeme between contracting parties "Safeguardi defence, etc", means for me a central or jo board of control Safeguarding means sa guarding against all who may put the comm interests in jeopardy
- The power is to be transferred to t nation, that is, to the Provisional Governmen The Formula contemplates peaceful transi by the British Government So far as I a concerned, I would like the transfer to ta place as early as possible

Yours sincerely, M K Gandl

Mr Jinnah a letter dated 13th Sentember 1011

Dear Mr Gandhi

When you arri ed lere on the morning til 1 th to resume our talks you were good

Jinnah Gandhiji s lett r of 14th September 1944 Dear Qual I I Azam

I have your letter of the 13th instant I und ratood from our talks that you were in und rstood from our talks that you were in o hurry for any answ r I was therefore the light of the talk of the light of th for record our fin la recement. But I u derstand and appre into the other view point. We should take 10th I g fo gr nted I should clarify your difficulties in understanding the Rajai Formula and y u 10th 1d likewie regarding outs; e the Buslim League Lahore Resolution. of 1940

With ref rence to the Labore Resolution as agreed between us I shall deal with it in a separ te letter

Perhaps at the end of our discusion we shill discove the Rajaji not only has not put the Laho e Resolution out of shape and mutilated it but has given it substance and

Indeed in view of your dislike of the Rajaji Fo mula I ha e at a yr te for the m ment put it out of my mind and I am new concentra if g on the Lahore Resolution in the hope of findl g a gr und for mutual agreement
So much for the first p ragraph of your

As to the second I do hold that n ! on the third party we shill not be able to il e t peace with on anoth That does not me n th I may ot m ke a firt to find way nd means of stabl hing a living peace between us

You sake fr my conception f the b is for a for lie at Interim Go enme t I wald hav told you if II d s y heme in mind I imagine that it we two cr agree it would be for us to consult the ther parties I case y see m not between or tact grattee who is a transferred to the best of the seed

As to the third point, the Provisional Govern ment, being the appointing authority, will give effect to the findings of the Commission give effect to the findings of the Commission League will co operate with the Congress in This I thought was implied in my previous the formation of the Provisional Interim

Rajaji tells me that absolute majority is used in his formula in the same sense as it is used in ordinary legal parlance wherever more than two groups are dealt with I cling I cling to my own answer But you will perhaps suggest a third meaning and persuade me to accept it

The form of the plebiscite and franchise must be left to be decided by the Provisional Interim Government unless we decide it now I should say it should be by adult suffrage of all the inhabitants of the Pakistan area

As to the fourth 'all parties' means you and I and every one else holding view on the question at issue will and should seek by peaceful persuasion to influence public opinion as is done where democracy functions wholly or in part

As to the fifth, supposing that the result of the plebiscite is in favour of partition, the Provisional Government will draft the treaty and agreements as regards the administration of matters of common interest, but the same has to be confirmed and ratified by the Govern ments of the two States The machinery required for the settlement and administration of matters of common interest will, in the first instance, be planned by the Interim Government, but subsequently will be matter for settlement between the two Governments acting through the agencies appointed by each for that purpose

As to the sixth, I hope the foregoing makes superfluous any further reply

> Yours sincerely, M K Gandhi

Jinnah's letter dated 14th September, Μr 1944

Dear Mr Gandhi

the point satisfactorily

I received your letter of September 14 at 4-45 p m to day in reply to my letter of September (and not of September 13 as you state, which seems to be a mistake) and I thank you for it

- Please let me have as soon as you can your promised letter indicating in what way or respect the Lahore Resolution is 'indefinite
- (2) With regard to the provision in the Gandhi-Rajaji Formula that "the Muslim League endorses the Indian demand for Inde-pendence," I asked you in my letter dated September 10, "does it mean the Congress demand for Independence, as formulated in the August 1942 Resolution by the All India Congress Committee in Bombay or, if not, has it the significance of this term," to which you replied by your letter of September 11, 'The Independence contemplated is of the whole of India as it stinds' Hence I again

As regards the next part of the clause, the Formula proceeds to lay down that "the Muslim Government for the transitional period," requested you by my letter of September 10 to let me know "the basis or the lines on which such a Government is to be set up or constituted If you have a complete and definite scheme, please let me have it," to which you replied by your letter of September 11 under reply that the basis for the formation of the Pro visional Interim Government will have to be agreed to between the League and the Congress" But that is not meeting my request for clarification, or giving me at least the outlines of such a Government And that is what I have been asking for I hope that you do appreciate my point when I am requesting you to let me have rough outlines of the proposed Provisional Interim Government according to the Formula, so that I may have some idea Of course, I can quite understand that such a Provisional Interim Government will represent all the parties and would be of a character that will inspire confidence at the present property of all the present and such a moment of all the parties I can quite understand that when the moment arrives, certain things may follow, but before we can deal with this formula in a satisfactory manner, I repert again that, as it is your formula, you should give me a rough idea of the Provisional Interim Government that you contemplate and of your conception What I would like to know would be, what will be the powers of such a Provisional Interim Government, how it will be formed, to whom it will be respon sible, and what will be its composition, etc You, being the sponsor of this Gandhi-Rajaji Formula, should give me some rough idea and picture of it, so that I may understand what this part of the formula means

In your letter of September 14 in reply to my letter of September 11 you inform me that you would have told me if you had any scheme in mind "I imagine that if we two can agree it would be for us to consult the other parties" but that is just the point Unless I have some outlines or scheme, however rough, from you what are a to decrease. from you, what are we to discuss in order to reach any agreement?

As regards the other matters which you have further explained, I have noted the explanation, and I do not think I need press you further, although some of them are not quite satisfactory

> Yours sincerely, Jinnah

M K Gandbi

Gandhili second letter dated September

I woke up at 3 am to day to finish my in your representative character or capacity promised letter on the Lahore Resolution

There is no mistake about the date, for I wrote in answer to your reminder of the 13th instant

Independence does mean as envisaged in the AICC Resolution of 1942 But it cannot be on the basis of a United India If we come to a settlement, it would be on the basis of the settlement, assuming, of course, that it secures general acceptance in the country. The process will be somewhat like this. We reach by joint effort Independence for India as it stands India become free will proceed to demarcation, plebiscite and partition if the people concerned vote for partition All this is implied in the Rajaji formula

As to the Provisional Interim Government, I am afraid I cannot carry my answer any and it is for you to judge finally, when you further than I have done Though I have have studied this question thoroughly, whether no scheme for the Provisional Government, if you have one in connection with the Lahore Resolution, which also, I presume, requires an interim Government, we can discuss it

The Formula was framed by Rajaji in good ith I accepted it in equal good faith. The faith hope was that you would look at it with favour We still think it to be the best in the circum You and I have to put flesh on it, if we can I have explained the process we have to go through You have no objection to it Perhaps, you want to know how I would form the Provisional Government if I was a provided the process of the provisional Government of I was a provided the process of the p If I was in that unenviable invited thereto position, I would see all the claimants and endeavour to satisfy them My co operation will be available in that task

I can give you full satisfaction about your inquiry, "What I would like to know would be, what will be the powers of such a Provisional Interim Government, how it will be formed, to whom it will be responsible." The Provisional Interim Government will be responsible to the elected members of the present Assembly or a newly elected one It will have all the powers less that of the Commander-in Chief during the war and full powers thereafter It will be the authority to give effect to the agreement that may be arrived at between the League and the Congress and ratified by the other parties

Mr Jinnal's letter dated September 17

Dear Mr Gandhu.

I have your letter of September 15, and I thank you for it I note that you have for the moment shunted the Rajaji Formula and are applying your mind very seriously to the Lahore Resolution—of the Muslim League It is my duty to explain the Lahore Resolution to you to day and persuade you to accept it, even though you are talking to me as you have often made it clear, in your individual capacity I have successfully converted non-Muslim Indians in no small number and also a large I have your letter of September 15, and I Indians in no small number and also a large body of foreigners, and if I can convert you, exercising as you do tremendous influence over Hindu India, it will be no small assistance to of the Resolution Surely, this is not asking for the Resolution of the Resolutio me, although we are not proceeding on the clarification of the Resolution and my difficulties remain until you are vested with a representative status and authority in order to negotiate and reach an agreement with you

You have stated in your letter dated September 11 that the Lahore Resolution is "indefinite, I, therefore, naturally asked you to please let me know in what way or respect the Lahore Resolution is indefinite, and now I have received your letter of September 15 under reply

The third paragraph of your letter is not seeking clarification, but a disquisition and expression of your views on the point, whether the Mussalmans are a nation This matter can hardly be discussed by means of corres pondence There is a great deal of discussion and literature on this point which is available, the Mussalmans and Hindus are not two major For the moment, nations in this sub continent I would refer you to two publications, although there are many more,—Dr Ambedkar's book and "MRT's" "Nationalism in Conflict in India" We maintain and hold that Muslims and Hindus are two major nations by any definition or test of a nation We are a nation of a hundred milhon, and what is more, we are a nation with our own distinctive culture and civilisation, language and literature, art and architecture, names and nomenclature, sense of value and proportion, legal laws and moral codes, customs and calendar, history and traditions, aptitudes and ambitions in short, we have our own distinctive outlook on life and of life By all canons of international law Now I shall reply to your we are a nation various points

- Yes, the word "Pakistan" is not mentioned in the Resolution and it does not bear the original meaning. The word has now become synonymous with the Lahore Resolution
- (2) This point does not arise, but still I reply that the question is a mere bogey
- (3) This point is covered by my answer that the Mussalmans of India are a nation As to the last part of your query, it is hardly relevant to the matter of clarification of the resolution
- what the word Surely, you know " Múslims" means
- This point does not arise by way of clarification of the text of the Lahore Resolution
 - They will form units of Pakistan (6) No
- As soon as the basis and the principles embodied in the Lihore Resolution are accepted the question of demarcation will have to be taken up immediately
- In view of my reply to (7), your question (8) has been answered
 - (9) Does not relate to clarification
- I have in footing that you are carrying on these talks numerous speeches of mine and the Muslim

Letter from Gandt lii dated September 19 D ar Quald I Azam

Many thanks for yours of the 1 th instant I am sorry to lave to say that your answers omitting 1 - and 6 do not gi e satisfaction

It may be that all my questions do not arise from the view of mere clarification of the Lahore Res lution But I contend that they are v ry releva t from the standpoint of a tecker that I am 1 ou cannot expect any one to agree to or shoulder the burden of the claim contained in the Lahore Resolution without for instance answering my questions 15 (a) and 15 (b) which y u brush a ide as not ari ing by way of clarification

Dr Ambedkar theel, while it is ably written las carried no conviction to me The other book mentioned by you I am sorry to say Ilav not se n

Why can you not ccept my statement that I a pire to represent all the sections that cupo a the people I Indi ? Do you not pire? Stoud not vry Indian? That the aspi ati n may never be realised is beside the point

I am beholden to you in spite of your opinion bout me for 1 ing p tience with me I h pe vou will never lo e it but will persever 1 your eff t t conv rt me I ask you to take me, with my strong vi we and even prejudice if I m guilty of any

As to you we dict on my policy and programme we must agr to differ For I m wholly unrep nta t My purpose is as a lover of ommu al unity to place my services at your diano al

I hope you do not expect me to acc pt the Lai re Resolution with ut understanding it implications If your letter is the final word the e is little hope Can we not agr e to differ on the qu tion of two nation and yet and yet on the quantum of two nation and yet is live the problem on the basis of self determination? It is this basis that has brought me to you If the rigid holding M immajorities to you If the r gi holdig M lim majorities have to be sepa ated according to the Lahore Resolutio the grave step of separation should be pecifically placed before and approved by the people in that re

Mr Jinnah s letter of September 1 Dear Mr G ndhl

I am in rec ipt of your letter of September 19 and I h ve aire dy gi en you my answers to all your questions relating to clarification of the Lahore Resolution or any p rt of it d I am gl d that you dmit when you say it m y be that all my questions do not arise f om the view f m re cl rification of the Lahore Re of tion but you particularly emphasise y ur poi to 15 (a) d 15 (b)

I g t to yit has n r lation to the context of the Re olution o ny part thereof You h we brought o many m tt rs i t ur corres po dence which r tirely outsid the matter req iri g ci rification so I have perforce to de i with them Let me first deal with your letter of September 11

the foreign ruling power being ousted Hence not confining yourself really to matters of the first condition of the exercise of the clarification, but introducing other extraneous right of Self-determination is achieving Inde

(2) The gist of your letters up to date is that you are wedded to this policy and will pursue it In your next letter of September 14, while you were good enough to furnish me with the clarification of the Gandhi-Rajaji Formula, you were pleased to observe have, at any rate for the moment, put it out of my mind and I am now concentrating on the Lahore Resolution in the hope of finding a ground for mutual agreement." In your letter of September 15, vou sav "Independence does mean as envisaged in the AICC Resolu-tion of 1942" It is, therefore, clear that you are not prepared to revise your policy and that you adhere firmly to your policy and programme, which you have persisted in and which culminated in your demand, final policy, programme and the method and sanction for enforcing it by resorting to mass civil disobedience in terms of the August 8, 1942, Resolution, and you have made it more clear again by stating in your letter of September 10 as follows "As to your verdict on my policy and programme, we must agree to differ For, I am wholly unrepentant" You know that the August 1942 Resolution is inimical to the ideals and demands of Muslim India Then again, in the course of our discussion when I asked you for clarification of the Gandhi Rajaji Formula, you were pleased to say, by your letter of September 15 as follows "For the moment I have shunted the Rajaji Formula and with your assistance am applying my mind very seriously to the famous Lahore Resolution of the Muslim League " We discussed it in its various aspects, as you told me vou were open to be persuaded and converted to our point of view I discussed the Resolution at great length with you, and explained everything you wanted to understand, even though you have emphasized more than once that you are having these talks with me in your personal capacity, and in your letter of September 15 you assured me in the following words with regard to the Lihore Resolution "Believe me I approach vou as a seeker, though I represent nobody but myself," and that you were open to conviction and conversion You had informed me by your letter of September 11 as follows "It is true that I said an ocean separated you and me in outlook But that had no reference to the Lahore Resolution of the League The League Resolution is indefinite? I naturally, therefore, proceeded in reply to ask you by my letter of September 11 as follows "You say the Lahore Resolution is indefinite You never asked me for any clarification or explanation of the terms of the Resolution, but you really indicated your emphatic opposition to the very basis and the fundamental Dear Quaid-1 Azam, principles embodied in it I would, therefore, like to know in what way or respect the disturbed me that I thought I would postpone

(1) You say, "My life mission has been Liner Resolution is indefinite," and I sent Hindu-Muslim unity, which I want for its own you a reminder on September 13, to which sake but which is not to be ichieved without you replied by your letter of September 15, matters, with some of which I had already pendence by the joint action of an one partial and groups composing India. If such joint action 15 by my letter of September 17, and the is unfortunately impossible then too I must you with all the clarifications, informing you is unfortunately impossible then too I must you had introduced several matters which the discussed in a satisfactory manner by means of correspondence already given you all the clarifications you require so far as the Lahore Resolution goes and its text is concerned. You again raise further arguments, reasons and grounds and continue to persist in a disquisition on the amongst others, whether point, Muslims of India are a nation, and then you proceed further to say "Can we not agree to differ on the question of two nations and yet solve the problem on the basis of Self-termination?" It seems to me that you are labouring under some misconception of the real meaning of the word "self determination" Apart from the inconsistencies and contradictions of the various positions that you have adopted in the course of our correspondence, as indicated above, can you not appreciate our point of view that we claim the right of Self determination as a nation and not as a territorial unit, and that we are entitled to exercise our inherent right Whereas you are labouring under the wrong idea that "Self determination' means only that of "a territorial unit" which, by the way, is neither demarcated nor defined vet, and there is no Union or Federal Constitution of India in being, functioning as a sovereign Central Government. Ours is a case of division and carving out two independent sovereign states by wav of settlement between two major nations, Hindus and Muslims, and not of severance of secession from any existing union, which is non existent in India. The right of self determination which we claim postulates that we are a nation, and as such it would be the Self determination of the Mussalmans, and they alone are entitled to exercise that right I hope you will now understand that your question 15 (a) does not arise out of the Lahore Resolution or of any part thereof As to 15(b), again it does not arise as a matter of clarification, for it will be a matter for the constitution making body chosen by Pakistan to deal with and decide all matters as a sovereign body representing Pakistan 115-a-115 the constitution making body of Hindustan or any other party concerned There cannot be Defence and similar matters of "common concern," when it is accepted that Pakistan and Hindustan will be two separate independent sovereign states. I hope I have now given all satisfactory or placetimes over any close the matter of evplanations, over and above the matter of clarification of the Lahore Resolution in the hope of converting you as an individual "seeker

Dear Quald i Azam,

Last evening's talk has left a bad tasto in Our talks and our correspondence seem to run in parallel lines and never touch We reached the breaking point one another last evening but, thank God, we were unwilling We resumed discussion and suspended to part it in order to allow me to keep my time for the evening public prayer

In order that all possibility of making any mistake in a matter of this great importance may be removed I would like you to give me in writing what precisely on your part you would want me to put my signature to adhere to my suggestion that we may call in some outside assistance to help us at this stage

Yours sincerely, M K Gandhi

Mr Jinnah's letter of September 23 Dear Mr Gandhi.

I am in receipt of your letter of September 23 May I refer you to my letter of to day's date which I sent to you in reply to yours of September 22? I have nothing new or fresh to add, but I may say that it is not a case of your being asked to put your signature as representing anybody till you clothe yourself with representative capacity and are vested with authority We stand by, as I have already the basis and fundamental principles embodied in the Lahore Resolution of March 1940 I appeal to you once more to revise your policy and programme, as the future of this sub continent and the welfare of the peoples of India demand that you should face realities

> Yours sincerely, M A Jinnah

Gandhiji's letter dated September 24 Dear Quaid-i Azam,

I have your two letters of September 23 in reply to my letters of the 22nd and 23rd

With your assistance, I am exploring the possibilities of reaching an agreement, so that the claim embodied in the Muslim League Resolution of Lahore may be reasonably satisfied You must, therefore, have no apprehensions that the August Resolution will stand in the way of our reaching an agreement That Resolution dealt with the question of India as against Britain, and it cannot stand in the way of our settlement

I proceed on the assumption that India is not to be regarded as two or more nations, but as one family consisting of many members, of whom the Muslims living in the north-west zones, ie, Baluchistan, Sind, North west Frontier Province and that part of the Punjub where they are in absolute majority over all the other elements and m parts of Bengal and Assam, where they are in absolute majority, desire to live in separation from the rest of India

Differing from you on the general basis, I can yet recommend to the Congress and the

Gandlu's letter dated September 23 [tion contained in the Mushm League Resolution of Lahore 1910 on the basis and on the following

> The areas should be demarcated by a Com mission, approved by the Congress and the League The wishes of the inhabitants of the areas demarcated should be ascertained through the votes of the adult population of the areas or through some equivalent method

> If the vote is in favour of separation, it shall be agreed that these areas shall form a separate State as soon as possible after India is free from foreign domination and can, therefore, be constituted into two sovereign independent States

> There shall be a treaty of separation, which should also provide for the efficient and satisfactory administration of Foreign Affairs, Defence, Internal Communications, Customs, Commerce and the like, which must necessarily continue to be matters of common interest between the contracting parties

The treaty shall also contain terms for safeguarding the rights of minorities in the two states

Immediately on the acceptance of this agree ment by the Congress and the League, the two shall decide upon a common course of action for the attainment of the Independence of

The League will, however, be free to remain out of any direct action to which the Congress may resort and in which the League may not be willing to participate

If you do not agree to these terms, could you let me know in precise terms what you would have me to accept in terms of the Lahore Resolution and bind myself to recommend to the Congress? If you could kindly do this I shall be able to see, apart from the difference in approach, what definite terms I can agree to In your letter of 23rd September, you refer to "the basis and fundamental princ ples embodied in the Lahore Resolution" and ask me to accent them Surely, this is unnecessary when as I feel I have accepted the concrete consequence that should follow from such acceptance

Mr Jinnah's letter dated September 25

Dear Mr Gandhi,

I am in receipt of your letter of September 24, and I thank you for it You have already rejected the basis and fundamental principles of the Lahore Resolution

- You do not accept that the Mussalmans of India are a nation
- You do not accept that the Mussalmans have an inherent right of self-determination
- (3) You do not accept that they alone are entitled to evereise this right of theirs for Self determination
- You do not accept that Pakistan is composed of two zones, north west and northcountry the acceptance of the claim for separa | east, comprising six Provinces, namely, Sind,

You do not accept the provisions embodied in the Lahore Resolution for safeguarding the minorities and yet in your letter under reply you say With your a istance I am reply you say with your a istance 1 am exploring the possibilities of reaching an agre m at so that the claim embodied in the Muslim League Resolution of Lahore may be rea on ably satisfied and proceed to as You must therefoe have no appreh nsions that the August Resolution will stand in the way of our reaching an agreement

I have already clearly explained to you that the August Resolution so l n as it stands that the August Resolution so In as it stands is a bar for it is fundam ntally opposed to the Lahore Resolution Nou then proceed to say that Resolution dealt with the que tion of India a sgalast British and it cannot at nd in the wy of our settlement. I am not all peans to the control with British and it cannot at the control with the process of the control with the process of the control with August Resolution as I have miready at ted Mussian Lagor Further there as the recolution of Jagat Asrain L 1 p seed by the All India Congress Committ e seed by 104 All India Congress Committe in May 194 All Allahabad which in evpress terms 1794 at Allahabad which in evpress terms 1794 at Allahabad which in evpress terms 1794 at 1894 India Union or Ted ration will be highly detriment I to the best interest of the people of the different States and I ro inces and the country as a whole and the Congr s therefore

Foreign Affairs, Defence, Internal Communica sultations with the League Working Committee tions, Customs, Commerce, and the like, which thereon, and my own letter to you suggesting do not indicate what sort of authority or machinery will be set up to administer these matters, and how and to whom again that authority will be responsible According to the Lahore Resolution, as I have already explained to you, all these matters, which are the life-blood of any State, cannot be delegated to any central authority or Government The matter security of the two States and the natural and mutual obligations that may arise out of physical contiguity will be for the constitution making body of Pakistan and that of Hindustan, or other party concerned, to deal with on the footing of their being two independent States As regards the safeguarding of the rights of minorities, I have already explained that this question of safeguarding the minorities is fully stated in the Lahore Resolution

You will, therefore, see that the entire basis of your new proposal is fundamentally opposed to the Lahore Resolution, and as I have already pointed out to you both in the correspondence and in our discussions, it is very difficult for me to entertain counter-proposals and negotiate and reach any agreement or settlement with you as an individual, unless they come from you in your representative capacity That was the same difficulty with regard to the Gandhi Rajaji Formula, and I made it clear to you, at the very outset, but the Formula was discussed as you asserted that it had met the Lahore Resolution in substance, but while you were furnishing me with the clarification of this Formula, you shunted it and we confined ourselves to the Lahore Resolution, and hence the question of your representative capacity did not arise regarding this Formula But now you have, in your letter of September 24, made a new proposal of your own on your own basis, and the same difficulties present themselves to me as before, and it is difficult to deal with it any further unless it comes from you in your representative capacity

I cannot agree with you when you finally wind up by saying "In your letter of 23rd September, you refer to the basis and fun damental principles embodied in the Lahore Resolution and ask me to accept them Surely, this is unnecessary when as I feel I have accepted the concrete consequence that should follow from such acceptance" This is obviously far from correct Why not then accept the fundamentals of the Lahore Resolution and proceed to settle the details?

Yours sincerely,

MA Jinnah

Gandhiji's letter dated September 25 Dear Quaid 1-Azam, must necessarily continue to be matters of a meeting between you and me My proposal common interest between the contracting of yesterday is an earnest effort to meet the parties" If these vital matters are to be essential requirements of the Lahore Resolution parties" If these vital matters are to be essential requirements of the Lahore Resolution administered by some central authority, you I would like you, therefore, to think fifty times before throwing an offer which had been made entirely in the spirit of service in the cause of communal harmony Do not take, I pray, the responsibility of rejecting the offer Throw the responsibility of rejecting the offer it on your Council Give me an opportunity of addressing them If they feel like rejecting it, I would like you to advise the Council to put it before the open session of the League If you will accept my advice and permit me I would attend the open session and address it

You are too technical when you dismiss my proposal for arbitration or outside guidance If I have approached over points of difference you as an individual, and not in any representative capacity, it is because we believe that if I reach an agreement with you, it will be of material use in the process of securing a Congress League settlement and acceptance of it by the country Is it irrelevant or inadmissible to supplement our efforts to convince each other with outside help, guidance, advice or even arbitration?

Yours sincerely, M K Gandhi

Letter from Mr Jinnah dated September 26 Dear Mr Gandhi,

I am in receipt of your letter of September It is entirely incorrect and has no founda tion in fact, for you to say that our conversation have come about as a result of my correspon dence with Rajaji in July last over his Formula It is equally baseless to say "and your con sultations with the League Working Committee thereon" It was entirely in response to your letter of July 17, 1944, which I received while I was at Srinagar, with a fervent request on your part to meet you, and you ended that letter by saying "Do not disappoint me" In my reply, again from Srinagar, dated July 24, 1944, I intimated to you that I would be glad to receive you at my house in Bombay on my return, which would probably be about the middle of August This was long before the meeting of the Working Committee or that of the Council of the All-India Muslim League, and long before I reached Lahore, and the council was that me that and when you arrived here and told me that you were approaching me in your individual capacity. I at once made it clear to you and informed you, both in our talks and by my letter, that the position you had taken up had no precedent for it, and further that it was not possible to negotiate and reach an agreement unless both the parties were fully For, it is one sided business, represented as it will not be binding upon any organisation in any sense whatever, but you would as an individual only recommend it if any agreement is reached to the Congress and the country, whereas it would be binding upon me as the Nesterday is talk leads me to inflict this resident of the Muslim League I cannot letter on you, which I trust you will not mind our conversations have come about as a unfairness and the great disadvantage to me, result of your correspondence with Rajaji and it is so simple and elementary for any in July last o er his formula and your con lone to understand

As regards your proposal of ye terday, From ir M A Jinnah letter dated Bombay shich you have simplified in your letter of Soptember 6 1944 eptember 21 I have already sent you my Dear Mr. Graphs eply

With regard to your suggestion to be sllowed address the meetin of the Council and if asy feel like rejecting your offer the matter hould be put before the open session Let is inform you that only a member or dele ate entitled to participate in the deliberations f the meetings of the Council or in the open ession respectively Besides it is a most atraordinary and unp ecedented suggestion to take However I think you for your advice

As regards your proposal for arbitr tion and outside guidance I have already replied to you and it is not merely technical but a latter of substance I fully reciproc to your selie for securing a Congress League settlement

However I regret I have falled to convince ou and convert you as I was hopeful of doing

Dear Mr Gandbl

I have received your letter of September 3 and I note that you have written it with Rajaji s advice Of course it is for you to follow such advice as you m y choose to do but I am o ly concerned to the moment with you I note Concerned to the moment with you I note that at the last moment, you have resurrected the Gandhi Rajaji Formula sithough it was shunted all this time and you poceed to say that this Fo mula gives me virtually what is embodied in the Lahore Resolution Acu turther say that on the same plan you have tick to formulate your latest proposals a market by the proposals of the control of the proposals o of the Lahore Resolution In yo r previous letter you a serted that your Formula Lives me the essence of the Lahore Resolution I see every close family resemblance between the two and the substance of one or the other is practically the same only it is put in different lan u ge and I have already expressed my opinion that in my judgment they neither meet the substance nor the essence of the Lahore Resolution On the cont ary both are cal culated to completely torpedo the Pakistan demand of Muslim India I have never a ked you to accept c rtain theses nor la e I intro duced any theories in the Lahore Pesolution and theories are matters for scholars to indulse in

I am very sorry I have to repeat but I am comp lied to do so that I cannot agree with you that my referen es to your not being clothed with r presentati autho ity ar really ir ele vant On the cont ary they hav an import nt bearing as I have leady explained to you more than nce You again rep t that if you and I can agree upon a course of action you may use wh t it fluence you posses for its acceptance by the Congres and the country I have alre dy stated from the very beginning that that is not enough for th very beginning that that is not enough for of re-re-sons I have alred y rien Your repre-sentative capacity comes into play when You are making counter proposals and I cannot understand how y u can say that it is irrelevant, No respons ble organisation can entertain ary proposed from any individual however great he m y be unless it is backed up with the authority of a recogni ed organis tion and comes form its fully ceredited presen tative However I need not labour this point my more as I have Iready explained it in our previous correspondence

"MY OFFER STILL THERE"

Replying to a question as to his future plans and whether he proposed to concentrate on the Hindu Muslim settlement or whether he was going to carry on political work, seeding im prisonment, it necessary. Mr Gandhi said that he would act as his inner voice told him Referring to his formula and that of Mr Rajagopulachar, he expressed the view that they contained "the substance of the League demand "

He added that either formula, in his opinion, conceded as much as could be reasonably expected, having regard to the interests of the whole country. So fir as he was concerned, his offer was still there it was not made in any bargaining spirit He thought it was a just solution of the problem and was also in the spirit of the policy that the Congress had consistently adopted in connection with the communal question

Asked why he prolonged his talks with Mr Jinnah when he knew from the very start that their views widely differed, Mr Gandhi replied that he was reputed to have inexhaus reputed that he was reputed to have inexhaus tible patience and he had no reason to despair of either being converted by Mr Jinnah, or, in his turn, converting the latter to his view Therefore, so long as there was the slightest possibility of reaching an agreement, he clung to the hope that they would pull through a solution "Haste in such cases is most dan gerous Therefore you should conclude that yesterday was really the moment when the public yesterday was really the moment when the public should have been taken into confidence

One though why he did not recept the Labore resolution since he claimed that his own formula concerned the enterance thereof Mr. Gandhi replied that, although the resolution did not envisage the two nation theory, it was based upon the two nation theory. Also he had to examine the resolution in view of the inter-pretation put upon it by Mr Jinnah And as Mr Jinnah had made several speeches in clucidation and support of the resolution, he thought it was indisputable that the resolu tion, while it did not enunciate that theory, was based upon that theory. Mr Jinnah himself had incisted upon it. Therefore Mr Gandhi ured that apart from the two nations. theory, if he could accept the principle of division of India in accordance with the demand of the League, Mr Jinnah should accept it "Unfortunately it was just there that we split"

Mr Gandhi, proceeding, said that he could not despise the opinions of non League Muslims if they were intrinsically sound. An individual opinion should have greater weight than the opinion of many if that opinion was sound on That was his view of democracy

Explaining the difference between his original and present attitudes to Mr Rajagopalachari's proposal, Mr Gandhi stated that in 1942 Mr Rajagopalachari did not "burst" on the scene as he did at the Aga Khans Palace where he came with a concrete proposal His action reflected great credit on his persistence Mr Gandhi approved of the formula because it was in a concrete shape Therefore there was a sast difference between his stand today and that of 1012 He assured the journalists that he had not departed from the Congress standpoint which in general terms had accorted point which in general terms had accepted the principle of self determination. Mr Raja gopalacharl applied that principle to his formula

Explaining the points of difference between him and Mr Jinnah, Mr Gandhi said Where there is an obvious Muslim majority, they should be allowed to constitute themselves or it vill set up an autiority which will frame into a separate State. That h s been fully the constitution after the British power is conceded in the Rajaji formula. But if withdraw means the establishment of utterly independent scoreting States so that there is nothing is in the state of the state common betw en tle two I hold that it i an impossible proposition That means war to the knife It is not a proposition that leads itself to you nearly or friendly solution. When two brothers separate th y do not become enemies of each othe in the eye of the world the world still recognises them as brothers I reject the two nations theory but I do not reject the idea of partition between two members of the sme family. My point was that partition could be cont mplated today but it could take place in reality only after independence

To this M Jinnah replied It is a pity that he thinks that the presence of a third party hinders a solution and it was very painful to me when he s id a mind aslaved cannot act as if it wa fre No powe c n en lave the rai d a d soil of m. n and I am sure Mr G ndrl is the lat person to allow his mind to be enslaved I do hope ti t he will get over this depres ion f om which h is perpetually suffering We have to reach an agreement of our own and find a solution in spite of that third party commerce and the like all remain vested in and continue to be administered by a Central authority or Government. This is what Mr Gandhi calls a partition or division between two brothers, and it is really amazing that he should repeat 'ad nauseam' that he has by his offer satisfied the essence or substance of the Lahore Resolution.

It would be difficult to conceive of a more disingenuous, tortuous and crooked assertion, which he keeps on repeating naively. What is the use of misleading people and making confusion worse confounded? If we accept these terms which present us with a veritable trap and a slough of death it means the burial of Pakistan. But I see some ray of hope still, when he save if Rajaji and I have stultified the Lahore Resolution, we should be educated. I tried to do so is far as Mr Gandhi was concerned, for 3 weeks, but his ailment is so long standing and so chronic that it is beyond the reach of a physician I hope that his appeal to the Press and the Public to educate him will not fall on deaf ears.

"In one breath Mr Gandlu agrees to the principle of division, and in the next he makes proposals which go to destroy the very foundations on which the division is claimed by Muslim India On the one hand he wants a League Congress agreement, and on the other he denies its representative character and authority to speak on behalf of the Musal mans of India

BOUNDARY OF PAKISTAN STATE

Mr Jinnah elucidated a number of questions put by pressmen regarding the boundary of the Pakistan State -He was asked if any machinery will be set up to decide the case of predominantly non Muslim border areas of their intention to join Pakistan or Hindustan

Mr Jinnah referred the questioner to the Lahore Resolution which stated that the division should be on the basis of the present boundaries of the six provinces, namely, N W F P, Punjib, Sind, Bengal, Assam and Baluchistan subject to territorial adjustments that might be necessary. He emphasised the words 'subject to' and explained that territorial adjustments did not apply to one side only but on both sides, Hindusthan and Pakistan "I made it clear" Mr Jinnah said "thit if we agree on the fundamentals of the Lahore Resolution then the question of demarcating or defining the boundaries can be taken up later in the same way as a question of boundaries arising between two nations and solved. It will be like one Government negotiating with the other and arrive at a settlement"

The Muslim League President was asked whether he had any scheme for the constitution of Pakistan Mr Jinnah said that the principle of Pakistan should be first accepted and the scheme would be formulated thereafter

Further explaining the point Mr Jinnah said that it was true there was no 'de jure' Governments. If the principle of division was accepted then it followed that both Hindusthan and Pikistan would have to choose their own constitution making bodies. Those bodies as representing two sovereign states would deal with questions of mutual and natural relations, and obligations by virtue of the physical contiguity and they would then, as two independent sovereign states—two nations—would come to an agreement on various matters "Agreements and treaties are entered into even between two countries that have no physical continguity Here the two nations are neighbours and have physical contiguity"

Parliamentary reverses—In the winter of 1911 45 and the spring of 1915 the parliamen tary wing of the Muslim I eague encountered heavy se is Close on the heels of the reverses which the I cague suffered in the Punjab came internal troubles in Sind There was a series of clashes between the League Minister of Sind and the President of the Provincial Congress Committee of that Province That was followed by a crisis which overtook the Prontier Ministry which was defeated by the Congress Opposition In consequence the litter took up the reins of Shortly thereafter, the Bengal government League Ministry was overwhelmed by a wave of opposition which led to its exit and the assumption of power by the Governor under Section 93 of the Government of India Act The Lengue Ministry in Assam too, which was more or less dependent on the support of the Congress and one or two other groups, was threatened with defeat

Desai-Lingat talks—Things drifted for the next few months until the publication of press reports relating to certain secret negotiations between Mr Bhulabhri Desai leader of the Congress in the Central Assembly, and Nawabzada Liaquat Ali Khan, Deputy leader of the Muslim League Party in the Central Assembly

Pending the publication of authoritative information on the subject (see chapter on the Indian National Congress), both Mr Jinnah and Nawabzada denied the existence of any understanding between the Congress leader and the League

Palastan Economics—Shortly after the publication of the Sapru Conciliation Committee's report it was revealed that two well known Bombay financial experts, namely, Sir Homi Mody and Dr John Matthai, had submitted a memorandum to the Committee on the economic and financial aspects of Pakistan from which they drew the conclusion that, given certain conditions, "Pakistan is an economic and financial possibility" They said that, judged solely by the test of ability (a) to maintain existing standards of living and (b) to meet budgetary requirements on a pre-war basis, but excluding provision for defence, Pakistan would appear to be workable on economic grounds. They were, however of the opinion that if provision was to be made (a) for future economic development on a scale sufficient to raise the general standard of living to a reasonable level and (b) for measures of defence which might be considered adequate under modern conditions, any scheme of political separation which might be contemplated should as a necessary pre requisite provide for means of effective and continuous co operation between the separate States in matters affecting the safety of the country and of its economic stability and development. If such co operation did not exist the position of both Hindusthan and Pakistan might be seriously jeopardised.

In exami ing the eco omic position of Pakistan tile aignatories proceed in tile assumption that the two zones which it com ori es regarded as independent btates or as units of a single State will be form d either on the basis of existing provi cial boundaries or on the basis of configuous di trict. The inquiry was handicapped seriou ly by the absence of stati-tical information on many vital details but the broad conclu lo s reached by the two sig atories are —

(a) On the pre war to is of provi cial and Central expenditure (excluding defer ce) the two zones of I kistan appear to be workable from a purely budgetary pol t of view as separate a vereign St les wi ether formed provi ce mi e

they are district-wi e

(b) On the pr war ba I of food production industri I employment an I tr de the stand rd of living in Paki tan formed the stand of of stying in leaf can believe province wise compares f \(\) urally with the rest of India \(\) The polition of laki t n co stituted on a district basis is perhaps equally favourable in re-pect of food production but in other respects it seems to be less fayourable

(c) The possibilities of further economic de elopment in Pakistan formed o either basis will depend on the provision of facilities for free mo ement of trade with in India as a whole and for close co-operation in economic matters between Pakistan and the rest of India

(d) Similarly th ability of P kistan to shoulder the responsibility of defenc on an adequate cale being I reely a matter of developing its econ mic and fl ancial resources to a suitable exte t will also depend on the d gree to which co-operation between Pakistan and the rest of India can be effectively organised

From the point of view of def nee and economic dev lopme t with which d fence is closely bound up under modern conditions it is therefo inevitable if the division of India into sepa ate States is found necessa y for political r asons that Pakistan and the rest of India should continue to act in close co peratio in these esse tial matters What method of co operation will in the long run be found feasible will necessarily depend on politic 1 co sideratio s But it is clear at tea the m m randum ti unless some effective nd continuous form of co-ope tion in matters rel ting to del co to-ope uon in manuers ru ung to un; to and econ mic development is accepted as an indispensabl pre-requisite to any scheme of a par tio a d as an og nic part of it the di islon t Indi into separat sovereignties would sp ll stagnation and probabl disaster

S ml C fr ca.—The next phase of duslim acti ity in connection with the wavell 1 poposals in the Simla Co ference This togethe with the p rt played by the Mulim Le gue nd its le der are exh ustively dealt with in the ch pier on The Indian atio al Congress

After the b caldown of the Simla Conference the Working Committee of the Muslim League passed a resol ti n emphasi ing the urg nt eed for fresh lection to the Central and Pro i cial i gi latures The Le gue Committee Pro I ciall gliatures The Le gue Committee invited the att. tion of the Gov rument to the resolution u a imously adopted at the a nual ession of the 411 India Muellm League held in Ir as bl in December 1943 dema ding f esh el ction to the Central and provi cial legis latures on the ground that these legislatures are the ground that these legislatures. we e getting out of touch with public opinion and could no longer be s id to be r presentative of the tr e n ed and se tim nts of the people The committee stressed the urg nt necessity of givi g effect to th terms of that resolution The Working C mmitt e was convinced that fresh el ctions to the cent al and provi cial legi latures should no lo ger be delayed because important questions a vaited solution which co ld only be properly dealt with by represen tati es i tou i with public opinion and the time ts of the people

The Muslim L ague and its le der then carried on a smp ign dema ding e rly general elections throughout the county In August 1945 the Go ernm at a nounced that general elections would be held in the winter of 1915 46 and and Sir Ratinddin Ahmad followed suit the spring of 1940 Some Provincial legislatures were also dissolved

League Landslides -With the approach of elections there were quite a new interesting Indesides in favour of the Muslim Jeague Mr Abdul Quarrum Khan, deputy Leader of the Congress Party in the Central Assembly, wrote to Mr Jinnah "I have decided to join the Muslim League I believe that the stand taken by you is ab-olutely correct and that any Mushim who opposes you is betraying the cause of Islam in India' W Mr Quaryum, Mr Jinnah wired back Welcoming " There is no room or place for any honest Muslim in the Congress He cannot support it at in the Congress He cannot support it at any rate after the Simla Confrence I hope others will follow your example and join our national organisation "

A few days later, the Muslim president of Punjab Provincial Congress Committee and the Muslim president of the Kerala Provincial Congress Committee resigned their in the Congress organisation on the ground that they wished to be free to propagate the need for a Congress I eague settlement which, they said, they could not do holding the office

About the same time, Sir Firoze Khan Noon announced that he was resigning his sent on Governor General's Executive to be able to take an active part in the League's election campaign At the time of writing it is not clear whether he would enter Punjab politics or contest a sent in the Central Assembly

Other Muslim Organisations

Organisations of Muslims other than the League suffered a progressive decline in status and influence since the League ascendency to power following the withdrawal of Congress Ministries in 1939 When the Congress was outlawed in August 1942 and its leaders put in prison, the non-League Muslims tried to get together to counteract the influence and claims of the Mushm League It was a slow process, and not very successful, because the League not only main tained its hold on the bulk of the Muslim community but also steadily increased its influence among them At any rate, officialdom seemed disinclined to recognise the claim to representative character of non-League Muslim organisa tions The activities of the latter were further stimulated at the time of the Simla Conference in the summer of 1945 when they felt the call to repudiate the claims of Mr Jinnah exclusively to represent the Muslim community Their latest attempt was to create a common platform for those Muslims who did not see eye to eye with the Muslim League This is in process of evolution at the time of writing

A feature of Muslim activities in 1941-42, especially during the last four or five months, was the emergence, rather the reappearance, of a number of Muslim organisations which claimed that each of them commanded considerable influence among large sections of the community and thereby appeared to militate against the prestige and authority of the Muslim League Reference has already been made to the dissent expressed by the Premiers of the Punjab and Bengal to the orthodox policy of the League Other leaders like the Nawab Bahadur of MurshiMomins, the Shiahs, the Azad Muslims all expressed as parate view points

The All India Azad Muslim Board in March, 12, resolved "To avert the fate of those 1912, resolved who have succumbed to aggression, it is imperative that no effort should be spared to knit all the people of India into a united endeavour The country's will should be galvanised and its Immenso potential effectively developed for the task of defending the country and thereby establishing its freedom in a world free of aggression. The Board is convinced that there is a general unanimity in India that the country must forthwith cease to be a Dependency if this end is to be achieved and that it should have the freedom enjoyed by the other free countries of the world, including England and the Dominions, representing nine constituent Muslim organisations and speaking for the bulk of the Indian Muslims, this Board fully supports this demand

Further, it feels constrained to conclude that the specious plea of the Secretary of State for India, and the British Government that the Muslim League is the authoritative spokes man of the Indian Muslims, and that its attitude and demands constitute an insuperable obstacle in the way of India's freedom is an indefensible subterfuge to mask the disinclination of the British Government to part with power The terious gravity of the situation occasioned by the menace of an errly invasion most impera-tively demands that the British Government should immediately recognise India's freedom and transfer real power to enable the representatives of the people to assume complete re sponsibility for the defence of the country as a whole in full and mutual collaboration with the other free countries

The Committee of the All-India Momin Conference adopted a resolution on the Cripps proposals, expressing the view that "the solidarity, integrity and unity of India is vitally essential for the common good of the Indian people and especially in the best interests of the Muslims of India. The resolution proceeded "The Committee cannot, however lose sight of the fact that a section of the Muslims is against the introduction of a single unitary system of Government in this country appre hending such a system to be detrimental to the interests of the Muslims residing in the But the Committee, Muslim majority provinces being conscious of the fact that the fear and apprehensions of such Muslims are the outcome of the mutual distrust and suspicion of the communities inhabiting this country, has full belief that such communal dissensions and animosities as exist at present will completely disappear with the establishments of full selfrule in India

"The Committee holds that the proposal relating to the option given to the provinces to keep out of the proposed Indian Union has been ingeniously devised inasmuch as, its practical effect would inevitably be to create several 'Ulsters' within India

"The Committee opines that the constitution making body, as envisged by the proposals, would reflect the opinio of only ten per cent of the inhabitants of India and can, therefore, dabad, Maulai Obeidullah Sindhi, M Y Shareef, hardly be called a democratic body

Congress in prison denied to the non-Lengue aggression by I recist Powers Muslims a fallying point from which they could Thus neither the Azad snipe at the League Muslim organisation nor the Momin conference displayed any appreciable activity during the past 12 months It must also be conceded that what with the undiminished influence of Mr Jinnah and the successful functioning of five provincial Ministries owing more or less alle giance to the Muslim League and its President the League secured an ever increasing accession of strength in numbers and in influence

At the same time it must not be assumed that the League had an altogether free run of authority over the entire Muslim population of the A section of the community appeared to grow tired of a purposeless leadership which could produce no results and which would not combine with other elements in the population frue, these orgato bring about such results nisations were of the mushroom type, but they provided evidence that not all Muslims in the country saw eve to eye with Mr Jinnah Other shaws in the wind were the resignation of prominent Muslims from the League

Another direction from which criticism came was the organisation of the Khaksars whose leader used strong language against Mr Jinnah and the official policy of the League Khaksars being a compact and disciplined group with growing numbers and influence the Muslim League, which was anxious to exercise its undis puted authority over all sections of the com-munity, discussed the Khaksar question at length at a meeting of the Council of the League The procee in Delhi during the winter of 1913 dings of the Council emphasised the dominent note of current League politics, namely, that the League is the only organisation competent to speak for Indian Muslims. This is the significance of a resolution passed by the Council prohibiting Leaguers from membership of the Khaksar organisation The fact that this question monopolised an entire day's debate proves the annety with which the League leadership regarded, and continues to regard, any rivalry to the authority and influence of the League among Indian Muslims

Undaunted by this snub, the Khaksar leader persisted in his critical attitude of Mr Jinnah and the League and in March 1944 titled a lance at Mr Jinnah's citadel, but with little effect

As a result of discussions held at Delhi in April 1944 it was decided to summon a meeting of prominent Nationalist Muslims from all over India in Delhi in May to consider the situation in the country and decide upon a proper lead to be given to Muslims in the present circum stances

The conference met in Delhi in May 1944 and assed two resolutions. The first declared that all Indians, irrespective of creed or com munity, all patriotic organisations without exception were deeply interested in the defence of India They were inspired with a real patri otic urge and a true spirit of sacrifice which could be translated into action most effectively under a National Government for the protection of the country against foreign unasion and not meterialised at the time of writing

The formation of a National Government was no longer a political issue but had become a first rate military question in view of the exigencies of the war The second resolution set forth certain "funda mental considerations for a communal settlement which will satisfy the needs and aspirations of Indian Muslims , namely, that India should continue to remain a united country, the constitution of India should be framed by its own people, there should be an all India federa tion the units of the federation should be completely autonomous, and all residuary powers should be vested in them, every unit of the federation should be free to secede from it as the result of a plebiselte of all its adult inhabitants, and the religious, economic and cultural rights of minorities should be fully and effectively enfoguarded by reciprocal agreement

Another resolution dealt with the formation of all Nationalist Muslims into a joint organisa tion called the All India Muslim Majlis added that this organisation should guide and lead the Muslims unitedly for the achievement of complete national independence and other objectives, and should also strive to bring about a Hindu Muslim settlement in their own interest and in that of the country as a whole

Mr A M Khwaja, president of the Maili outlining the circumstances of the formation of this new organisation said that some o Mr Jinnah's friends tried to persuade then not to do so but to join the Lengue and capture it from within But they could not answe the objection that, the League having changed its creed from full independence to Pakistan which they refused to define, no honest mar could sign the creed and gain admission to throw Mr Jinnah out of power Mr Khwaji added that the Nationalist Muslims had no quarrel with personalities

Another section of Muslims which came forward openly to criticise the League was the Ahrars The Working Committee of this organisation in June 1944, replying to Mr Jinnah's overtures, said "The attitude of Mr Jinnah in regard to his demand for Pakistan will not lead him towards that ideal Muslims and most of the Muslims are fed up with the vision of Pakistan presented by him Mr Jinnah has never asked the Majlis i Ahrar for co operation in any matter, but, on the contrary, he is desirous of its obliteration by asking it to merge itself in the Muslim League. The Majhs-1 Ahrar would have been prepared even to lose its identity had the Muslim Lengue and Mr Jinnah given any evidence of self sacrifice and suffering"

The Shias and the Momins also came to the fore during this period and registered their claims to influential leadership of the Muslim community

After the failure of the Simla Conference, especially after the announcement that elections would shortly be held, there was a move on the part of the various Nationalist Muslim organisations to come together and form them selves into a powerful opposition to the League in order to fight the elections This move had in order to fight the elections

Government of India Act, 1935

The seeds of the Government of India Act which was placed on the Statute Book in 1935 were sown a far back as in the antumn of 1930 when the Indian Round Table Conference met in London for the first time Three se sions of the conference were held and it concluded on December 24 193 Some months later the Briti h Government publish ed their proposals for the reform of the Indian constit ti n based on the largest measure of agreement rea hed at the three sessions of the Round Table Con f rence Thes propos I were embodied in a White Paper (March 1933) which was referred to a Committee of the two Houses of Paril Bent The Committee submitted its report in October Based on the recommendations of this Committee the Gove ament of India Bill was presented to P rliament i J nuary 1935 The Bill has since become law with a few changes in its pas age through Parliament

Fed rat n-The Act proposed to set up a rederation with limited responsibility at the Centre and provide for auton my to the eleven province composing British India

Form lly inaugurated in April 1937 the provincial part of the new constitution fu ctioned for about two and a half years with a fair amount of smoothness but at the nd of that period it broked wn in seven out of the eleven pro I ces by the refusal of the p ty in power to carry on the work of Government There upon the Governors of the p vinces ass m d sole charge of the Administration aided by Advisers responsible to him The con titution remained virtually suspended in the e provinces subseq entity however suc es i l efforts we made to form stable mi i trie in A m and Ori sa Thus today provincial utonomy is in force in five out of ele en pro inc s

General should have the power of making anpointments to, and removal from, any office in India which under the original Act is exercisable The amendment also aut orby His Majesty ises the Governor-General to enact by notifica tions in the Gazette of India provisions which could be made by Orders in Council There were similar changes made solely with the object of obviating the delay which might occur in con sequence of the war in securing prior approval of the authorities in England

In the summer of 1944 His Majesty's Government initiated some more changes in the Government of India Act of 1985. The amending bill sought, however, to make only certain minor technical adjustments in such matters as rotation of retirement of judges of High Courts and transfer of judges from one High Court to another—It permitted the Secretary of State for India to have a smaller number of Advances than that land down in the original of Advisers than that laid down in the original Act A further provision enabled the Vicerov and the Commander in Chief to go to England on leave more frequently than once in five years as provided for in the existing Act Another clause dealt with the periodical renewal of the Upper House (in provinces which have a second chamber) which are permanent bodies renewable by one third every three years. As the suspension of elections in Section 93 provinces would put the periodical renewal of the upper chambers out of gear, the amending clause treated the provisions of Section 93 as non existent in this behalf, so that the one-third renewal in the Upper House could take place in proper sequence This was done by extending the period of office of members of Legislative Councils in Section 93 provinces by the period for which Section 93 proclamations are in force plus on additional period up to 12 months to enable elections to be held at a suitable time in the year

Statement -In order to Attachment of validate a scheme of attrching the smaller Indian States to bigger States, to ensure better administrative facilities, Parliament in the spring of 1944 enacted a measure which marks a departure from some of the provision of the Government of India Act of 1935 For an understanding of the implications of thi measure see chapter on "Chamber of Princes" The measure was called the India (Attachment of States) Act of 1944 Here is its text

Provided that His Majesty Representative for the exercise of the function of the Crown in its relations with Indian State may give such directions, if any, as he thind proper for rendering valid or lawful anythin done or omitted before the passing of this Ac which would be invalid or unlawful by virtu of the provisions of this sub section
- The Act may be cited as the India (Attack ment of States) Act, 1944

Federal Part —The Federation which the Act, as it stands, provides differs from those in other parts of the world because its units are not homogeneous. The Indian States differ widely from the British India Provinces These complications react upon the constitution As Sir Samuel Hoare said in the House of Commons "they react, for instance, upon the provisions as to how the federation is to be formed, for it is obvious that the Princes, being voluntary agents, can only enter of their own volition They react again upon the kind of executive and the kind of legislature that is proposed, each side of the federation obviously demanding adequate representation both in the government and in the federal They react again upon the relations legislature between the two Federal Chambers, the Princes from the first attaching the greatest possible importance to the Chambers having equal powers. They react, further, upon the list of federal subjects, the Prince again rightly insisting that, apart from the functions of Government which they surrender to the Federation, there should be no interference in their internal sovereignty These complications make a formidable_list of difficulties ''

Federal Executive — The Act sets up a Federal Executive similar to the responsible executives in other federations of the Empire The whole executive power of the Federation is conferred on the Governor General, and his Ministers are appointed to "aid and advise" him and hold office during his pleasure. The Ministry shall consist of persons in whom the Legislature has confidence and the Governor-General shall dismiss them when they lose that confidence

The Act abolishes the Council of the Secretary of State for India and makes him a Minister of the Crown individually responsible for the evercise of all authority vested in the Crown in relation to the affairs of India He will however, continue to be a member of the Cabinet and of Parliament, to which bodies he will be responsible for his actions

Provincial Constitutions -As far as province all part of the Act is concerned, there ar eleven Governors' provinces, namely, Madras Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces, the Punjab, Bihar, the Central Provinces and Berar, Assam, the N W F Province, Orissa and Sind, with power to the Crown by Order-in Council to create, if deemed necessary, a new Province, increase or diminish the area of any Province or alter the bound ries of any Province The Provincial Executive is similar to that of the Federation in form

In addition to the Governors' Provinces there the following Chief Commissioners following are Provinces British Baluchistan, Delhi, A)mcr-Merwara, Coorg (the Andaman and Nicobar Islands which are now under Janinese occu pation) the area known as Panth Piplida and such other Chief Commissioners' Provinces as may be created under the Act which will be administered by the Governor General acting through a Chief Commissioner to be appointed by him

The Provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces, Bihar and Assanı have two Chambers, Upper and Lower, namely, the Legislative Council and the Legislative Assembly, while the others have only one Chamber, the Legislative Assembly Representation in the Legislative Assembly is by separate electorates for each community based on the provisions of the Communal Award as modified by the Poona Pact of September 2b, 1932, under which a number of seats out of the seats classified as general seats are reserved to the Depressed Classes The life of the Provincial Legislatures is the same as that of the Federal

In provinces with bi-cameral legislitures the Upper House will see that the Lower House does not indulge in hasty and ill-conceived legislation due to the temporary majority of any party But the deliberations of the Upper House will also be subject to examination by the

While there are no nominated members and no officials in the Assembly-all members of the Lower House are elected—the Governor has the right to fill some seats in the Provincial Council wherever one exists (See tables at the end of this Chapter for the composition of the Provincial Councils and Provincial Assemblies)

Franchise — The constitution sets out qualifications of electors There are certain provisions of a general nature applicable to all Provinces while particular Provinces are dealt | Legislatures under the new constitution - with separately In some cases the payment of local taxes and in other cases the payment of land revenue is the main qualification. The new constitution has extended the existing franchise so as to enfranchise about 10 per cent of the total population of British India The Acts of 1915 and 1919 provided to: an electorate of approximately 3 per cent of the total population, the franchise based mainly on a property qualification Under the reformed constitution women have a much wider franchise, over 6,000,000 women voters as compared with 315,000 provided by the acts of 1915 and 1919 The Act of 1935 secures representation for women, for the Depressed Classes, for industrial labour and for special interests and for the bulk of the small landholders, small cultivators, urban ratepayers as well as a substantial section of the poorer classes

Powers of Provincial Governments -Under the old constitution the Provinces had no original or independent powers The local Governments were under the superintendence, direction and control of the Governor General in Council and the Secretary of State for India The first step which the new constitution took was to create provinces with independence of their own and to assign to them a certain exclusive share of the activities of Government.
All subjects have been transferred to the control of the legislature The subjects which are classified as provincial are as indicated above, exclusively dealt with by the Provincial Government which have power to make laws for peace and good government There laws for peace and good government There are no more "reserved" subjects All subjects are "transferred" The administra subjects _All tion of all these subjects have passed from the bureaucracy to the control of Ministers responsi ble to the legislature Such subjects include public order, courts, police, prisons, education, health and sanitation, public works, agriculture, forests, land revenue, excise, tolls, unemployment and certain classes of taxation

Generally the Ministers are entrusted with the administrat on of their own departments Under the old constitution they were merely advisers of the Governor Under the new Constitution they are effective executives Only in those spheres where the Governor retains a special responsibility does he have the right to act independently of the Ministers should But normally such he differ from their views occasions are not frequent

Both the Upper and Lower Houses have power to initiate legislation except that Money Bills can be initiated in the Lower House only Should there be a difference of opinion between the two Houses with regard to a Bill the Governor has power to convene a joint session of the two Houses Any Bill affirmed by the majority in the joint session shall be taken to have been duly passed

Governors' Powers -Under the new Con stitution the Governor has almost the same special responsibilities as the Governor General except the one relating to financial stability and credit. The Governor has, notwithstanding the advice of his Ministers, power to take whatever action he thinks necessary for the due discharge of his representation. of his responsibility for preserving the peace and tranquility of the Provinces

The Indian Legislature.

The Congress League Coalition was the most Important event of the very in the Central The coulition was born of the Legislature common dislike of the preent Government Looking back at the two sections, one inescapable reaction is their sense of unreality and futility

The Government, for instance, had four major bills on the order paper for the Budget Session One of these the Livance Bill was thrown out and had to be certified. I woothers the Income tax let Imendment Bill and the Insurance Act Amendment Bill were not proceeded with and the fourth one, the I state Duty Bill was not even introduced

The Banking Bill was another important measure carried over from the last session The Assembly took four days after which it agreed to refer it to a Select Committee. The frend of the debate on this Bill if implemented by the Sclect Committee, might make it unacceptable to the Government

From the spectacular viewpoint, the Sessions were a great success. Galleries were often over crowded when leaders thundered on political issues The Opposition lost only two division throughout the Session, all others numbering 22 having been carried against Government, sometimes with a thumping majority lor the first time, communal issues were relegated to the background

Post war Planning, Commercial Safeguards, Poreign Propaganda, the South African deadlock, cloth scarcity, Rail road co ordination, maladministration and corruption were the high spots round which discussions turned during the Sessions Politics dominated and often determined the course of action as far as the Opposition was concerned

Fourteen Acts were passed during the financial year

Besides the annual Finance Act, which had to be certified, no important traction measures were presed

The Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1945 enables an employee to withdraw money from his provident fund

The Indian Tea Control (Amendment) Act, 1945 removed certain difficulties that had arisen in the working of the original act

The Mines Maternity Benefit (Amendment) Act, 1945 prohibits the employment of women below ground in mines when in an advanced stage of pregnancy and to grant maternity benefit to those women workers who are so

Of the other Acts the more important are the following

The Public Debt (Central Government) Act,

The Coffee Market Expansion (Second Amendment) Act, 1944 The Indian Merchandise Marks (Amendment)

The progressive total of public loans since the beginning of the war has, to the end of January

1945, reached the impressive figure of Rs 833

I forts to stimulate small savings have met with good response from the public, thanks to the active co operation of the Provincial Govern ments and non-official organisations result are reflected in the much better showing of the net deports in the Post Office Savings Bank Accounts and in the 12 year National Sa Inc. Certificates - Net Investments in these and other forms of small savings confinue at the enti-factors rate of nearly Its 3 crores a month

The floating debt, which was Its 111 crores at the end of 1943-44, stood at Ra 93 crores on January 31st, 1945 "The Government's ways and me ins position from the strictly budgetary point of view', observed the I inance Member "must be regarded as very comfortable" But he cautioned at the same time, that "the problem of the inflationary gap is still with up and, judging from recent indications, may call for increased vicilance and control" Until the war in the I ast ended, he said that "we cannot afford to release and the said that "we cannot afford to relax our effort ments of the situation will impose the continu ance and possibly even the final intensification of India's war effort "

Referring to the anticipated deficit of Re 163 89 erores in 1945 16, the I inance Member said that on the assumption that the whole of the cap was to be filled by borrowing, the pat tern and proportion of our war-time budget would seem to challenge comparison with that of any other belligerent country He said that we have to keep in view a larger and more com prehensive target if we are to minimise no merely the budgetary deficit but the gap betwee rupee outgoings and rupee incomings On careful survey, he came to the conclusion the no really significant improvement could I effected by any practicable major change in the sphere of Central taxation, the scope for further improvement therein being in the direction of greater effort to combat evasion and in the enforcement of existing the obligations, for which he hoped to have public support

In the sphere of direct taxation, he announce ed continuance of the excess profits tax at the present rate, together with the scheme of compulsory deposits, for a further year, up to 31s March, 1946 As regards income tax, he said As regards income tax, he said that considerable thought had been given to problems connected with financing of the re equipment of industry likely to arise shortly The scheme of war-time taxation was through out so devised as not to deplete, but on the contrary to strengthen, the reserves at the dis posal of industry to meet calls during post war period, nevertheless Government was conscious that the restoration and expansion of the muchinery of production would call for some new form of assistance The Finance Member felt justified in adapting to Indian conditions relief similar to that announced in the United Kingdom. This will take the form of the grant of special initial depreciation allowances in respect of new buildings erected and new plant and machinery installed after 31st March, 1945 These allowances will be in addition to the usual depreciation allowance and will not be deduc tible in arriving at the written down value They will not be given for EPT purposes He said that he had in mind 20% allowance on plant and machinery and 10% on buildings for post-war development ilnuncial and currency by tem of the country is overstrained in the maintenance of the war effort or in securing the early stages of transi tion from war to peace, heavy new expenditure on national development schemes would be dangerous in the extreme. In other words post-war development must me in and continue to me in post war development and by no magle or optimism can it be made to mean wir time development. In his opinion "the first one or two vers at least after actual lighting ends will inevitably be for the Centre years of he was deficits on revenue account. It will be during this period that the Provincial Governments will find of particular value the post-war Reconstruction Funds which they had the foresight and determination to build up while the war was still in progress. While these large-scale development projects could not be initiated so long as war conditions continued, the I innuc. Member made it clear that "the Government have as her station in order large as we have the station in order large as we have an early large. have no hesitation in embarking at once on such preparators work as it found to be po sible and desirable or in taking any action calculated to secure early results of anti-inflationary value"

On the question of the possible fiscal resources available for financing post-war development schemes, the Finance Member relterated his conviction that "the first pre requisite of re construction finance is a sound financial position, both at the Centre and in the Provinces, secured by the fullest development of their respective taxation resources. He, therefore, considered it essential that 'not only the Centre but also the Provinces should lose no time in developing to the full their financial resources While stating that it is the hope and intention of the Government of India that "in due course a substantial distribution of Central revenues will take place, he emphasised, at the same time, that "the Provinces, in addition, need in the course of the co all that they themselves can raise if the financial foundations of future development are to be sufficiently broad-based to carry the contemplated load. It is in this context, he said, that the Estate Duty Bill, which he hoped to intro duce later in the Session, must be viewed this measure, together with the recent expansion of commodity talation, should be regarded as the first concrete step towards the building up a planned and expanding financial system for the future" He also stressed the need for the cultivation of a national habit of saving which "with the denial of current consumption which it involves, will be as necessary for develop-ment purposes after the war as it is for holding inflationary tendencies in check during the war "

Tax revenue depends, in the last resort, stated the Finance Member, on the rate of taxation and the national income "The national and the national income income, in its turn, is determined by the level of prices and the scale of economic activity. He gave expression to the following views, in this connection, on the question whether it was necessary to maintain in the post-war period the high price level that has been reached during the war period "I believe this to be a mis taken view When the productive power of the nation is turned from manufacturing for war to manufacturing for civilian use, there will be a large surplus of goods available and this add-

So long as the ittional supply must result, in my judgment, i lower prices for those goods. But it simultaneou I the total volume of activity deployed dum the war can be maintained and increased, th total national income can be maintained, an even increased in spite of a fall in unit price It is the maintenance of the aggregate nation: income in terms of money and not the stabili a tion of prices of individual commodities tha should be the objective in the years after th Bar '

Discursing the possible sources of taxation is the post-war period the Linance Member con sidered it desirable that the var time expedier of LPT "should sanish with the emergency that brought f into being. Its repeal how ever, he said should not represent a proportion ite loss of revenue "for L PT is allowable as a deduction in computing profits asser-able to income tax and super-tix so that with its repeal, profits assertable to income tax would be correspondingly increased. Asserthe less, he was of the opinion, "whatever may be the extent and duration of the pot was boom, during which industry will be engaged in repairing the ravages of the war and whatever min be the scale of the profits that are expected to accrue from the plans for the post-war expan sion of the industry, taxes on non-agricultural income can hardly be expected to continue to play the overwhelming part in the scheme of national finance that they now do"

The I mance Member indicated the following possible sources of post-war favation

The projected Pstate Duty on other than agricultural property Th property. This is cap able of restoring, in due course, the position as regards the aggregate contribution made by the industrial, commercial and professional classes of the community as such

An agricultural income tax would also go

some way to achieve that end
In the immediate post war years, customs receipts may soar to unprecedented heights due to importation of capital goods and urgently needed consumer goods of all kinds They may decline thereafter, but are likely to remain buoyant for a number of years 'With the bliogant for a number of years growing industrialisation of the country, how ever, this source of revenue can hardly be expanded and may, indeed, appreciably contract, particularly if the customs tariff should be given a more positively protective complexion Moreover, there are decided objections to burden ing capital goods and raw materials with too high rates of duty. As an instrument of commodity taxation, reliance, will, therefore, in creasingly have to be placed on Central excises.

Another possible major development in the field of indirect taxation lies in the expansion of the sales or turnover tax "It is possible that with the aid of the Central Government, a comprehensive system might be devised and administered on a national basis, the net pro ceeds accruing to the Governments of the participating units"

On the question of the relative advantage of State ownership or operation of industry and of private enterprise, the Finance Member said 'I feel that perhaps insufficient attention has hitherto been paid to the question whether it would not be advisable to extend State ownership of industries as a source of additional revenue. It may well be that in the future the Viste may find it necessary to nath n its certain i du tries—especially these with lar it in for problems of this character. The total appropriation to the Railway Reserve, 1939 40 and 13 crores in 1943 44. It is esti1945-46 including 2 crores for arrears of main in mated to be 171 crores in 1944-45 and 181 in nance, will be 4 51 crores, but there will be a 1945-46. The expenditure on staff was 35 crores in 1945-46 including 2 crores for arrears of main tenance, will be 4 51 crores, but there will be a withdrawal of 5 80 crores to cover the arrears of depreciation on rolling stock treated as re-placed during the year so that the net result of the year's transactions will be a reduction of the balance in the railway reserves by 1 29 crores, from 30 39 to 29 10 crores

The appropriation to the Depreciation Fund will be 17 12 crores which is 11 lakhs more than in 1944-45, but there will be a withdrawal of 221 crores and the balance at the end of the year will be reduced to 92 71 crores

Owing to the uncertainties of the present situation, the difficulties experienced in the previous years in making a correct forecast of the receipts, were accentuated Notwithstanding the "travel less" campaign, the upsurge of passenger traffic continues Some 10,000,000 passengers more were carried monthly in 1944 than in 1943, and 25,000,000 more than in 1942 Various devices were adopted to meet this additional demand Firstly, additional locomotives and wagons were received last year and more are expected during 1945-46 The total more are expected during 1945-46 The total stock ordered for use in India since 1942 has been 937 broad gauge engines, 415 meter gauge engines, 46,784 broad gauge wagons, 12,481 meter gauge wagons, of which 17,934 broad gauge and 661 meter gauge wagons have been ordered in India Of these 225 broad gauge engines, 334 meter gauge engines, 4,029 broad gauge wagons, 8,790 meter gauge wagons were in service by the middle of Topury 1045. In in service by the middle of January 1945 In addition to these, meter gauge engines and wagons sent overseas from the Indian railways in the earlier part of the year have been returned in considerable number. It is expected that the whole of the orders from overseas will be in service by the early part of 1946, and the latest order for 10,000 wagons placed on the Indian industry is now scheduled for delivery in 1946 or early 1947 Secondly, arrangements were made for diversion of traffic from rail to food, when the condition of the c from rail to sea and from parcels to goods has been done by importing lorries under lend lease and by raising of port to port rail rates from January 1, 1945 Taking all these factors into January 1, 1945 account, gross traffic receipts for 1945-46 were placed at 220 crores, which is 5 70 crores more than revised estimates for 1944-45

The ordinary working expenses for 1945 46 were placed at 140 65 crores against the revised estimates of 128 56 crores. The budget estimates mates contain special items aggregating 32 56 crores of which 1 99 crores is for the write off of the cost of dismantled lines and abandoned assets, 57 lakhs on account of premium paid on the purchase of the Jacobabad-Kashmere, Podanur-Pollachi and Dibru-Sadiya Railways and 30 crores on account of rolling stock is an increase of 1 35 crores under coal, 1 39 crores under grain shops, 44 lakhs under dearness allowance, 88 lakhs under staff and 47 lakhs under road transport services

The ordinary working expenses increased from 54 77 crores in 1939 40, the year in which the war started, to 90 10 crores in 1943-44 and are estimated to go up to 128 56 crores in 1944 45 and 140 65 crores in 1945 46, or, if we exclude the special adjustments, to 102 76 crores in 1944-45 and 108 09 crores in 1945-46 The fuel bill including freight was 71 crores in

1939 40 Including dearness allowance (7 crores), grain shop concession (10 crores) and Defence of India compensatory allowances (23 crores) it rose to 601 crores in 1943 44 is estimated to be 64½ crores in 1944-45 out of which 91 crores will be due to dearness allowance and 9% crores to grain shop concessions and 21 crores to compensatory allowances to those enrolled in Defence of India Units In 1945 46, the dearness allowances are estimated to cost 91 crores, grain shop concessions 111 crores and compensatory allowance to Defence of India Units 21 crores, while the total expenditure on staff including these items will be 671 Compensation for goods lost and damaged has increased from 5 lakhs in 1939 40, to 54 lakhs in 1943 44 and to 93 lakhs in 1944 45, but has been estimated at 82 lakhs in 1945 46 The has been estimated at 82 lakhs in 1945 46 expenditure on stores has increased from 91 crores in 1939 40 to 12 crores in 1943 44, 15 crores in 1944 45 and 174 crores in 1945 46 In this connection it may be mentioned that the figures of train miles are 168 millions in 1939 40, 153 millions in 1943-44, 166 millions in 1944 45 and 182 millions in 1945 46 Total vehicle miles, both in 1943 44 and as estimated in 1944 45, were slightly less than in 1939 40, and it is not possible to make a forecast for 1945 46 Thus, it will be seen that mainly on account of increase in expenditure on staff and, to some extent on fuel and stores, the expenses per train mile as well as per vehicle mile have been practically doubled since 1939 40

The capital programme for 1945-46 was estimated at 78 94 crores of which 30 crores was to be charged to working expenses, 5 8 Practically all e works The crores to the railway reserve the expenditure was on open line works distribution of this expenditure over the various

The Railway Member in his budget speech disclosed the magnitude of the work accomplished by Engineering Department of the railways to increase the line capacity and to construct

military depots and airfields

Since the war began over 1,400 miles of military sidings have been constructed, 70 miles of permanent and 153 miles of temporary sidings for airfields, 21 miles of new single line and 400 miles of doubling or quadrupling have been completed up to the end of January 1945 and the programme is by no means finished In addition 198 crossing stations, additional loops at 174 stations, lengthening of loop at 145 stations and remodelling of 30 large station yards have been completed. In all some 3,500 miles of track material have been arranged for (including 1,205 miles for overseas) so that in spite of the difficulties arising from shortage of materials and labour and the pressure of every

The Indian Tariff Board.

The Indian Tariff Board is an ad hoc body constituted from time to time as necessity arises to investigate the claims made by any Indian industry to protection. It generally consists of a President and two members, one of whom is normally a Government official. It has, subject to the approval of the Government of India, power to co opt other members for particular enquiries.

to Act XIII of 1864 were incorporated in the ment to this effect was made in 1916 general law. The question of revision of the law again came up for consideration in 1882, when several cases of kidnapping and other objectionable practices were reported to the Government of India The opportunity was taken to depute two officials (Major Pitcher and Mr Grierson) to ascertain, in the N-W P and in Bengal respectively, the way in which the system of recruitment actually worked, the respects in which it was open to improvement, and the attitude of the people towards emigration Their reports were reviewed by the Government of India, and finally in 1883 the law was again recast and consolidated by Act XXI of that year This Act specified the countries to which emigration was lawful, but empowered the Governor-General in Council to add to the list by notification, and also to prohibit emigration to any of the countries in the list on the ground of epidemic disease and/or excessive mortality among emigrants in such country, or on the ground that proper measures had not been taken for the protection of emigrants, or that the agreements made with them in India were not duly enforced This Act with certain amendments of no importance to the system of indentured emigration remained in force until 1908, when a fresh revision of the law was undertaken sear a more elaborate Act, based on a convention with the French Government was passed legalising and regulating emigration to Reunion, Martinique, Guadeloupe, and French Guiana and the Dauish Colony of St Croix Emigration to St Lucia, Grenada, St Vincent, Act XIII of 1864 marks an important stage in the history of emigration, since it elaborated and consolidated the whole system of control of the Act, the demand for iresh labour having died out the was itself amended in 1869 and 1870 in the labour to Natal, was discontinued from the Emigration to Natal was discontinued from the 1st July 1911 as the Government of India were satisfied that it was undesirable to continue to send Indian labour to that country gration to the French Colonies of Reunion, Martinique and Guadeloupe had been suspended prior to the passing of the Act of 1908 on account of repeated complaints of the inadequate precautions taken for the proper treatment

The labour laws of the several Colonies of India also occasionally depute to the Colonies their officers to report on the condition of Indian labourers Deputations from India visited Fiji and British Guiana in 1921 In spite of all precautions certain social and moral evils had grown up in connection with the indentured system of emigrawith the indentured system tion and Indian public opinion became strongly opposed to it The whole system was exhaustively examined by the Government of India in 1915 in the light of the report received from Messrs McNelli and Chimanial, and they arrived at the conclusion that the time had come when contract labour should be abolished The Secretary of State for India Legislation —In 1871 a fresh consolidat-ing Act was passed (Act VII of 1871) accepted this policy and authorised the Govern-by which the Acts regulating emigration to the French Colonies and two amending Acts the indentured system and the announce

> In 1922 a further step forward was taken in Act VII of 1922 which prohibited indentured emigration and all unskilled emigration, except to countries specially approved by the Legisla ture Emigration to Ceylon and Malaya was brought under control, and the definition of "Fmigrant" was extended to cover all per-sons "assisted" to depart from India

> Another development was the appointment of a Standing Emigration Committee, composed of 12 members of the Central Legislature, to advise the Government of India on all major emigration questions, and more particularly with regard to the terms and conditions on which the emigration of unskilled labour should be allowed The terms and conditions on which emigration of unskilled labour has been permitted to Ceylon and Malaya since March, 1923, are those which the committee approved, after meeting deputations sent by the two countries

The Committee, though originally constituted to advise on emigration questions only, always advised the Government on all important matters concerning Indians Overseas In April 1945, its name was changed to that of Standing Committee on Commonwealth Rela Under the Act of 1908 (XVII of 1908) the countries to which emigration was lawful were the British Colonies of Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, Trinidad, St Lucia, Grenada, pilgrimage to Hedjaz reguise the total now of cause found for ment of india returned the auministration of untilled work whether asslated or voluntary those function with effect from 1 to Ortob r and whether under contract or not may operate [104] d appointed a Controlle Ge r l of to the detriment of Indian communities Embra tion in the Commonwalth Relations overse s pritodarly in times of economic Dept for that purpose (See earlier iss s dependent The Indian Embration Act was fibele re? This amendment was promulgated on December 14 1939

The Indian Emigration Act 19 also contains e rtain pr visions to safegu rd the int ests of persons emi-rating for the purpose of skilled work It was found that illicit emi-ration in some volume was takin place particularly in Bombay with the connivance of a me dishonest pa sage brokers and rules were promulg ted under the Act on the 14th Dec 1933 pr viding for the licensing of pass ge brokers and requi in that a passage b oker should not be a party t ny arr ngement to recover from the emigr the cost of recruitme t These rules h v to far been m de applicable to the provinces of Bomb y and Sind of students, tourists and merchants visiting the countries for the temporary purposes of commerce, pleasure, or education India on its side assumed power to regulate the admission of immigrants from any other part of the Empire or foreign countries, by means of passports By the Immigration into India Act, 1924, the Government of India was empowered to make rules "for the purpose of securing that persons not being of Indian domiciled in any British posses sion, shall have no greater rights and privileges as regards entry into and residence in British India, than are accorded by the law and administration of such possession to persons of Indian domicile." That Act was repealed in 1943 by the Reciprocity Act, 1943, which enables the Government of India to impose such disabilities in respect of entry into, or travel, residence, etc, etc, upon subjects of any British possession which subjects persons of Indian origin to like disabilities With regard to the Crown colonies and protectorates, the attitude of the Indian Government is that there is no justification for placing any restrictions on the immigra-tion of British Indians, which are not placed on other classes of British subjects, and this principle has in practice been observed by the Colonial Office except in the case of Kenya Colony where, as stated hereafter, the British Government has reserved to itself the right to impose restrictions on the immigration of classes of people whose entry into the Colony may have an adverse effect on the economic evolution, of the indigenous population

Rights and Disabilities of Indians Lawfully Domiciled Overseas.—The policy of the Empire is summed up in the resolution of the Imperial Conference, 1921, which was recorded in the following terms -

"This Conference reaffirms that each Community of the British Commonwealth should enjoy complete control over the composition of its own population by restricting immigration from any of the other communities, but recognises that there is incongruity between the position of India, as an equal member of the Empire, and the existence of disabilities upon British Indians lawfully domiciled in some parts of the Empire, and this Conference, therefore, is of opinion that in the interests of the solidarity of the Commonwealth it is desirable that the rights of such Indians to citizenship should be recognised"

The representatives of South Africa regretted their inability to accept this resolution in view of the exceptional circumstances of the greater of the exceptional circumstances of the greater part of the Union The representatives of India while appreciating the acceptance of this resolution, nevertheless felt bound to record their profound concern at the position of Indians in South Africa and hoped that by negotiations between India and South Africa a way could soon be found to reach a more satisfactory position

Summary of Present Position —The present position is as follows -

Australia —The Indians in majority of Australia are engaged in retail trade or agricul tural operations. The Commonwealth franchise was granted to British Indians domiciled in disability and enjoy equal citizenship rights

Australia in 1925 In the States of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland and Tasmania Indians are not disqualified on racial grounds for the State franchise disability which existed in this respect Queensland until December 1930 and in Western Australia until the end of 1931 was removed as a result of informal representation made by the representatives of India on various occasions, including the one made by the late Sir Muham mad Shafi at the 1930 Imperial Conference The Constitution and Lleetoral Acts in Western Australia disqualify an aboriginal native of Australia, Asia or Africa from being registered as an elector for the Assembly, but he may be enrolled as a voter for the Legislative Council (which is the Upper House) in each province in which he holds freehold property of at least £50 capital value

Indians born in British India were admitted to the benefits of the Invalid and Old Age Pensions Act of 19°0 They were also made eligible for maternity allowances Indians in Australia still suffer from certain minor dis abilities (administrative and legal) relating to Crown lands, mining, certain occupations and employment Under the Mining Act of 1904, in Western Australia the grant of mining rights to Asiatics requires the approval of the Minister in charge of Mines Under the South Australia Irrigation and Reclaimed Lands Act, 1914, Indians are not eligible to obtain leases of land In Western Australia wherever licences are prescribed, for example, for cutting sandalwood, for employment under Government contractors and for employment in European factories, Indians find it difficult under the present administrative practice to get the authorities to exercise discretion in their favour

An exchange of High Commissioners took place between India and Australia in 1944 when the Government of Australia appointed Lt-Gen Sir Iven G Mackay as the first Australian High Commissioner in India and the Government of India appointed Sir Raghunath Puru shottam Paranipye as the first High Commis Both the High sioner for India in Australia Commissioners are striving to establish closer relations between the two countries

A delegation consisting of six Indian indus trialists visited Australia in 1945 to study trade condition there

Canada—Indian residents of Canada are mostly furmers, gardeners, furm workers, managers of retail stores, hawkers and unskilled labourers. While in the other eight provinces of Canada Labourers. of Canada Indian residents are not subject to any political or legal disabilities, Indians in British Columbia numbering about 1,800 are denied the municipal, provincial and federal franchise, as a result of which they cannot serve as trustees in any municipal or rural school district, hold any municipal office or serve as jurors they are debarred from employment by contractors for the Public Work ment by contractors for the Public Work Department and for the sale of Governments timber and also from holding a foreshore lease certificate under the Boiler or Engineers Inspection Act indirectly. It submitted its report on the 13th May, 1930, and embodied its recommendations in a Bill, which it urged should be enacted im-The Bill was read for the first time on the 14th May, 1930, but in deference to the representations made by the Government of India that adequate time should be allowed for careful examination of the far-reaching provisions of the measure, the Union Government decided to defer further consideration of it until the Parliamentary As a result of opposition to the session of 1931 Bill, it was later postponed further, and a Conference was held in 1932 to examine the provisions of the Bill and to review the working of the Cape Town Agreement of 1927 in accordance with para 7 of that Agreement

The results of the Conference were summarised in previous editions of the Year Book

Enactments -Since Antı-Indian there have also been several enactments which are capable of being used against Indians in the Union, eg, the Transvaal Licences (Control) Ordinance of 1932 and the Natal Rural Dealers' Licensing Law Amendment Ordinance of A further development occurred in 1937 when three private Bills affecting the position of Indians in the Union were introduced in the Union Parliament The first sought to prohibit marriages between Europeans and Asiatics or It was introduced on the 12th January but attempts to have it referred to a Select Committee failed The second Bill sought to Committee failed empower Provincial Councils to prohibit the employment of Europeans by non-Europeans in the Union, and the third to prohibit the acquisition of fixed property in the Transvaal by any European, Coloured or Cape Malay women married to Asiatics and by children of such marriages Both the Government of India and their Agent General in the Union made representations against these two Bills Second reading, which would have involved acceptance of the principle of the two measures, was not proceeded with and they were referred to a Select Committee of the Union House of Assembly for investigation of their contents and form Both the Indian community and the Agent General gave evidence before the Select Committee The Committee came to no conclusion on the proposal to restrict ownership of land through marriage, but after consideration of the other Bill, submitted an amended Bill entitled the White Women's Employment Restriction Bill The amended Bill sought to prohibit the employment of European women by Asiatics except under a certificate of the Minister of Labour and to forbid the issue of such a certificate if the women concerned were to be under the direction or supervision of a non European or to be housed or employed on premises containing dwelling or sleeping quarters of Asiatics or at places where they might come into contact with Asiatics other than as customers over the counter Cape Malays and Japanese (while the trade convention with Japan lasted) were to be exempted from the restriction. The new measure was purely anti Indian and the Government of India protested strongly against it In the course of oral evidence before the Select Committee, a representative of the South African Indian Congress stated that he believed Indians would be willing to terminate employment of Luropean women voluntarily where circumstances showed that particular exception might be, or had been, justifiably taken to such employment The Union Government accepted this statement as an assurance of co operation by the Indian community in objectionable cases and an announcement was made on the 14th April in the Union House of Assembly that no further opportunity would be given for the discussion on. or for legislation in connection with, the Select Committee's report on the Bills The Union Government, however, reserved the right to undertake legislation later should circumstances demand it The dropping of these two Bills did not, however, satisfy certain sections and an announcement was made in the Union Parliament on the 17th May, 1937, that two Commissions. one to enquire into mixed marriages and the other into the question of Asiatic land tenure in areas not covered by the enquiry of the Feetham Commission, would be appointed These Commissions were appointed in February, 1938

Mixed Marriages Commission.—In September, 1938, the South African Indian Congress presented a memorandum to the Commission and also gave oral evidence. It was pointed out that the number of marriages between Europeans and Indians was negligible, there was no sign of an increase in spite of the rapid growth in the numbers of each community, and that the effect of such marriages had an insignificant effect on the composition and future welfare of the South African population. The Agent General in the Union supplemented the evidence already given by the local Indian community.

The report of the Mixed Marriages Commission was published in August, 1939 Four members of the Commission signed a majority report and one member a minority report finding of the majority report was that public opinion had failed to prevent mixed marriages and could not be relied upon to prevent such marriages in future and that mixed marriages gave rise to social problems of a serious nature The Commission held that segregation by means of housing schemes and the separation of the sexes at places of work would help in reducing the incidence of mixed marriages. The Com the incidence of mixed marriages mission emphasised the need for improvement of the economic position of non-Europeans on the ground that marriages with Europeans would be less attractive if their present disabilities were diminished. It was also suggested that a separate law should be enacted to govern the validation of the marriages between coloured persons only, coloured persons including all non-Europeans In the minority report it was non-Europeans In the minority report it was stated that legislation was no solution of the problem and it was suggested that the simple laws of heredity should be taught and also that to overcome the disparity between the European male and female population immigration into South Africa of young European women should be encouraged In January, 1940, Dr Malan moved a resolution in the House of Assembly urging introduction of legislation to give effect to the recommendations of the Commission In the course of the discussion on the resolution the Minister of the Interior stated that as the country was in a state of war, Government did not propose to embark upon contentious legisla tion touching difficult social conditions, senti ments and racial pride to the M that the consequence of chang of Mini try in this is a died ding Companies with pr dome union with the control of the control As a result of this finding and in order to check further acquisition of property by Indians, the Union Government paired an Act called "the Trading and Occupation of Land (Transvanl and Natal) Restriction Act, 1943," generally called as the Pt. ing Act This Act provides for the continuance in the Transvanl of the provisions of the Aciatic (Transvanl Land and Trading) Act 1939 for a further period of 3 years and extends similar provisions prohibiting transfer of propertie between Puropeans and Indians in Natal for a period of J vers ic, up to March 21, 1946. The Government of India through their High Commissioner in the Union protected against the measure and brought to the notice of the Union Government the declaration that the latter had made to the effect that no frish statutors measures involving segregation of Indians would be introduced during the war. They also made various other alternative suggestions in order to achieve the object desired by the Union Govern ment without having recourse to legi latise action, but all these protests and suggestions were in vain Indian public opinion both in South Africa and India was greatly agitated over the new legislation and suggested reciprocal action against the Union of South Africa These suggestions received the attention of the Government of India

They formulated their plans to take action against the Union In the meanwhile, however, it became clear that the general elections in the Union had played a large part in the enactment of Pegging Legislation—Indian penetration having been used as a convenient election issue for securing votes of anti-Indian Luropeans. The Government of India therefore, waited for the excitement aroused by the elections to subside in the hope that the Union Government would make a conciliatory move after the atmosphere in the country had returned to normal Indian public opinion, however, continued to be disturbed both in India and S Africa and constantly urged upon the Government of India to adopt retaliatory measures

Pretoria Agreement —On 18th April, 1944, as a result of an agreement, known as "Pretoria Agreement" between the Union Prime Minister and the Minister of the Interior on the one hand and a deputation from Natal including members of the Natal Indian Congress on the other, a decision was taken according to which the Pegging Act was to be replaced by an Ordinance to be passed by the Natal Provincial Council It was agreed by both the parties that the main problem was the occupation of property for residential purposes in urban areas where the question arose of Indians living in close proximity to Europeans The Ordinance was to provide for the creation of a licensing board with two Europeans and two Indian board with two Europeans and two indian members and a third European with legal training as churman The Board was to control occupation of dwellings in Durban by heensing The Pegging Act was to be withdrawn by proclamation after the Ordinance was passed The Agreement on the whole, met with satisfactory reception among the majority of Indians in South Africa The Government of India also decided to give it a chance although they did not think it an ideal Government of India also decided to give it a chance although they did not think it an ideal solution A draft Ordinance embodying major Assembly speech on 22nd March 1943, of points of the Agreem at which was approved by the Natal Indian Congress was introduced in the Natal Provincial Council and it was referred to the Select Committee after first reading On October 17th, 1944, the design Readential Property Regulations Ordinance with the Peport of the beleet Committee was placed on the table of the Provincial Council The amended drift Ordinence departed from the Pretoria Accessent in many aspects in particular it restricted the right of Indians to acquire property. That Ordinance, with two other Ordinances are Nat d Housing Ordinance and Provincial and Local Authorities Expression priation Ordinance was passed on 3rd November 1944 Indians in South Africa were greatly acitated over this legislation. It also aroused great resentment among the Indian public in India It was apprehended that theze Ordi names would enable the Provincial Administra tion to carry out racial zoning

The Government of India represented to the Union Government that ithe new measure was unwarranted and urged for its withdrawal and implementation of the Pretoria Agreement As the representations met with failure, the Government of India enforced the Reciprocity Let against South Africa, and persons of South African domicile were declared prohibited immigrants in India. They were debarred from acquiring or occupying any property without a permit and were also deprived of the local franchise. The Indian Legislature urged the Government of India to recall their High Commissioner from South Africa and to enforce economic sanctions against her

On 28th November 1944, during his interview with the Natul Indian Congress Delegation I leld Marshall Smuts admitted that the Residen tial Property Regulation Ordinance was inconsistent with the Pretoria Agreement Later on the three Ordinances were declared ultra rives of the powers of the Provincial Council In March 1945 Field Marshall Smuts stated in Parliament that the Union Government proposed to bring about legislation to grant powers for expropriation of property, so that what the Provincial Council found impossible to do The Council found impossible to the Coun could be done by the Union Government Indian community took a grave view of the contemplated legislation. This legislation was contemplated legislation. This legislation was not however, proceeded with, but instead the Union Government introduced in Parllament on 23rd May 1945 a bill entitled "Housing (Emer gency Powers) Bill." It was passed in June, 1945 and enables the Government to frame Regulations relating to acquisition and expropriation of property by the local authorities the Natal Housing Board and the National Housing and Planning Commission of the Union Government. The Regulations will be limited to three years in the first instance but are renewable by resolutions of both the Houses of renewable by resolutions of both the Houses of Parliament It also empowers the Provincial Councils to institute Housing Boards The Natal Indian Congress has been assured that they will be followed by the control of t they will be fully consulted at the time of the framing of Regulations with the following terms of reference was gazetted -

To enquire into and report upon matters affecting the Indian community of the Province of Natal with pecial reference to housin and health needs civic amenic e-civic status and provision of adequate re-idential, educational reli lous and recreatio al fa ilities and to make recom mendation gener lly a to what st ps are necessa y further to implement th uplift of clauses of the Cape Town Agreement of 19 7 nd as to all matter affecting the well being and adv acement of the permanent Indian population of Natal

The Commission included two Indians and commenced work in May 1944 The int odu tion of the Residential Property Reg lation tion of the Residential Property Reg. instanton of in the foregoing p ras brought about a cris s in December 1944 the two Indian memb rs resigned the membership of the Commission saying that as the Ordinances and the Report of the Natal Post Wa Reconstruction Commis-sion had anticipated the work of the Commiss o and forestalled its recommendations and forestatied its recommendations inserfulness of the Commission was stuffiled. The Commission, however continued its work in the 2nd week of June 1945 the Interim Report of the Commission was published main and only important re ommendation of th Commission is that the Union G vernm at should invite the Government of India to end to the Union a deleg tion composed substan tially of Indians for the purpos of discussing with the Union Government and with such representatives as the Union Government may appoint and with such oth r persons as the delegation may invite all matters ifecting Indians in South Africa

Lawrence Committee -Towards the e d of 1939 Mr Lawren e the Minister of the Interior suggested that the Natal Indian Association and the Durban City C uncil should constitute a Joint Committe for the purpose of preventing further penetration by Asi ties into European areas

of aggregation but off red to co-operat with the Durban City Council in th mann r suggested in order to establish h rimonious relations be tween the two communities The object of the Committee was also to draw the attention of th City Council to the housing needs of th Out Council to the housing never or indian come by and the necessity for probling proper muni ipal amenities Th. Committee was form d in March 1940 but owing to the attitude of the European member its country of the Minister was the country of the Council or th to in attitude of the European memoer is could not innetion successfully not the Minister of the Interior was obliged to disolve it in September 194 In it place an Asiatic Affairs Ad Lory Board consisting of both Euro-peans and Indians has been established with a riew to finding ways and means to improve the toadition of Indians in respect of housing educational and other needs of the community

The mor nd the inflence on South Afecan public opinion of the magnificent performances of I dian soldiers in the Middle East made it possible fo the Feetham Resolutions to be introduced in the Union Parliam at in April 1941 Th resolutions were p s ed by both Houses and hence for the first time Indi as were given leg I right to continu to oc upy and own land in what are known as gold reas

Riverside Scheme—Early in 1941 the Durb n City Council proposed to put into effect a housing scheme which pop larly cam to be known as the Riverside Sheme Under the Sch me Indians we e to be remo ed from the Riverside—a ridge o looking the Umgent river to another area The Scheme was t b compl ted in 8 years and to cost £51 million looking the Umgeni The Indian community pprehend d th t thi was a schem to segr gat them and bjected to it The High Commi i ner for India in th Union intervened and in October 194 scheme was practically abandoned

the Union Under the immigration law of the missionary representing the Africans, and Union of South Africa, prohibited immigrants a nominated official majority One Indian Union of South Africa, prohibited immigrants were not entitled to obtain a license to carry on any trade or calling in the Union, and following representations from the Agent General in the Union the South African Government agreed to issue to bona fide commercial travellers from India temporary permits as well as necessary licenses to trade Also as a gesture of good-will the Union Government took steps to see that the anti-Asiatic provisions of the law were not applied to Indian visitors, particularly those in transit through the Union

In view of colour prejudice in South Africa and the division of traffic to the Cape route, the Union Government were good chough to appoint their representatives at Cape Town and Durban to look after the Indian visitors, both civilians and members of the armed forces, and to avoid undesirable incidents The appointment of these representatives has served a useful purpose, though some unfortunate incidents have occurred in spite of it.

East Africa Kenya Colony — The grie-vances of Indians domiciled in this Colony were fully set forth in the published despatch of the Government of India, dated October 21st, 1920 The controversy centred round the following points

- (a) FRANCHISE —Indians had not the elective franchise franchise The Government of India, therefore, proposed that there should be a common electoral roll and a common franchise on a reasonable property basis plus an educa-tional test without racial discrimination for all British subjects
- (b) SEGREGATION —Professor Simpson who as sent to East Africa to report on was sent to East Africa to Sanitary matters, recommended segregation on sanitary grounds The Government of India objected, firstly, that it was impracticable, secondly, that it was commercially inconvenient, and thirdly, that Indians were in practice unfairly treated in the allocation of sites
- (c) THE HIGHLANDS -Lord Elgin in 1908 that as a matter of administrative convenience grants of land in the upland area should not be made to Indians The whole area had by then been given out, and the Government of India claimed, that there was no land left to which Lord Elgin's decision applied That decision was, however, extended so as to prohibit the transfer of land in the uplands to non Europeans
- (d) IMMIGRATION —Suggestions were forward for restricting Asiatic immigration into Kenya The Government of India claimed that there was no case for restricting Indian immigration and that such restrictions were in principle indefensible

The Settlement—The decisions of the British Government were contained in a White Paper presented to Parliament in July, 1923 It was held that the guiding principle should be that "the interests of the African native must be paramount," and in light of this it

- was also appointed on the Governor's Executive Council
- (b) SEGREGATION —The policy of segregation as between Europeans and Asiatics was aban
- (c) THE HIGHLANDS —The old practice was maintained both as regards initial grants A similar reservation and transfers the lowlands was offered to Indians
- (d) IMMIGRATION Racial discrimination in immigration regulations was rejected. But in the economic interests of the Africans, further control over immigration was considered It was held that some arrangement necessary was required for securing a strictly impartial examination of applications for entry into Kenya The Governors of Kenya and Uganda were, in that connection, instructed to submit joint proposals for legislation

The Government of India reviewed their decisions in a resolution published on August 18th, 1923, and recorded "their deep regret that His Majesty's Government did not feel justified in giving greater effect to the recom-mendations made by them "and reserved liberty to reopen the case on a suitable opportunity They stated their intention of making representations regarding the action to be taken to implement those decisions, particularly in the matter of the Immigration regulations

Following upon the Kenya award, statutory action was taken by the local administration on the franchise question Adult suffrage on communal lines was conferred upon Indians As regards immigration, the Government of India took the opportunity to urge the postponement of the bill giving effect to the decision of His Majesty's Government until such time as the Committee proposed by their representatives at the Imperial conference in 1923 had an opportunity of examining the question of the restrictions therein embodied Accordingly the introduction of the bill was postponed at the instance of the Colonial Secretary. The Government of Kenya was also asked by His Majesty's Government for an explanatory statement regarding the method proposed for the administration of immigration measures. The Government of the control of the c ment of India received an assurance from the Colonial Secretary that ample opportunities would be afforded for the expression of their views, and that earnest attention would be given to any representation which their Com mittee desired to make As stated in a subsequent para, a Colonies Committee was appointed in March 1924 The following statement made by the Secretary of State for the Colonies in the House of Committee was appointed in March 1924 The following statement made by the Secretary of State for the Colonies in the House of Committee and 7th the Colonies in the House of Commons on 7th August 1924 shows the result of the representa tion made by the Colonies Committee -

"(1) IMMIGRATION — My position is that if danger ever arises of such an influx of immi be that "the interests of the African native must be paramount," and in light of this it was decided —

(a) Franchise —A communal franchise was adopted with 11 seats for elected Europeans, 5 elected Indians, one nominated Arab, one leads to the natives, I hold myself economic interest of the natives, I hold myself ec reach a definite conclusion as reg rds the extent | had visited East Afric of net Indian immigration Accordingly steps will be taken to create a statistical department to obtain accurate information with regard to persons of all races arriving in or departing from Kenya Meanwhile the Kenya Immigr tion Ordinance will not be enacted

(2) FRINCHISE.-I have given careful con sider tion to representations in favour of a common roll but I am not prepared to resist the conclusion already arrived at that in the special circumstances of Lenya with four di erze communities each of which will ulti mately require electoral representation the communal system is the best way to secure the fair repres ntation of each and all of these communities

(3) Hightaups -I consider that the Secre tary of State for the Colonies has no altern ti e but to continue pledges express or implied whi h had been given in the past and I can hold out no hope of the policy in regard to gri-cultural land in the Highlands being reconst dered

(4) LowLinds -It was proposed to reserve an area in the lowlands for agricultural immi grants from India The Committee made it plain that it is averse from any reservation of land for any immigrant race subject to the expectation that before applications for I ad in level and the committee of the lowl nd areas are invited an opportunity should be taken of sending an officer experienced in Indian settlement and agricultural methods to re port on the areas At present any consider tion of the matter is in suspense pending receipt from the colony of reports from the native and agricultural points of view on the areas in question

The work of the Colonies Committee did much to abate the bitterness which existed in the relations b two n the different classes of settlers in Kenya and the situation was further improved by the decision of the Indian community to relinquish their attitude of no co-op ration and to select five members for nomination by the Governor to the L gislative Council

In June 19 4 His Majesty a Government announced the appointme t of an East Af ican Committee under the Chairm uship of Lord Southboro gh to consider ad report on certain questions regardi g the administration and economic development of British East African dependencies 81 ce thi enquiry was likely to affect Indian int re ts the Gov rame t of India urged that the Indian point of view should be uged that the Indian point of view assume that before the Committee came to ny quelcisions. Closer Union -In view of the issue of noth r White Pap r in July 1927 in which it was announced that His Majesty Government had authorised the Secretary of St to for the Colonies to send to Africa a spe ial Commission to investigate the possibility of securing more effective co-operation between the Go ern ments of E stern and C ntral African Depend encies and make recommendations on this and cognate m tt s the question regarding the position of Indians in Lenya ag in came to the forefront

In M rch 19 9 th Secretary of State for the Colo les sent out Sir S muel Wilson Under Secretary of State for the Colonie to East Africa to discuss the recommend tions of the Hilton Young Commission for the closer union of Kenya T ganylka and Ug nda (and such possible modification of these proposals for effecting the object I view as m y appear de Irable) with the Governments oc cerned a d also with my bodie or individual repre enting the various interests and commu ities affected with a view to s ing how f rit might be possible to find a basis of general agre ment Sir S muel was also directed to ascertain on what lines a ci eme for closer union would be administratively w rkable nd oth rwise acc pt ble and to rep rt the outcome of his consultati no At th invita tion of the Secretary of State for the Colonies the G sernm t of India deputed the Rt Hon V S Srini as Sastri P C to E t Af ica to help the loc. - (d) oppose the establishment of a Central Council on the lines proposed by Sir Samuel Wilson.
- (e) demand, in case of the establishment of some such body that the unofficial representatives from each province should include an adequate number of Indians,
- (f) advocate the continuance of the official majority in the Legislative Council of Kenvi,
- (0) demand that the representation of natives in the Kenya Legislative Council should be by natives or by Europeans and Indians in equal proportions

Thereafter meetings of the Standing Emigration Committee were held and the decision arrived at by the Government of India was communicated to His Majesty's Government

The report of Sir Samuel Wilson was published on the 5th October 1929 Another meeting of the Standing Emigration Committee was held soon thereafter to consider the report and a further communication was addressed to His Majesty's Government on the subject

The conclusions of His Majesty's Government as regards closer union in East Africa were published in June, 1930, in the form of a White Paper and it was announced that they would be submitted to a Joint Committee of the two Houses of Parliament In accordance with this decision a Select Committee was set up in November, 1930 The Government of India communicated their views in a despatch to the Secretary of State for India on the scheme set out in the White Paper in so far as it affected the Indian population in Last Africa With the permission of the Joint Select Committee of Parliament they also deputed the Right Honourable V S Srinivasa Sastri, P C, C H, as their representative to present their case and elucidate in the course of oral examination such questions as the Committee might consider necessary to refer to him The Select Committee examined Mr Sastri in July, 1931

The report of the Committee was published simultaneously in England, East Africa and India on the 2nd November, 1931, and the decisions of His Majesty's Government on the recommendations of the Committee together with certain correspondence arising from the report of the Committee were also similarly published on the 24th August, 1932

As regards the question of Closer Union, His Majesty's Government accepted the view of the Joint Committee that apart from considerations arising out of the Mandatory position of the Tanganyika Territory, the time had not arrived for taking any far-reaching step in the direction of the formal Union of the several East African Dependencies

There was no important development in regard to this question until 1935 when certain sections in Kenya attempted to revive the proposal for Closer Union Early that year an unofficial conference of Europeans, held at Arusha, was reported to have expressed the view that since 1931 circumstances had changed rapidly as to justify a reversal of the Joi Committee's decision and that immediately should be taken towards the Closer Uni of I ast Africa. A "Memorandum on Union was also forwarded to the Secretary of State if the Colonies by the Luropean Elected Membe Organisation of the Kenya Legislative Councilly Majest's Government did not, howevensider that there were adequate grounds i reopening, an enquiry into the matters which had been so carefully investigated by the Joi Select Committee as recently as 1931. Ti decision is contained in Malcolm Mac Donale despatch, dated the 12th October, 1935, to E Excellency the Governor of Kenya which we published in all the countries concerned.

Pan-African Movement -I or some tur indications of pist there have been prowing move for a Pan African Pederation which stands for "closer relationship, better co operation and larger collaboration" between South, Last and Central African territories In May 1913 the Southern Rhode sim Legislative Assembly passed a motion in favour of a Pan African Conference Early in January 1945, a resolution, sponsored by the elected European members, was passed by the kenya Legislature, calling on the British Govern ment to invite the Prime Minister of South Africa to arrange immediately a conference to plan and co-ordinate the development of British territories in South, Central and East Africa The Indian members opposed the resolution on the ground that in view of the anti-Asiatic policy of the Union of South Africa any afilia tion with her would be harmful to the interests The Arab member of Indians elsewhere also and the African Member also opposed the resolu tion which was carried by 11 to 7 votes

Franchise —As regards franchise, His Majesty's Government stated in the White Paper of 1930 that "His Majesty's Government are of the opinion that the establishment of a common roll is the object to be aimed at and attained, with an equal franchise of a civilization or education character open to all races" In 1931 the question of franchise was also referred to the Joint Select Committee of Parliament which was appointed to consider the question of Closer Union After discussing the arguments that had been brought forward for and against a common electoral roll, the Select Committee stated in para 100 of their report that it was impracticable under the prevailing conditions to advocate the adoption of the system of common roll representation in preference to the existing system of election The Secretary of State for the Colonies accepted the recommendations of the Joint Select Com 3 matter mittee in

Highlands—The Joint Select Committee of Parliament, which was appointed to consider the question of Closer Union in East Africa, had recommended that "in view of the nervousness among the native population as regards the land question, a full and authoritative inquiry should be undertaken immediately into the needs of the native population, present and prospective, with respect to land within or without the reserve held either on tribal or on individual tenure" In April, 1932, a Commission was accordingly appointed by His Majesty's Government and the terms of reference of the Commission included the following

To define the area known as it e High lands within which persons of Europe n descent are to have a privileged position in accordance with the White Paper of 19 3

Apart from the major problems outlined above other questions have also been causing concern to the Indian community in the col sy The most important of these are (1) the Ordinance to control and regulate the marketing of native Produc and (1) the Trainsport to trol Ordinance to control and regulate the marketing of native Indian and the Indian and In

The Keryr Transport Control Bill passed in 1837 w a lin ded to give effet to the recommend tions f the Kenya Tr naport Conditation Committ which w a sap inted in 1835 to investig t and consider the destability of co-ordination and regulating all forms of the control of the regular control of the Renya Legislative Council to the

relating to the grant of exclusive licences The Bill, however, became law and an Indian was also appointed to the Transport Licensing Board

In the latter half of 1938 and the beginning of 1939, the Kenya Indians were interested in (1) the Immigration of Jewish refugees, (2) the Kenya Immigration Restriction Ordinance and (3) the representation of the Indian community on the Kenya Immigration Board All these three questions were connected with one another His Majesty's Government had in some form under consideration a scheme for the settlement of a small number of Jews in the Kenya High-lands The main objection of the Indian community was that it would accord to foreign subjects within a British Colony privileges which are denied to British Indian subjects Majesty's Government were committed to a policy of settling Jewish refugees from Central Europe, it was not possible to meet the objections of the Indian community in the matter prevent an influx of destitute and undesirable foreigners into the Colony as a result of the international situation in Europe, an Immigra-tion Advisory Board was, however, established in October, 1938 The Board was to advise the Commissioner of Police on such matters as might be referred to that in connection with immigration into Kenya but it was not intended that the Board should consider or advise upon any aspect of Indian immigration Nevertheless it was felt that the Indian community which was vitally interested in the composition of the population and the economic development of the Colony should be represented on the Board Representations were made to His Majesty's Government in the matter The objections to the Kenya Immigration Restriction Bill centred round two provisions of the Bill —(1) the provision autho rising the Immigration Officer to require any in tending immigrant, who was without any visible means of support or was likely to become a pauper, to give security by bond to an amount not exceeding £500, and (11) the provision altering the period of 12 months, within which an intending immigrant had to prove that he was not a prohibited immigrant, to any period the Immigration Officer might fix in his discretion Though these clauses were intended to apply only to immigrants from Europe, the Indian community thought that they might at any time be applied to Indians also

Both questions were settled satisfactorily Indian representation on the Board was conceded and, under the revised provisions all immigrants were divided into two classes (a) those who were, if necessary to be received back by their country of birth or origin and (b) those who were, not to be so received back, the existing law being left practically unaltered in respect of the former category of persons Indians therefore were not, affected by that measure which received the Royal assent in May 1939

Tanganyika—In the adjoining mandated territory of Tanganyika, the Indian community were at one time deeply concerned at the rumoured transfer of the territory to Germany Their views in regard to this subject were communicated by the Government of India to His Majesty's Government It was later learnt from His Majesty's Government that the rumours were without foundation

War-time Immigration Restrictions in Africa—After the outbreak of war the African Governments of Kenya, Ugand Tanganyika requested the Governme India to restrict the issue of passpothose territories to those male persons 18 years of age who could make the nec immigration deposits and against whom were no security objections. The Gover of India on being assured that the restriction of the duration of the war, issued the necessary instruits in December, 1941

December, 1943, the Governme Tanganyika informed the Government of that on account of extreme pressure on he and other accommodation, it was pro to restrict the entry into the territory of natives who were not essential for war Persons normally resident in the territory however, to be exempted from the restri provided they had not been away for more two years The Government of India po out to the Tanganyıka Government, among things, that due to acute shortage of shi it would not be possible for many Indians wise 'normal residents' of the territory to within two years and asked for their exen from the scope of the proposed restric The Tanganyika Government while not ag to the exemption of such persons, assure Government of India that the regulations be enforced with due regard to the circumst of each case The Regulations were pr gated on the 14th February, 1944

In the third week of February, 1944 Governments of Kenya and Uganda also mated to the Government of India the account of acute shortage of housing and they also proposed to enact legislation at the that of Tanganyika and promulgated De Regulations imposing restrictions on immigron the 1st March, 1944 The East Af Governments assured the Government of that the Regulations were not discrimin and that they would be terminated after war The restrictions, however, aroused apprehensions among Indians in East Affined India Several representations were met the Government of India and deputations won them The matter was also raised in Council of State and it was stressed by all the restrictions were the outcome of sinit-Indian agitation carried on by Europeans and were only the thin end of wedge, designed to exclude Indians from Africa after the war The pleas of housing food shortage were described by the critic groundless

The Government of India took up the m with the Colonial Governments and broughtheir notice the facts and considerations to invarious representations received from Ir leaders. The Colonial Governments assured Government of India that entry permits whe granted to all bona fide residents of the Colonial that entry permits where though they might have been absent the Colonies for more than two years.

was supported by the three Indian members and opposed by the rest of the Council including the elected European and nominated Fijian members As a protest against this vote, all three Indian members resigned their seats and, no Indian having subsequently offered himself for election, the seats remained unfilled throughout the life of the Council A fresh election was held during 1932 and as a result two Indian constituencies returned their representatives to the Council, but no candidate offered himself for election from the third constituency

In 1935, the elected Indian members of the Legislative Council advocated a system of nomination in place of the system of election and the proposal was opposed by the local Indian Association European opinion was divided The Government of India supported the principle of election and made representations to His Malesty's Government The decision of His Majesty's Government is contained in the despatch, dated the 20th July 1936, addressed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies to the Government of Fiji The main points of the decision were—

- (a) the Finan representatives should be selected as heretofore, $\iota\iota z$, by the Governor from a panel submitted by the Great Council of Native Chiefs.
- (b) some of the European and Indian members should be elected and the others nominated,
- (c) the circumstances were such as to make it impossible to arrange for representation of the three sections of the population by means of a general franchise. The Legislative Council should consist of the Governor, 16 official members, 5 European members (3 to be elected on a communal franchise and 2 to be nominated), 5 Filian members (all to be selected as at present) and 5 Indian members (3 to be elected on a communal franchise and 2 to be nominated)

The Legislative Council as newly constituted met in September, 1937 Fresh elections to the reformed Legislative Council took place in 1940

The most important problem affecting the Indian community in Fiji is that of land tenure Out of the total Indian population of 94,966 estimated in 1939, a very large majority consists of agriculturist, but alienation of native owned land is prohibited. More than 80 per cent of the land in the Colony is held by native owners as tribal land, and the rest is held as Crown grants or as freehold property mainly by the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, Ltd. Indians hold land as lessees from the native owners for the cultivation of rice, sugarcane, etc., and from the Colonial Sugar Refining Co., for cultivation of sugarcane. Practically the whole problem is one of security of tenure and the encouragement given to Fijians to cultivate their own lands with the most stable and profitable crop, sugarcane, caused some alarm to Indians engaged in agriculture. A number of practical difficulties connected with the leases, which in main related to the procedure for obtaining leases and the administration of the land law, were also brought to the notice of the Government of India

In September, 1936, the Council of Chiefs o Fiji agreed that all lands (includingle eases) no required for the maintenance of the Fijia owners should be opened for settlement, that to further this end a Committee should be appoint ed to inquire into and to determine the amoun of land needed for proper development by th Native owners, and that all land (includin leases) not so required should be handed ove to the Government to lease on behalf of th As a result of the examination (Finans the question, the Colonial Government cam to the conclusion that the most satisfactor method of procedure would be for Governmen to take power to deal with all the native land in the Colony, and then to appoint a Commission to determine the lands to be set aside for th These proposal exclusive use of the Fijians were referred to the Council of Chiefs in October 1938, and accepted by them A Bill entitle Native Land Trust Bill was published by th Government of Fiji in the Gazette dated th 17th November, 1939 to give effect to the proposals referred to above The Government of India made suitable representations on the Bill and the Bill with certain amendments passed its third reading on the 22nd February, 1940 and was assented to by the Governor

The Native Land Trust Ordinance, 1940 provides for the formation of a Native Land Trust Board to administer all native land in the Colony on trust A Fijlan Commission has been appointed to conduct enquiries into particulars of land needed for Fijian use and to report to the Board, but with a view to safe guarding the interest of Indians, it has been arranged to depute an Indian Assistant to the District Commission Indian District Commissioner to accompany the Com missioner and to place before him any repre The Colonia sentations made by Indian lessees Government have also agreed that existing occupants of land should not as far as possible Though there is no Indian repre be disturbed sentation on the Board, provision has been made for such representation on local committees which have been set up to advise the Board in respect of native land in those areas tions have been framed regarding the terms and conditions of leases to be granted by the Board and provide inter alia for the grant of agricultural leases up to a term of 99 years

Fig. Sugar Dispute, 1943—In view of the rising cost of living due to war, the sugarcane farmers in Fiji, who are mostly Indians, de manded, in June, 1943, a higher puce for their cane. The Sugar Refining Company, who has the monopoly of sugar production in the Colony, refused any increase in the price of cane until and unless the price of sugar was increased by the Ministry of kood, United Kingdom, to whom the Company was bound to sell all its produce. The farmers thereupon decided not to harvest their crop. They stuck to their decision in spite of appeals made by the Governor of the Colony. As the crushing season advanced, the feelings amongst the Indians ran high. Some of them even ploughed in their crops. All attempts on the part of Indian leaders to reach an amicable settlement having failed till the end of the crushing season, the major part of the cane crop in the Colony remained unharvested. In March, 1944, the Secretary of State for the Colonies announced in the House of Commons his decision.

In 1942, a Labour Ordinance (No 2 of 1942) was passed This Ordinance provided for the appointment of a Commissioner of Labour for the regulation of the relations between employers and employees and for the settlement of disputes between them This brought the labour laws of British Guiana in line with modern conceptions of labour legislation. The Government of India were given an opportunity to comment on the Ordinance at the Bill stage and certain modifications suggested by them were incorporated in it.

West Indies Royal Commission—The decision of His Majesty's Government to appoint a Royal Commission to conduct a comprehensive survey of the social and economic problems affecting the group of the West Indian Colonies was announced by the Secretary of State for the Colonies in the House of Commons on the 14th June, 1938, in the course of the debate on the Colonial Office vote during which discussion largely centred around conditions in the West Indies The actual terms of the Commission (which were announced in the House of Commons on the 28th July) were the following—

"To investigate social and economic conditions in the Barbados, British Guiana, British Honduras, Jamaica, Leeward Islands, Trimdad and Tobago, and Windward Islands and matters connected therewith and to make recommendations"

In view of the large number of Indians in Jamaica, Trinidad and British Guiana and the importance of the Indian case in these territories being properly presented before the Royal Commission, the question of (deputing Commission, safeguarding someone India) from interests of Indians engaged the attention of the Government of India As a result of representa-tions made by them, they were able to secure the approval of His Majesty's Government to the deputation of an officer to represent their views before the Commission and to assist Indians in the West Indies in the presentation of their case Mr J D Tyson, CBE, IOS, who was secretary to the Rt Hon'ble V S Srinivasa Sastri, PC, CH, when the latter went as the first Agent in the Union of South Africa, and subsequently represented the Government of India before the Joint Select Committee in South Africa on the Transvaal Asiatics Land Tenure Amendment Bill in 1930, was the officer chosen in this connection

The Commission concluded taking evidence towards the end of March, 1939, and the report was made available to the press in October, 1939 only a summary of the recommendations of the claim has since been conceded. It has also been conceded.

Commission were available, the report have not been published by His Majesty's Governme for the present. The Commission recommend that some officer or officers, preferably memb of the labour department should specialise. Last Indian questions and if suitable candida were forthcoming should be East Indians. Tommission also recommended that the possibility of the appointment of suitable East Indians to posts in the Government service should carefully borne in mind by Colonial Government They expressed sympathy with the complain regarding the arrangements for legitimisate and validation of East Indian marriages as the law was concerned be put on exactly the same footing as other marriages.

In effect the commission conceded practica all the demands to which Indians themselvations which related to matters of educations which related to matters of educations which related to matters of educations and labour administration appear satisfactory and were likely to be of benefit Indians. As an immediate step towards in plementing the recommendations of the Commission His Majesty's Government announced their decision to increase the annuallotment to the Colonial Development Fin from £1,000,000 to a maximum of £5,000,0 for ten years and to sanction annually a graup to £500,000 for the purpose of colonial search. Though the Commission made in recommendation for the appointment of Agent of the Government of India in the We Indies the matter continues to engage the attention of the Indian Government.

During 1939 40 Major G Orde Browne was deputed by the Secretary of State for the Colonia to investigate and report on labour conditions in the West Indies. The Government of India took steps to ensure that any measure undertaken to ameliorate the condition of labours a result of Major Orde Browne's recommendations should reach also the Indian labour population in British Guiana, Trinidad and Jamaic The Government of India suggested with reference to Indian labour in Trinidad that it Industrial Adviser should also concern himse with the evolution of machinery for collective bargaining among rural labour as in the sugandustry, and in regard to educational institutions in British Guiana, that the Colonial Government should make every endeavour to assure direct responsibility for their management an control

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

Some of the recent developments, since the visit of the West India Royal Commission, in the Colonies of British Guiana, Trimdad and Jamaica which contain considerable number of East Indians (as Indians in these parts at referred to) deserve mention. In Jamaica whe Indians are less organised and fewer in number than in the other two territories, there had been a demand for the revival of the post of the Protector of Immigrants to deal with Indian which was abolished in 1934 as a measure of economy and the revival of the appointment was also recommended by Mr. Tyson in his evidence before the Royal Commission. The claim has since been conceded.

The Wages Boards for Tea and Rubber industries published on Dec 16, 1944, certain proposals for enhancing the minimum rate of wages and invited objections

One important feature of the proposed new rates is that the distinction hitherto made between the minimum rates for the up country, mid country and low country estates is not to be maintained. The question whether the abolition of distinction between the up, mid, and low country rates will cause hardship in the post-war period when the special allowance becomes negligible needs consideration. These proposals have evoked considerable objections from the planting interests

The position in regard to the supply of foodstuffs to estate labourers deteriorated consi derably (in 1942) and the basic ration of rice was considerably cut down

Shortage of foodgrams continued in 1943, in spite of the efforts of the Government to increase their production, and the basic ration to estate labourers practically remained the same as at the end of the year 1942

The food position on estates did not improve until the end of 1944, and the issue of the ration in the form of rice was reduced to $\frac{1}{4}$ of the basic ration into 1936, ns and Indian Immigration Ceylon Indian immigration into Ceylon and Indo-Ceylon Relations—In 1936, as a result of a resolution passed in the State Council, the Cevlon Government appointed an Immigration Commission to consider and report upon the problem of non-Ceylonese workers in Ceylon, particularly with a view to the restriction and effective control of immigration into Ceylon of workers from other countries, including labourers rssisted estrte Indians the majority of the immigrants in Ceylon and they presented a memorandum to the Immigra-tion Commissioner The report of the Commis-sioner was published in April, 1938 The Commissioner came to the conclusion that, although in the absence of statistics it was not possible to estimate the extent of Indian immigration, the immigrant came to share the work when it was available and when it was not, he returned to his home, that the immigrant workers made possible an economic and general advance which could not have taken place without them that Indians did not undercut wages, that the existing means of control of immigration were sufficient and that the restriction of Indian immigration for the protection of Ceylonese employment was not practicable

This vindication of the cause of Indian immigration into Ceylon did not satisfy Sinhalese opinion. The Board of Ministers were intent on some measure to control Indian immigration and a memorandum containing a summary of certain far reaching proposals designed to restrict the entry of persons into Ceylon whether for up any occupation in Ceylon, was referred to the Government of India in August, 1940 in accordance with an assurance given to then in the matter It was agreed to discuss these proposals during the informal conversations arranged to be held in November, 1940, in New Delhi to consider all questions outstanding between the Indian and Ceylon Governments. The Conference was held at New Delhi from the 4th to the 12th November, 1940 fundamental question of the status of Indian: resident in Ceylon was first taken up for discussion. The proposals of the Ceylon Delegation were conditioned by one main purpose, namely, a substantial reduction in the number of Indians resident in the Island, and sought to limit full citizenship rights to Indians in Ceylon in the second or third generation while extend ing certain restricted rights to those Indians with only a Ceylon domicile of choice (which was to include among other conditions to be prescribed residence in Ceylon for a minimum period of five years) They further proposed that all other Indians in Ceylon and future immi grants should be debarred for ever from acquiring franchise or other rights of citizenship The Government of India, on the other hand, pressed for full citizenship rights for Indians who had put in five years' residence in the Island and produced evidence of a permanent interest in the Colony and for opportunity for all other Indians in Ceylon on a prescribed date to qualify for such rights in due course As the Cevlon Delegation were not prepared to modify their attitude, the talks ended in a breakdown of the negotiations

On 4th March, 1941, the Board of Ministers introduced two Bills in the State Council, one to provide for the registration of persons in Ceylon who did not possess a Ceylon domicle of origin, and the other to make provision for the regulation and control of the entry of non Ceylonese into Ceylon After the Bills pissed their second reading, they were referred to Standing Committee, "A" These bills were, however held in abeyance by the Government of Ceylon pending an outcome of the India Ceylon talks

Dismissal of Indian Daily-Paid Staff in Government Departments and the ban on Fmigration to Ceylon—Early in 1939, the Government of India came to know that the Ceylon Government had under consideration some scheme for the replacement of Indian daily paid employees in the Government Departments by Ceylonese—The Government of Indian addressed the Ceylon Government asking for details of the scheme and the reasons therefor After some correspondence on the subject, during which the Ceylon Government explained their scheme for the replacement of non Ceylonese employed since 1st April, 1934, and the offer of gratuaties and free repatriation facilities to other non Ceylonese who voluntarily retired, the Government of India communicated to them and suggested that it should be held in abeyance pending discussions at the time of trade negotiations, which were to take place between the two countries very soon—The Ceylon Government did not agree to that and also to other requests from the Government of India and the latter were

Ceylon Constitutional Reforms—The question of reform of the Ceylon Constitution which was debated in the State Council from 9th March to 13th July, 1939, has been engaging the attention of His Majesty's Government and an Order in Council extending the life of the present State Council, which was normally due to expire in March, 1941, for a further period of two years was published in the Ceylon Gazette Extraordinary, dated 19th October, 1940 On 28th October, 1941, the following communication from the Secretary of State for the Colonies was read by the Speaker in the State Council-

The urgency and importance of reform of the Constitution are fully recognised by His Majesty's Government but before taking decisions upon the present proposals for reform, concerning which there has been so little unanimity, but which are of such importance to the well-being of Ceylon, His Majestv's Government would desire that the position should be further examined and made the subject of further consultation by means of a Commission or Conference

This cannot be arranged under war conditions, but the matter will be taken up with the least possible delay after the war"

The proposals for constitutional reforms in Ceylon were revived, as a result of persistent demands in that country, by a declaration by H M G on the 26th May, 1943, authorising the Ministers to proceed ahead with the drafting of proposals for a new Constitution, to be examined in detail by a Commission or Conference declaration put the grant of full responsible government under the Crown in all matters of internal civil administration as the goal of the contemplated constitutional advance Ministers accordingly drafted their proposals in secret without consulting the representatives of the minority interests in the Island and submitted them to the Secretary of State for the Colonies H M G have now announced that a Commission will be sent to Ceylon at the end of this year to examine the proposals made by the Ministers and it will enter into consultation with all minority parties concerned with the Constitution The Government of India are watching the developments with the help of their Representative in the Island, with a view to ensuring a satis factory settlement of the Indo Ceylon problem in the new Constitution

In July 1944, His Majesty's Government made a further declaration that in pursuance of their declaration made in May 1943, a Royal Commission would visit Ceylon to examine and discuss any proposals for constitutional reforms in Cevlon after consulting the various interests involved, including the minorities. The Minis ters contending that the arrival of the Commission was contrary to the declaration of His Majesty's Government made in May, 1943, withdrew their proposed scheme for constitutional reforms, and decided not to co operate with the Commission However, the Commission consisting of Lord Soulbury (Chairman), as their Representative with the Government of Burma.

Mr (now Sir) J F Rees, Vice Chancellor of 1 University of Wales, and Mr F J Burrow the retiring President of the National Unic of Railwaymen arrived in Ceylon on 22n December, 1944, and invited proposals for the reform of the Ceylon constitution. The India community in Ceylon presented there are community in Cevion presented their carbefore the Commission which completed i sittings and returned to England in March 194 Its report is awaited

Exchange of Representatives—In Octobe 1942, with the concurrence of th Government of India, the Government of Ceylo appointed Sir Baron Jayatilaka as their Specii Representative in India to secure and maintai adequate food supplies for Ceylon from Indi and to improve relations between the tw countries The Government of Ceylon have als welcomed the appointment of an Indian Repre sentative in Ceylon of similar status should th Government of India decide to appoint one

Unfortunately Sir Baron Javatilaka died, afte a brief illness, on his way to Ceylon in May, 1944 The Government of Ceylon appointed Si Tikiri Bauda Panabdkke as his successon He took charge of his office in March 1945

The Government of India appointed, on a reciprocal basis, Mr M S Aney as their Repre sentative in Ceylon in September, 1943 The post of the Agent of the Government of India in Cevlon has also been continued and is a present held by Mr P C Mathew, I C S

Miscellaneous —Several complarmade to the Government of complaints India by Indian merchants in Ceylon against the Govern ment of the Island in regard to requisitioning of stocks of textiles and other essential commodities soon after their arrival in the Island for being distributed through Government Co operative Stores and Government nominated private The ground for such requisitioning was given to be to prevent the goods finding their way to the black market The Government of India are now understood to be examining the question with a view to ensuring that Indian traders in the export, import and internal retail trade in Ceylon retain their pre war proportion of business in Ceylon In the meantime the Ceylon Government has introduced a system of individual rationing of textile by coupons based on the 'points' system, under which there would be no more requisitioning of textiles for co operative stores and Burma -The position of Malaya and Burma—The positional Indians in these countries has been fully dealt with in the previous issues of the Year Book They came under Japanese Occupation early in 1942 During the first half of 1945, large portions of Burma including Rangoon were reoccupied by the Allies and these parts are now under British Military Administration

Sport.

With the War removed from India's doors, sport in the country benefitted appreciably in the year under review and transport difficulties were not so pronounced as in the previous year, although racing was again hard hit Cricket, hockey and football, as usual, were the most popular branches, and football, especially, received a great fillip

Cricket -The Board of Control for Cricket in India is responsible for the affairs of the Several representative teams competed, as usual, on zonal lines for the Cricket Championehip of India, for the Ranji Trophy, a magnificent gold cup of unique design which keeps green the memory of that illustrious Indian cricketer Ranjitsinhji The biggest attraction of the year, the Bombay Pentangular Tournament, which comprises teams representing the Muslims, Parsis, Hindus, Europeans and The Rest, was an outstanding success, and will be remembered for the wonderfully exciting final between the Muslims and the Hindus

Football—The game is controlled by subordinate provincial associations in affiliation with the All India Football Federation It has gained tremendous popularity in recent years, and the introduction of Rule 33 by the parent body, which prevents the wholesale transfer of players during the season, has proved most beneficial The Santosh Memorial Shield, the official championship for the country competed for by the various provinces on the zonal basis, was not held The premier competitions in the country are the 1 F A Shield, in Calcutta, and the Rovers Cup, in Bombay

Hockey—The game, which is controlled by the All-India Hockey Federation, is easily the most popular in the country, and the standard of play the best in the world, a fact which is amply borne out by India's triumphs at the last three Olympiads There is an official championship, competed for by provincial teams, and the trophy is a quantity carved Maori Shield, presented by the Maoris to the Indian team which toured New Zealand—The principal tournaments are the Aga Khan Cup in Bombay, the Beighton Cup, at Calcutta and the Yadavendra Shield, at New Delhi

The Turf —Rucing in India is organised on a large scale, and all the many courses are controlled, between them, by the Royal Western India Turf Club and the Royal Calcutta Turf Club The standard is very high, and the race courses, particularly those in Bombay and Calcutta, compare favourably with the best in the world The importation of first class thoroughbreds from Australia and England has, owing to the present war conditions, practically ceased, and this has given a big fillip to the indigenous breed, which has made remarkable improvement in recent years. The principal races are the newly framed Indian Derby and the Echipse Stakes of India, both run in Bombay, and the King-Lmperor's and Viceroy's Cups at Calcutta The annual meetings at Bangalore, Mysore and Secunderabad were not held, owing to travel restrictions

Golf—The game has a big following, and almost every town of any size has its own course. The Royal Calcutta Golf Club's "A" course is considered the best in the country, and the one recently laid out by the Bombay Presidency Golf Club, at Chembur, holds great promise. In view of the seriousness of the War situation, it was feared that the annual Golf Week at Nasik, always popular with followers of the game in Western India, would have to be dropped, but the excellent support forthcoming made it possible for the event to materialise and prove as successful and enjoyable as any of its predecessors

Tenns—Tennis is looked after by the All-India Lawn Tennis Association through its provincial associations, and a definite effort was being made, until comparatively recently towards the improvement of its standard of play by the employment of expert coaches and the selection of young players for these coaches to work on, the aim of the parent body having been the training of a Davis Cup team. The shortage of tennis balls, however, has compelled this scheme to be temporarily stopped and has also resulted in many popular annual tournaments in the big centres, particularly Bombay, not being held

Athletics —There is an All India Olympic Association, with subordinate associations in most of the provinces, but athletics generally do not approach the standard of other games. There was noticeable improvement in the Games held in some of the provinces, but in no case did the performances approach International standard. Lack of tracks and suitable training grounds is a big handicap to progress being made, but the governing body is tackling this question and a big improvement was noticeable at Patiala where cinder and cycle tracks were used during the All-India Games

Other Games —Most of the other games have their controlling organisations Table Tennis and Billiards have caught on wonderfully with all classes, and Badminton has made appreciable progress Amateur boxing is strong in Bombay, Bengal, Lahore and in the Services but is still in its infancy in other parts of the country.

Rai Pithora, which proved to be an shape of a crescent, the southern arm, he extension of Tomara-Delhi lirst within the centre, and the northern arm being occupied walls of Rai-Pithora and later beyond the same by the Buddhist, Hindu and Jain temples at Siri, Qutubuddin and his successors built respectively. The caves have been numbered the first Muslim Delhi Materials of the Hindu from south to north. The large or main caves temples were used often en block in the construction of the new capital Images and sculptures representing figures of men and animals were scrupulously destroyed

In the middle of the 15th century, the Lodis removed the capital to Agra. Sher Shah built a hall which was probably used as the lecture a wall surrounding the city, his capital, however, was Agra. His son built Selimgarh after his name. Akbar and Jehangir lived maint at facilities older than the other two caves. The other Agra, Lahore and Ajmer. The lath Muslim Caves have been more or less destroyed. Delhi is Shahjahanabad, the city of Shahjahan, Further up is the Maharbara cave. The which is now known as Old Delhi. A little further up is the cave of Visvaharma, the tomb the gateway of the chief mosque at Budaun (UP) form the early great Muslim edifices of India The Qutb mosque was named after a Muslim saint Qutbuddin of Ush near Baghdaal It was built in 1100 mer Baghdaal It was built in 1196 under the Vicerovalty of Qutbuddin Albek. The present dilapidated mosque preserves only a small portion of the original one

The Qutb Minar (circumference 47 ft 3 ins at the bottom and 9 ft at the top, height 280 ft) a five storeyed detached minar, was begun by Qutbuddin Aibek and completed by Iyaltimash (1232) It is the most beautiful example known to exist anywhere It does not form part of the mosque, which has its own minars Tradition goes that it makes a pillar of victory, first erected by Prithviraj and later reconstructed by the Muslim emperors Some Muslim had to be quarried or chiselled to turn out accounts say that it had been begun by the Hindus and completed by the Muslims

New Delhi is the creation of the British, European architecture of different generally modified or modernised wherein periods Often features of Muslim has been observed architecture (eg, the dome) added and improved in that light have The appeal of simplicity in magnificence, of correct outlines and proportions forms a great architectural principle

Ellora —The Ellora Hill, containing the cave temples stands about 19 miles north-west of Aurangabad (Hyderabad State) It was known as Grishmeshwara (an appellation of Shiva) and held holy by the Hindus, especially the Sharvites It has the largest cave temple in India, a form of architecture which in its development makes a most remarkable feature of architecture in India 'The caves are excavated in the face of a hill or rather the scarp of a large plateau, and run nearly north and south for about a mile and a quarter, the scarp at each end of this internal throwing out a horn towards the west. The hill has the region, containing 17 large caves below the brow of the scarp and a large number of smaller ones above The Hindu caves are generally more decorated than the other ones and the Kallasha Temple is the most famous of all the cave temples of Ellora Both the architecture and the sculpture of Ellora reached their culmination in the Hindu cave temples They present some excellent specimens of Indian sculpture and architecture (6th 8th cen AD) The gem of the collection is the Kullash temple, a masterpace of Indian architecture and sculpture, with a claim to be called unique of its kind in the averaging from 154 ft wide by 276 ft long with a scarp 107 ft high at the back Colossal in size and ambitions in plan, the whole temple, inside and outside, the roofs, ceilings, walls, pillars, every part of it, has been extravagantly sculp tured with lavish decorations. The sculptures as in the case of Ajanta, Elephanta and elsewhere had been painted with a thin coating of lime plaster to be lower than the water level All the objects of round black stones, of the size of eggs, which found have not yet been studied in detail and there are reasons to think that the yield of even the upper layer cannot be strictly confined within 2750 B C and the subsequent period Excavations of the lower strata may be expected to yield the remains of an older period Failure to read the characters of the seals and inexten-Failure siveness of excavation continue to fortify the sealed character of its ancient inhabitants and their civilisation

It is a very remarkably well planned city All the streets were laid south to north. Nothing Nothing is more welcome to an Indian city than the south The city had necessarily grown most towards the south Lanes are free from a general deviating or serpentine character Homes were two storeyed and the staircases lead not to the lower storey but to outside This feature is not unknown in the houses in the hills This feature Covered balconies or open porticoes are conspicuous by their absence The courtyards are to an extent small Proximity of the dwellings Mohenjo-Daro points to a very crowded city is a city of bricks, fire-burnt and sun-burnt had probably stressed more on drainage than any other ancient city Evidence of underground drains are to be found everywhere They are large and high and provided with matholes. The vastness of the drainage surely reflects the greatness of the upper structures, now very much lost to view It is not known, however, whether the drains led to any common dumping place away from the city, although soak pits have been noticed, but from their size one cannot be sure that they were used as the main dumping grounds flight of steps into one of them would rather suggest that they proved minor temporary nepositories, refuse from which has been systematically scraped off Bathrooms are another feature significant of the cleanliness of the city

The objects found in the remains mainly consist of seals, jewelleries, potteries, figures (human and animal) and toys The seals have on them inscribed characters of a conventionahsed form of pictograph writing, which have not yet been deciphered Most of them are of steatite and of square size The more common animal is difficult to be identified features both equine and bovine, with one horn

Puri (Jagannatham) —A popular Hindu pilgrimage centre on the eastern seaboard of India, specially sacred to the Vaishnavites The White Pagoda of Jagannath or the Lord of the Universe is at Puri The presiding deities are Jagannath (Krishna seen with his disc, Sudarshana), his brother Balaram and his sister Subhadra

The strict commensal rules of the Hindu caste system have no application in Puri, especially in the matter of taking together the Mahaprasada, cooked or uncooked eatables ceremoniously offered to the deity. This is unknown anywhere else in Hindu India. It has been asserted that this peculiar feature. marks Buddhist influence

The temple of Jagannatha is a combination of four temples, which adjoin one other

All the gods and goddesses in the temple and yard are strict vegetarians, except Vimala, in whose honour goats are sacrificed on the second day of Durgapuja at midnight, when Jagan-natha and other gods are supposed to be asleep

There is a very large number of monastic establishments (Maths) at Puri, the most important of which are Shankara, Nimai Chaitanya, Kavir, Nanaka-Shahi and Vidura Math, Chakratirtha, Svarga dvar, and Lokanath

The most important event in Puri is the Car Festival, when an image of Jagannatha is taken in procession in a huge Rath or wooden vehicle

Rameshvaram—An island in the Palk Straits, adjoining Ceylon, and an important Hindu place of pilgrimage, connected with the mainland by railway. It forms the interlude to the closing act of the great performance of South Indian architecture and sculpture

The Great Temple in Rameshvaram grew up in 350 years The principal shrines were built by Udayın Sethupati with the assistance of Pararaja Sekhara (1414) of Ceylon or they had been built by the Ceylonese prince himself They are of a dark, hard limestone never more met again in the temple It is said that they The incomplete were hewn at Trinconamalai north and south gopurams are ascribed to a Deccanese, Kirana Nayar (1420) There are in the temple 2 number of finished minor gopurams and porches and the outer surrounding walls are credited to Udayın Sethupati and Komatti of Nagur, near Negapatam, statues of whom and of whose wife surmount the eastern wall Some minor edifices were constructed in 1450

The principal lingams in the shrine are supposed to have been installed by Ramachandra The principal deity is known as Ramanatha or Ramlinga-Svami. The temple stands near a lake with a suppose of about stands near a lake with a circumference of about three miles

Indian Festivals and Observances.

Bara Wafat — (Death on the 12th) is called in Bengal Fatiha-i-Duwardahum (Prayers of the the Hindus to begin education of their children 12th) as Mauludu-'n-Nabi (Birth of the Prophet) date is 12, Rabi I

It is a joint celebration of the birth and the death of the Muslim Prophet In some parts of India it is celebrated only as the birthday of the Prophet (Jashn-i-Milad-Sharif) It is believed that his birth and death took place on the same date, although there are differences of opinion on this—It is a great day of feasting for Muslims (the Wahhabis, however, do not observe it, they regard it to be an innovation or Bidat) On this occasion the life story of the Prophet is recited and its points of excellence stressed Prayers are offered for the benefit of his soul Prayers are also read over cooked food which is then given to the poor Some observe it on the second day of the month As the date is disputed, the more devout read the prayers on all the days from the 1st to the 12th day of the month

Dasara (DASHAMA = TEN DAYS) -This festival is held on the 10th of Ashwin Shuddh (Oct) It is called Durga Puja or Durgotsava, and is supposed to relate to the autumnal equinox The festival commemorates the victory of Devi, wife of Shiva, over the buffalo headed demon Her image is worshipped for Mahishasura nine days and afterwards consigned to the river This is also the day on which Rama murched against Rawann, the demon king of Lanka (modern Ceylon) Early in the morning Hindus perform puja to their household gods or religious books Marathas and Kshatriyas, or those who consider themselves of the martial race, worship their weapons and ask protection for them throughout the year in the faith that, to the propitiousness of the sword, they owe every prosperity In the afternoon they go to the temple in procession.

The day is also considered most auspicious by In Turkey and Egypt the day is known ludu-'n-Nabi (Birth of the Prophet)

12, Rabi I

23 a joint celebration of the birth and the extolling her exploits and describing her rewards to her votaries On the ninth day, at every temple of Durga, the sacred fire is made and fed with rice and ghee to the chanting of mantras It is customary among Bania women to keep up a dance called garba during these nine nights.

The celebration of Dasara is also said to owe its origin to the Pandavas (the five sons of Pandu) who selected this day as an auspicious one for making preparations for their war with their paternal cousins, the Kauravas, which is narrated in detail in the Mahabharata

In modern times Dasara is observed with

Idul-Azha means the (great) sacrificial cere-The festival commemorates mony or festival Abraham's offer to sacrifice the object dearest to him, his son Ishmael (not Issae), on Mount Mina close to Mecca (the Bible gives the name of the land as Moriah) Its observance is one of the necessary acts in the performance of the Haj All adult Muslims who can afford it are required to make a sacrifice of an animal the animal is a big one (eg, a camel or a cow), it is allowed to be the joint offering of seven, (according to some authorities as many as seventy) It is meritorious to sacrifice one animal for each member of the family, but on economic grounds the sacrifice of one animal for a whole family is allowed A fully grown up and sound camel, cow, goat or sheep is considered in silver fligree—and indeed of every variety oest The sacrifice is offered with a short prayer of material, from pure silver to bamboo and absolutely surrendering the soul to Allah and paper, according to the rank and wealth of the acknowledging. His greatness as the land and paper, according to the rank and wealth of the acknowledging His greatness as the accepted party-are exhibited and conveyed in proces The mert is distributed equally among the poor, the relatives and friends and members of the household

In India the cow is the usual beast of sacrifice In other Muslim countries the camel takes its place. The cow being held most sacred by Hindus, the more popular Muslim monarchs of India (possibly a few of Afghanistan as well) had stopped its slaughter out of consideration for Hindu sentiment

'Id-ul-Fitr —" The festival of breaking fast," called also Ramazan ki'ld, and "the feast of alms," is celebrated on the 1st of Shavval On this day Muslims bathe, put on new clothes, apply antimony to the eyes, and perfume themselves, then distribute the fitr or sadl ah, which is 2½ seers of wheat, dates, or any grain used for food, to the poor or religious mendicants. All then proceed to the Idgah, represent "God is great." There are no code repeating "God is great od is great There is no God The Mulla ascends the mimbar " but God" and after a short thanksgiving pulpit, Khutbah reads the or sermon He then descends to the lowest step (which with the Shiahs is the third, but the fourth with the Sunnis) and recounts the virtues of the king, and prays for him Then a general prayer is offered, and the congregation rise with a shout of Din'—"Faith!" and fire of muskets The evening is spent in rejoicing and merriment

Khordadsal — The birthday (the 6th day of the 1st Parsi month, Farvardin, 10th Sept) of Zarathustra, the Prophet of the Parsis He is the earliest known founder of a great religion fortnight to the 9th of the ball day of the office of faith, courage and, hope The exact date case it lasts for eight days. > Muharram (Ar Muharram, 'most sacred') — The mourning held annualy in remembrance of the first martyrs of Musalmans, Hasan and Husain, from whom the whole race of Sayads are descended Abu Muhammad al Hasan and Husain were the two sons of 'All bin Abi Taleb, the cousin, and Tatimah, the daughter The Muslims are divided into of Muhammad two distinct sects, called the Shiahs and the Sunnis, the former regard Ali and his descen dants Hasan Husain, Zain ul-Abidin, Muham mad Buqar, Jafar Sadik, and Ismail bin Jafar Sadik, as the lawful leaders after Muham mad, and the latter, the Caliphas, as Abubakar, Omar, Oosman and 'Ali—hence quarrels, Omar, animosities, and dislikes are hoarded up to be avenged during Muharram Taziyas (a term signifying grief, applied to a representation of the mausoleum erected over the remains of Imam Husain at Karbala) made of ivory, ebony, sandalwood, cedar, and sometimes wrought sion through the streets

Navroz, Nauroz —Jamshed of "the seven-ringed cup," who fixed the Parsi calendar, marked the day on which the Sun enters Aries (20th or 21st March) to be the New Year's Day. It is held that he chose to make the state entry on this day to the newly founded capital of Persepolis The festival was given the name of Id of Jamshed and it has been celebrated with the greatest colat in both Parsi and Muslim Iran (Persia) Shah Jalaluddin commenced his administrative year from this day The Shiahs celebrate the day as Id-i-Khilafat or the festival in commemoration of 'Ali's formal succession on this day to the Caliphate At Hyderabad (Deccan) and Murshidabad (Bengal) the New Year's Day is observed with great pomp For the Parsis it is only next and splendour they begin the Fasli (agricultural) year on this day Navroz is one of the three calchested day Navroz is one of the three celebrated Jashans of ancient Iran Modern Iran cele brates the festival as a national event

Pajjusana — A great Svetambara Jain stival Literally it means serving with a festival whole hearted devotion Formerly it was only observed by the ascetic order, but now the larty also do so The festival, as is common to all Jain festivals, is marked with rigorous fasting and penance

Two schools, both of the Svetambara sect, observe the festival on slightly different dates, either from the 12th or the 13th day of the dark He fortnight to the 9th or the 5th day of the bright period, while others fast on the last day only

Hindu Trinity on the 9th lunar day (narami) of Ehravana (July August) is v ry sacred to of Chatra (March April) Besides Rams his Shiva Hence Shivaratri of Magha is generally consort Sits and brothers I v bmana Bharata (calded Manshivaratri (maha meaning great) and Shatrughna are also worshipped Prayers are offered to them at intervals of three hours. The day is one of strict f sting. The night is spent in worshipping. The learned give discovered the strict of the stric courses upon Rama s life stressing its excellent points as examples for man to follow A legend (the crata kath) relating to the origin of this ceremony with pointers to the merits of observ eremony with pointers to the merits of observa-ing it is recited. At Furi (Jagannath) an incar-n tion of Rama (Fuh u) in his representative figure Madanamohana is dressed as Rama and worshipped with great eci t. On this day oblations are offered to the departed ones

In some cases preparatory ceremonies com mence from the first day of the waning moon In the evenings s rmons or discourses (k thas) are delivered in the temples of Ram. The I mily must be kenly feell g the doub birth is celebrated at 12 noon of the ninth day of this day is observed by a great many people as the New Year's day.

Ram Lila —An open air amateur dramatic representation of selected episodes from Rama s life The performance continues all through the Navaratra (the first nine days of the bright fortnight of Asvin (Sept Oct) and the Vijaya Dashami (the tenth lunar d y) Every day in the afternoon one act is played the b ttle betw en Rama and Rav na being the most popular theme

In the Mahabharata, Bhishma the great dibate most scholarly and valorous celibate cellbate most senoiarly and valorous prince relates that King Chitr bhanu of the Ikshvaku dynasty popularised the festival. On this day when the Kin was fasting a sage suggested to him that the human soul bein. one with God indulgence in pleasure to the self and not infliction of pain to it by fasting would The King explained that th please God best self of flesh and blood was not the real self and narrated the legend of a fast. In a previous life, the King was born a hunter. One drk night he lot his way in the forest and took inight no 10 t nis way in the lores and took ashelter for the night on a birs or bel (Indian wood apple) tree The hunter had no food for the whole day and was ruminating on how his f mily must be keenly feell g the double misery may be the belief of the combined to the birth of of st rving and mis ing him He wept bitter to have a better view of the lie of the land and approaching game he tore away and threw down the boughs and leaves obstructing his vision. It so happened that that night Shiva was under that biles tree and the tears and was under that ourse tree and the tears and leaves fell on him. Shiva was propilitated by this act of the hunte although unknowingly done and declared that if anybody fasted on that day and worshipped him with offerings of water and bitap petals he would on de th be ccepted in Shiva a heaven

Another account in later Puranic stories (e.g. L. ya Pu. na) n rrates that a hunter spending the day imprisoned in a Shaiva mon s tery or temple for having failed to pay his d bt was let out on p role. the present Ruler of Benares
Born: on 5th November, 1927
Succeeded April 5, 1939

H H the Maharaja being a minor, the administration of the State is carried on by a Council of Administration

The State of Benares under its Hindu Rulers existed from time immemorial and finds mention in Hindu and Buddhist literature. In the 12th century it was conquered by Sahab-uddin Ghori and formed a separate piovince of the Mohammadan Empire. In the 18th century, Raja Mansaram, an enterprising Zemindar of Gangapur, obtained a Sanad from the Emperor

Mohammad Shah of Delhi in the name of his son Raja Balwant Singh in 1738 and founded the Benares State, which comprised the four Sirkars of Benares, Ghazipur, Jaunpur and Chunar Raja Mansaram died in 1740 and his son Balwant Singh became the virtual ruler During the next 30 years attempts were made by Safadar Jung and after him by Shuja-ud-daula of Oudh to destroy the independence of the Raja, but the latter withstood them successfully, strengthened his position and built the fort of Ramnagar on the bank Raja Balwant Singh died in 1770 and was succeeded of the Ganges by his son Chet Singh He was expelled by Warren Hastings and Balwant Singh's daughter's son Mahip Narain Singh' was placed on the Gadi The latter proved an imbecile and there was maladministration, which led to an agreement in 1794 by which the lands held by the Raja in his own right were separated from the rest of the The direct control of the latter province was assumed by the British Government under an arrangement by which the surplus revenue was granted to the Raja while the former constituted the Do-On the 1st of April, 1911, the major portion of these Domains became a State The town of Ramnagar and its neighbouring villages were ceded by the British Government to the Maharaja in 1918 and became part of the State The State now consists of three districts, viz, Bhadohi, Chakia and Ramnagar H H the Maharaja of Benares, though a minor, is very an lous to see the successful end of the present The Council of Administration, war in favour of the British nation Benares State, have invested Rs 49,06,800 in war loans, and have also contributed nearly Rs 99,157 to H E the Viceroy's War Purposes Fund, Rs 7,398 to the Lady Linlithgow's Red Cross Fund and Rs 7,318 to Red Cross War Purposes Efforts are in progress for the formation to Red Cross Week Fund; UP The officials of the of Civic Guards in the Districts of Benares State State have also contributed to His Excellency's War Purposes Fund

HOPAL: Col AIR COM-MODORL HIS HIGHNESS THE NAWAB SIKANDER SAULAT ITTIKHAR-UL-MULK MUHAMMAD HAMIDULLA KHAN. BAHADUR, GCSI, GCIE, CV.O, BA, LL.D, the present Ruler of Bhopal, succeeded his mother, Her late Highness Nawab Sultan Jehan Begum, in May, 1926, when, weighed down by age and cares of State, she abdicated in his favour to his accession, His Highness actively participated in the administration for nearly ten years as Chief Secretary and afterwards as Member Finance and Law and Justice He was also the Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes during 1931-32, and attended

various sessions of the Round Table Conference in London to advise and participate in the deliberations of that body and its committees on the subject of political reforms for India This year again, he has been elected chancellor of the Chamber of Princes

An all-round sportsman au fait with every game, Eastern or Western, it is particularly in polo that His Highness is best known as one of the greatest players of the generation and enjoys international fame. No less conspicuous are his achievements in administration which functions directly under his personal and active supervision

The administration is assisted by a Legislative Council, which represents traders, cultivators, Jagirdars, and general urban interests elected through joint or mixed popular constituencies. Parallel with it, a Patels' Assembly representing a federation of rural communes stands for the great body of cultivators throughout the dominion. There is a complete separation between judicial and executive authority, the Government itself being subject to the laws it makes

Bhopal is notable as the principal Muslim State of Malwa and in India, second only to the State of Hyderabad. It is rich in deposits of iron, bauxite, mica, and other valuable minerals and is rapidly growing industrially. A number of manufacturing concerns like the Bhopal Textile Mills, the Straw-board Factory, the Sehore Sugar Factory, the Narbada Valley Refrigerated Products Co, the Central India Chemicals Ltd, the Hamidia Match Factory, a tent factory, an oil mill, a glue factory, besides several ginning and pressing factories, form the keystone of the new industrial order in Bhopal

In the present conflict as in the last Great War, the response of Bhopal has been most enthusiastic. Apart from contributions in the form of gifts, investments now exceeding a million and a quarter and subscriptions for the purposes of a wide war effort, His Highness' gift of American securities amounting to over £70,000 was accepted by His Majesty for the formation of a Bhopal Squadron of fighters and the expenditure on the Army already the largest single item in the State budget has now been more than trebled and accounts for no less than 40 per cent of the total revenues of the State. The 20th (Bhopal) I field Ambulance a hospital unit equipped on up to date lines and the Sultama Infantry are already in the field. The latter has been replaced by another unit while a complete Mechanical Transport Unit which received its first training in Bhopal is now on active service. The latest additions to the State Forces are the Bhopal Army Service Corps and a Labour Battalion now on active service. Other contributions include important supplies of timber from State forests.

In March 1941 His Highness visited the Middle East front where he inspected the British and Indian Forces in the field and was present at the famous assault which ended in the subjugation of heran in Entrea. He also paid a visit to Ceylon and the North West Frontier Province where he inspected the defence arrangements and performed the opening ceremony of the hhyber Cunningham

In addition to two convalescent homes in Bhopal and Mussoorle equipped at considerable cost most of the important buildings in the State have been converted to military use A comprehensive scheme of internal security embracing the organisation of a volunteer reserve for police work and the formation of a new battalion which replaces the Sulta ma Infantry is designed to relieve the British Military Command of the obligation to maintain the internal tranquillity of the State aerodrome somewhere in the State laid three years ago has experienced further expansion to serve as an important link in aerial communica Every possible expedient is being tried to make the State's contribution adequate for a total war effort. Several non official committees including women's organisations are in charge of soldiers welfare work whose family needs are given special attention A Red Crescent Society under Her Highness the Begum Consort provides amenities for troops abroad The Command Staff of the Bhopal State Forces has been re organised and arrangements are under way to mechanise a portion of the army Auxiliary nurses for the Government of India are being trained at the Prince of Wales Hospital Bhopal

A new department under the direct supervi ion of the Ruler has taken over charge of Civil Defence accommodation on a vast scale is made for hospitals for which which who other butkings have been requisitioned regular classes are held at several centres in the city to initiate the people in defence services of which the A R P and First Aid sections are already highly advanced Bhopal wis the first to organise its National War Front After a preliminary organisation in the city the ramifications of the movement have been steadily interlimited, into a scheme of wide rural publicity. The youth in rural areas has been organised into village guards formations. The strength of the forces hitherto mobilised exceeds 100 000 roughly about 13 per cent of the total population of the State

Specially notable has been the success of the State effort to tide of or the present scarcity in food stuffs. The State has not only exported large supplies of grains especially wheat to areas hard hit by scarcity but has also maintained civiling supplies all over the State at cheap rates.

MIKANER. LIEUTENANT-COLONEL HIS HIGHNESS Maharajadhiraja Raj Raji shwar NARENDRA SHIROMANI MAHARAJA SRI SADUL SINGHJI BAHADUR IS the 22nd Ruler of Bikaner since its foundation by Rao Bikaji in 1465 His father, His late Highness Maharaja Sri Ganga Singhji Bahadur, G c s i , GCIL, GCVO, GBE, KCB, A -D -C , 11 D , reigned from 1887 to 1913 and the services rendered by him to the British Crown form one of the brightest chapters in the history of British connection with India

Born on the 7th Sept. 1902 Ascended the Throne on the 2nd February 1943

Salute Permanent 17 and Local 19

His Highness worked as Chief Minister from 1920-25 He was attached to H R.H the Prince of Wales' Staff during the latter's tour in India in 1921-22 He attended the Coronation Darbar at Delhi in 1911 when he was appointed a Page to H I M the King-Emperor George V and has visited Europe several times He accompanied his father to Europe when he attended the Peace Conference and the Meetings of the Assembly of the League of Nations in 1924

On the very day of his return from Europe in Sept 1938, in view of the then critical international situation as a result of the Czechoslovakian crisis, and again on the outbreak of the present World War in Sept 1939, His Highness, as the Heir-Apparent, placed his sword and personal services at the disposal of H I M the King Emperor

His Highness the Maharaja, following in the footsteps of his illustrious Father (with whom His Highness' elder son, the Maharaj Kumar accompanied to the Middle East), proceeded on Active Service to the Middle East Theatre of War in November 1943, with his second son, Captain Maharaj Kumar Sri Amar Singhji Bahadur In November 1944, His Highness proceeded to the Assam Burma Front to inspect the Bikaner Bijey Battery, which had taken a conspicuous part in the fight against the Japs in the Arakan and Manipur and Assam

State Administration . The Bikaner State ranks among the foremost progressive States of India, and the narration of the following facts, should be sufficient to establish the enlightened and modern nature of its Administration.

(a) Bikaner was the first State in Northern India to Indiciary (b) It was also the first State to establish a Chief Court in 1910 raise the Chief Court to the status of a High Court in 1922 and to give to the Judiciary complete independence and to separate effectively the Judiciary from the Executive

(a) It was the first State in Rajputana Elective Institutions (and so far the only one) to establish in 1913 a Legislative Assembly which at present enjoys an elected majority with wide powers of interpellation discussion of Budget etc Further reforms of far reaching and fundamental importance were announced recently (b) Local Self Government is firmly established in the State every Nizamat having a District Board and practically every town with a population of over 5 000 and some even with less a Municipality All Municipalities outside the Capital have elected Presidents

Education (a) Education is free in the State Primary Education is in force in the Capital as well as in 8 District Municipalities Besides a College teaching up to M A Classes there are no less than 17 High Schools 34 Middle and Lower Middle Schools and 172 Primary Schools in the State A Teachers Training School has also been established at the Capital (b) Special attention is devot ed to girls education Besides a girls High School (already announced to be raised to Intermediate Standard) and several other girls schools there is in the Capital an institution which is unique at least in Ral putana for the education and truining of Lumaries of the families of the Raiput Nobles under strict purdah arrangements This institution owes its existence to the interest and initiative of H H the Dowager Maharanin Sahib CI (c) A Montesson School for children of both sexes has also been established (d) A public school on modern lines has also been started to impart education according to latest methods of teaching (e) Liberal scholarships are also awarded to State subjects for prosecuting higher studies in technical subjects in India and abroad

"Medical Service" (a) The two large and thoroughly well equipped General Misopitals one for Mean and the other for Nomen and Children costing approximately 161 likhs have deservedly become centres of higher medical treatment for people belonging to other adjoining States and British territory and even distant parts of India Every branch of medical relief is in charge of specialists—expert and highly skilled Physicians Surgeons Oto laryngologist Radiologist Ophthalmic Surgeon Bacteriologist Pathologist and Dentist—and there are arrangements for the most up to date treatment by blood transfusion X Ray deep ray therapy radium etc. There is also a separate well-equipped Tuberculosis Hospital (b) In the Districts also first class Hospitals earls and there are no less than 45 Hospitals and Dispensaries in the State A Maternity and Child Welfare Centre functions in the City (c) The opening of an Ayurvedic College at the Capital has also recently been announced

Revenue Gang Canal (a) The mann irrigation in the State is through the Gang Canal I twas the cherished dream of His late. Highness since 1899 1990 the time of the Great Famine to secure irrigation for his State and in 1995 of the Sutley Walley Project was mooted for harnessing the waters of the Sutley which was also to irrigate the northern portion of the State After protracted negotiations an agreement was reached in 1990 between the Punjab Bihaner and Bahavalpur Governments to carry out this Scheme The Canal now irrigates 737 765 acres in the north west of the State and was opened on the 26th Oct 1927 by Lord Irwin (b) The undertaking was one of exceptional difficulty 797 miles of the Main Canal and ir o miles of the feeder in the old Ghiggar bed had to be lined with concrete at a cost of about Rs 83 lakks Railway communications 157 miles in length to open up the Canal irrigated area had to be built involving very heavy additional outlay

(Bikaner-contd)

(c) The following facts about the Canal are outstanding—

(1) It is by far the longest concrete lined Canal in the world

(2) The length of the Main Canal from Ferozepore Head Works to Shivpur in the Bikaner State is 84 7 miles while the feeder and the distributaries are 850 8 miles long

(3) The cost of construction of the Canal including the share of the cost of Headworks amounted to over Rs 3 crores and 60 lakhs

(4) Besides the above, other expenditure connected with the Canal Colony, like the development of Railways, etc., amounting to about Rs 301 lakhs, was also incurred

(5) Much of this total expenditure of about 3 crores and 90 lakhs of rupees has been met from State Revenues or loans raised in the State

(6) Lands were sold on conditions previously advertised, which were more advantageous than conditions prevailing in the Punjab

(7) The population of the Colony area has risen from 28,957 in 1921 to 1,43,129 in 1931 or an increase of 494 per cent and to 2,63,404 in 1941 or a further increase of 81 per cent

(8) The production of wheat and sugarcane has during this period increased from 2,935 and 16 Bighas respectively in 1928 to 76,490 and 12,382 Bighas respectively in the year 1943-44

Bhakra Dam (a) There is a very extensive area in the North in the Ganganagar, Padampur, Hanumangarh, Nohar and Bhadra Telisils which would also be irrigated when the Bhakra Dam Project is put into effect. According to this project, the gross area in the State likely to benefit by irrigation is about 12,05,600 acres. The State's share of the cost of this project is estimated at about Rs 8 crores. Should this Scheme materialise, practically the whole northern area of the State would come under irrigation. (b) Recently a most farreaching reform in the revenue administration of the State has been launched for the grant of Occupancy and Proprietary Rights to the cultivators throughout the State with powers of alienation and mortgage.

In the Canal area, full proprietary rights have been given to the colonists and to the old settlers

Railway The Bikaner State Railway now extends to 883 05 miles and the capital invested amounts to more than 4½ crores, including a capital outlay of Rs 20 lakhs on its own Workshops

Census The population of the State according to the Census of 1941 is 12,92,938 This gives an increase of 38 I per cent over the figure of 9,36,218 recorded in 1931 The 1931 Census itself had recorded an increase of 41 9 per cent over the Census of 1921

Privy Purse and Civil List (a) Bikaner State was one of the first Indian States in which was introduced, as long ago as 1902, the system of having a separate and well-defined Civil List and Privy Purse on modern lines and a clear dividing line between personal expenditure of the Ruler and that of the State (b) The allotment to Privy Purse and Civil List does not exceed 9 per cent of the ordinary revenues of the State and it has been laid down that in no case the amount drawn for the Civil List and the Privy Purse shall exceed the sum of Rs 20,00,000 a year

Nation-building Departments It is an accepted policy of the State that as far as practicable not less than 10 per cent of the total revenues be spent every year on the Nation building Departments As it is the expenditure on Beneficent Departments amounts to

Rs 26 86 523 (Budget Estimates for 1944 45)

Water Supply and Rural Reconstruction— The Sadul Water Supply and Rural Reconstruction Fund has recently been established for providing drinking water and drainage facilities to the people of the Capital and other towns and an additional annual provision of Rs 1 lakh has been sanctioned in the State Budget for the construction of wells tanks and bunds in rural areas

Abolium or Reduction in Taxation —With a view to alleviate the hardships of people. His Highness has been pleased since his accession to the Throne in February 1943 to abolish the import duty on articles of personal use in addition to the remission of several traditional and customary levies and the reduction in other taxes and cesses

In a Proclamation dated the 23rd Oct 1041 His late Highness had amounced that the following 8 principles of good Government would as teretofore be scrupulously adhered to by himself and his successors—

(1) Reign of Law including certainty of Law and the recognition of the equality of all the subjects of the State high or low before the Law

Security and Protection of Life and Property and of Rights and Individual Liberty

(3) Independence of a competent and trained Judiciary and the provision of adequate machinery for the adjustment of disputes between individuals and between individuals and the State

4) Financial Credit and Stability

Efficiency and Continuity of Administration

(6) Clear demarcation of State expenditure and the personal expenditure of the Ruler and a definite and fixed percent age of the Ordinary Revenues of the State as the Civil List of the Ruler sufficient to meet his personal expenses and to maintain his position and dignity

(7) Utilisation of as large a proportion as possible of the resources of the State for the benefit of the people and especially in what are known as Nation building activities and Benefi cent Departments and

(8) Beneficent Rule in the interests of the general well being and contentment of the subjects of the State and the increasing association as circumstances and local conditions permit of the people with the Government through the Legislative Assembly Local Boards and other Elective Institutions

A substantial measure of responsible government has been introduced in Cochin. The Government of the State is carried on by His Highness the Maharaja through the Diwan in relation to 'reserved subjects' and through a Minister responsible to the Legislature, appointed under the Government of Cochin Act, in relation to 'transferred subjects' A Legislative Council with a predominant non-official majority and elected on a very wide franchise has been constituted

In point of education the State occupies a front rank among the Indian States and Provinces There are 702 educational institutions in the State, including five First Grade Colleges, with a total strength of 1,90,962 students Besides these there are 286 unrecognised indigenous schools with a strength of 6,827 students

The State maintains 57 Allopathic Hospitals and Dispensaries, 7 Ayurvedic Hospitals, 29 Dispensaries and 8 Vishavaidyasalas Local administration is carried on by six Municipalities and 87 Panchayats in the villages

His Highness has placed the entire resources of the State at the disposal of the Imperial Government for the victorious prosecution of the war. To mark the occasion of His Highness' Installation, a donation of one lakh of rupees has been made to the Cochin State Military Benevolent Fund launched for the benefit of ex-servicemen from the State, in the Navy, Army, Air Force, and the Cochin State Forces. The State has been contributing to H. E. The Viceroy's Fund Rs. 10,000 a month from August 1940 onwards. Nearly Rs. 4,60,000 has been contributed to other funds. In February 1945, His Highness gave one lakh of rupees to H. E. the Viceroy's Fund. Cochin is playing a worthy part in supplying the needs of India's Defence Services.

was created a K C S I in 1935

The Rulers of Dungarpur belong to the Gehlot Ahara Clan of the Ssodia Rapputs and are the eldest branch of the House of Udapur The separation of the Dungarpur House from the House of Mewar dates from Vikram Samvat 1228 (AD 1171) when Rawal Samant Singh Ruler of Mewar and the eldest son of Ra val Kshem Singh left his patrimony and migrating south slew Chaurasimal the Parmar Ruler of Vagad the ancient name for the Country comprising the present States of Dungarpur and Banswara with its Capital at Batpat rak or Baroda The early rulers of whom Devpaldev and Virsingh are worthy of special note gradually extended their territory by driving out the Parmas from Galiakot and Arthoona. It was Mahara wal Dungar Singh who founded the present Capital and named it Dungarpur after himself Among subsequent rulers Maharawals Gopinath and Somdas are noteworthy for the resistance they offered to the Sultans of Gujerat and Malwa

On the death of Maharawal Udai Singh I a warrior of great repute who fell fighting against the Emperor Babar in 1528 A D attitude battle of Khanwa the State of Vagad was split up the portion to the west of the river Mahi with the Capital Dungarpur being retained by the elder son Prithvi Raj and the eastern portion now forming the State of Banswara going to the younger son Jagmal

Since the assumption of ruling powers by the present Wisharaja commendable activity has been witnessed in all branches of administration. The construction of the Hirst Reservoir costing about Rs. 12 crores the grant of one crore of rupees for rural reconstruction and the establishment of a Degree College for women as also the scheme for construction of an up to date I emile. Hospital are some of the important beneficent measures undertaken during the period. The network of roads has been utilized by motor bus services run by the Gwalior and Northern India Trinsport Company and those places which were unconnected are now being joined with important high ways. His Highness also constructed at Madha Sagar a scriptine base which serves as a halting station for the boats flying on the Imperial Air Line.

In matters of administration His Highness is assisted by a Council of Ministers under his direct control. The State Army consisting of Cavalry, Infantry and Artillery units is well organized and is considered to be the best among Indian State Forces. The State maintains its own Postal system and a light Railway.

Educationally the State is much advanced. There are two degree Colleges at Gwalior, the Capital, including one for women, at Ujjain, and High Schools in practically all the districts. Recently by a proclamation the Intermediate College at Ujjain has been raised to the status of a Degree College and the Jivaji Rao High School, Gwalior and the Mardzaur High School have been made Intermediate Colleges. There are a few technical schools imparting education in arts and crafts and there is a Public School in the Gwalior Fort which is run on English Public School lines.

The political reforms announced in June 1939 were further supplemented by His Highness's Proclamation of September 1941. The strength of the Praja Sabha which was formerly 85 has been raised to 90, and of this number 55 instead of 50 will be elected representatives, thus providing for a still greater non-official element in the Lower House. The Praja Sabha and Raj Sabha (Upper House) will have identical powers and the range of their functions will be co-extensive.

The communities and interests to which special protection has been afforded are the Muslims, the Bhils, the backward classes and women To each of these a minimum number of seats have been guaranteed in the Praja Sabha To Muslims and women seats have been guaranteed in the Raj Sabha also

Another special feature of the recent reforms is that the legislature will have the power of discussing the constitution as well

The State has a Legislative Council of twenty-two members, eight of whom are elected and an Executive Council of eight members with a President—It maintains its own paper currency and coinage, postal system, railways and army—It has a University with six Arts Colleges including one for Women and Colleges for Engineering, Medicine, Law and Teaching—It has also an Honours College affiliated to Madras University, a College for Jagirdais and a College of Physical Education There are also a Village Industries Training Centre, a Central Technical College and an Observatory—A State Bank was established two years ago with an authorized capital of Rs 1,50,00,000—The State is of great historical and archaeological interest as, within its limits, are situated many capitals of ancient and mediaeval Deccan kingdoms, famous forts, temples, mosques and shrines, and the wonderful Buddhist sculptures and paintings of Ellora and Ajanta

Constitutional reforms of a far-reaching character were announced in 1939 based mostly on the recommendations of a predominantly non-official committee. Under the new reforms scheme a much enlarged Legislative Assembly, with an elected majority and a specifical list of matters within its purview, is to be established. The basis of representation both for the Assembly and for all local bodies will be functional with joint electorates. The new constitution also provides for the setting up of a number of Advisory Committees on Religious affairs, Finance, Education, Public health, Industrial and Agricultural development and Hindu and Muslim Endowments to advise the member of Govt concerned on these matters for the reconstruction of the Hyderabad Civil Serv e Committee the setting up of Appoint ment Boards to control recruitment to Government services the establishment of village Panchayats and the reconstitution and expansion of evisting District Boards and District Municipalities and Town Committees A new Press Legislation is also on the anvil

In spate of difficult conditions created by the war progress continued to be made with the scheme of gradual implementation of constitutional reforms in the State Statutory Advisory Committees and Panchayats have already been formed and the former started functioning Since 1942 District Conferences are held every year and regulations regarding Town and Municipal Committees District Boards and Sanitary Powers have been promulgated

Hyderabad and War Foremost among the units of Prancely India Hyderabad is in the forefront of all Indian States and even many British Indian provinces in the matter of her practical contribution to the war effect of the country. No sooner had hostilities broken out in Europe than His Exalted Highness the Nizam the Faithful Ally of the British Government in keeping with the traditional policy of the House of Asaf Jah offered unstitled cooperation and placed his services and the entire resources of his Dominions at the disposal of the British Government.

His Exalted Highness has not only placed his Delhi and Bombay places at the disposal of the Government of India for war purposes but has also donated from his pray purse Rs. 16 lakhs. Govt donations amounted to Rs. 5. 41 lakhs. This is in addition to the war expenditure both durect and indirect of 5.7 crores and a contribution of Rs. 50.23 crores in subscription to the Govt of India 8 Defence Bonds Following the lead of their august Master the public of Hyderabad have contributed so far Rs. 42. lakhs. Besides these eight units of the Regular Forces are now serving on various fronts both in India and abroad

This does not however by any means exhaust the list of measures which have been and are being taken by the Government and people of Hyderabad to contribute their quota to the country's war effort A special organization has been created and entrusted with the task of aligning Hyderabad industries with the war effort All State workshops are manufacturing war material in large quantities A centre has been established to train technicians required for the Indian Army and Air Force. Hyderabad has also the distinction of hard an Elementary Fijing Training School opened some years ago. This institution was established at a capital cost of Rs 1.75 lablis. Besides the textile industry has produced 19 6 million yards of cloth of various kinds 3.3 lakhs of hospital sheets and large quantities of other material required for war purposes.

The share of the women of Hyderabad in the war effort of the State has been considerable. Under the active leadership of Her Highness the Princess of Berar, who is the President of the Women's War Work

Committee, they have provided large number of articles of comfort for troops on active service. The Xmas and New Year Gifts to troops from Hyderabad have been an annual feature.

Capital Hyderabad Population 728,400 (1941) It is interesting to note that in the race of cities for places Hyderabad has succeeded in retaining her previous position that of being the fourth largest city in the Indian Empire The city is beautifully situated on the banks of the river Musi with fine public buildings, broad cement roads, good electricity and water supply and an efficient bus service run by the State Railway Among interesting places are the Char Minar, and Mecca Masjid, the fort and tombs of Golconda, the large artificial reservoirs the Osman Sagar and the Himayat Sagar—and the Osmania University

His Exalted Highness has always evinced a keen interest in the industrial development of his State and any new venture finds a ready response from him. He places the prosperity of his subjects above everything else. He is deeply solicitious of the welfare of the Depressed Classes and through the unremitting labour of his Government many new schemes for promoting their welfare have been enunciated HEH has kept up the tradition of the House-of Asafjah to observe absolute impartiality in matters pertaining to the religion of different communities in the Dominions.

With a view to encouraging recrimtment for War Services H H has ordered that 50 per cent of the vacancies should be reserved for those who have rendered approved war service. And the fullest co operation is being offered to the Government of India in a number of other matters connected with the war

The scheme regarding the conferment of emergency commissions was given due publicity and a number of candidates have been recommended Similarly applications for other kinds of War Services are being forwarded both from the State servants and the public Special steps have been taken to effect recruitment to the Medical Services for the war important concessions being announced in favour of those in the State Medical Services for myrate practice who offer themselves for War Services Candidates from the State were also recommended under the Bevin Training Scheme

The Holkar State War Front has been set up its work being carried out by the Holkar State War Front Council and its Propaganda and Publicity Sub-committee A fully equipped cine van has been made available for visual propaganda in the interior of the State An organ isation has been set up to carry on an intensive drive in connection with the small savings scheme within the State

Liberal concessions in land revenue have been made to give impetus to the Grow More Food campaign. In order to deal with the food problem Indore was the first in India to introduce successful rationing by the coupon system. The arrangements earned praise from all quarters including the Economic Advisers to the Central and United Provinces Governments both of whom visited Indiore to study the working of the scheme and expressed their complete satisfaction. The scheme featured in a BBC Broadcast as well. All the textile mills in the State continue to be engaged in executing very substantial orders of the War Supply Department. His Government had introduced their own system of supplying standard cloth to the poor population of the State, but eventually joined the All-India Standard Cloth Scheme

H II with his characteristic zeal for measures calculated to further the successful prosecution of war, convened a unique conference at Indore, of all the Patels (headmen) of the State, with a view to bringing home to the headman of each village the responsibility resting on his shoulders for the defence of his village, intensification of the 'Grow More Food' campaign and the building up of the morale of the people. His Highness also welcomed the idea of holding the First All India War Front Rally at the capital of his State, which was held in 1943 and proved a great success. The Sixth War Services Exhibition was inaugurated by H. II. the Maharaja on the 231d October 1943, and attracted big crowds. It cost H. H's Government about Rs. 43,000

His Highness recently paid a visit to Persia and Iraq to see troops from his State serving in that command

Under II II 's Commands, a vigorous campaign has been inaugurated to secure the maximum number of recruits from all parts of the State Prominent features of the scheme are the grant of land, rewards in each and kind to serve as an incentive for enlistment

HH the C-in-C has sanctioned the organisation and composition of the Soldiers' Boards in the State Fullest co-operation has been shown in stimulating the recruitment of Indian women for the WAC, particularly for the Naval Wing

The Indore Crop Control Order has been issued to meet the urgent necessity of replacing the production of unwanted crops by foodcrops, as a means of increasing the production of food grain in the State

the Rajkumar College, Rajkot

The Rulers of the State belong to the Clan of Parmar Rajputs who once ruled over Malwa

The State first came into relations with the British Govt. in 1826, and by a subsequent Treaty executed in 1839, the State came to be ranked as a "protected State" under the aegis of the British Govt. At present the State is in direct political relations with the Govt. of India through the Political Agent, Gujerat States Agency, Bulsar The State is included in the Representative Electorate of the Chamber of Princes The present Ruler is the fountain-head of all authority, judicial, legislative, and executive He enjoys plenary powers in civil and criminal matters and has powers of life and death over his subjects, except that sentences of death require the confirmation of the Resident for the Gujerat States. The Rana Saheb is the founder of the Mahikantha Rewa Kantha Chiefs' Association, and in that capacity he presented the case of 104 States of these Agencies before the Indian States Enquiry C'ttee (Financial) at Bombay in Feb 1932 He is a patron member of the All-India Kshttriya Mahasabha, and also a member of the Willingdon Sports Club, Bombay

The Rana Saheb is very popular among his subjects whose welfare and prosperity are his constant aims in life. He has effected several improvements in education, medical relief, agriculture, communications, etc., and the State is making good progress in all directions. A thorough overhauling of the administrative machinery, and the separation of the judiciary and executive, the establishment of a separate Sessions and District Court, as well as the construction of buildings for Hospitals, Schools, Library, Telephone lines, Guest Houses, and Irrigation wells, tanks, etc., mark his progressive rule. The Rana Saheb is a keen sportsman and has bagged 75 panthers and three tigers. He is also a keen social reformer. The Ruler's loyalty, devotion and helpfulness to the British Govt, and the Crown are wellknown. During the present War he has contributed liberally to the several War Funds.

The Maharao of Kutch is the head of the Jadeja Clan, a branch of the old Samma Rajputs who were overlords of Sind some 600 years ago. The Jadejas gradually passed into Kutch, and scions of the clan took possession of various tracts. Early in the 16th century, Maharao Khengarji I became the first Ruler and Rao of the whole country. Bhuj was established as the capital of Kutch in 1549. For the last 125 years there has been a succession of four great Rulers—Desalji II, Pragmalji II, Khengarji III and now Maharao Vijayarajji—all in close friendship and co-operation with the Government of India

His Highness in his earlier days was a great sportsman—his chief sports being cricket, football, tennis, shikar and sculling. He is very fond of both botany and bird life. He has widely travelled in Europe and parts of India, and has a large number of close friends in Britain and in India.

His Highness is putting into practice his schemes for the betterment of his subjects in all directions and for the development of the State's possibilities, notably in irrigation

In spite of 9 consecutive years of deficient rains, His Highness has contributed munificently to the war effort and is working in cordial co-operation with the Government of India for the safety and welfare of India He is a member of the National Defence Council

AYURBHANJ FLIGHT-LIEUTENANT MAHARAJA SIR PRATAP CHANDRA BHANJ DEO, K C I E, Maharaja of Mayurbhanj

Born February 18, 1901 Succeeded on the 23rd April 928

The Maharaja is a member of the Chamber of Princes in his own right Pro-chancellor of the Utkal University

Educated At May o College, Ajmer, and Muir Central College, Allahabad

Married On the 25th November 1925, a daughter of Maharajkumar Sirdar Singhji of Shahpura, Rajputana

Heir-Apparent Tikait Pradeep Chandra Bhanj Deo

Area of State 4,243 square miles Population 990,977 Revenue Rs 34,00,000

Mayurbhanj ranks first in point of population among the States of the Eastern States Agency, numbering 42, of which 23 are known as Orissa States, 16 as Chhatisgarh States, and 3 as Bengal States

The Capital of the State is Baripada, a progressive Municipal town which provides modern amenities. Baripada and the southern parts of the State are served by the Mayurbhanj Railway which takes off at Rupsa, a junction station on the Calcutta-Madras line of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. The northern portion of the State is, likewise, served by a broad-gauge section of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway which connects with Tatanagar on the Calcutta-Bombay line.

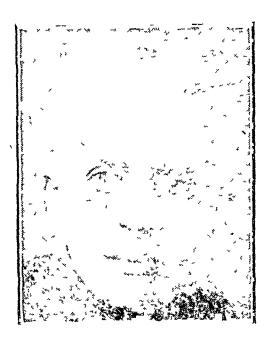

The Ruling family is the head of the Bhanja Vansi Kshatriyas of Orissa and claims to belong to the solar line. The emblem of the State is a peacock and the State crest is a peacock on either side of a shield which bears the device of a trident, a bull, a crescent moon and a lotus in full bloom. The geographical and strategic position of the State constituted it an important buffer State at the time when the East India Company and the Mahrattas were engaged in a struggle for supremacy in Eastern India and Mayurbhanj supported the British cause. During the Mutiny of 1857, the Ruler of Mayurbhanj again distinguished himself as a loyal ally of the East India Company

The administrative machinery of the State is modelled generally on British Indian lines—Judicial independence being secured for it under a full-powered High Court—The State is rich in mineral and forest resources—iron ore mining undertaken by the Tatas forming the principal industry—The State has recently embarked on a policy of rapid and progressive industrialisation and factories for vanadium, glass, textiles, potteries, plastics and plastic products, chemicals and pharmaceuticals have been set up. Cottage Industries also receive due

There is an Industrial School and the share of importance Mayurbhani Tussar Textiles and Cottage Industry products receive appreciation of people both in India and abroad The systematic Geological and Botanical surveys conducted with a view to improving the potential resources of the State have yielded valuable results and large deposits of vanadium bearing magnetite glass sand and kaolin have been discovered. There are 3 major irrigation schemes working at present and new projects are being undertaken yearly to provide facilities for water supply both for irrigational and drinking purposes In order to improve the economic condition of the agriculturists the State has opened an Agriculture Department established granaries and passed several legislative measures besides making liberal annual grants of loans Free medical relief is being given by a fully equipped hospital at the Capital with several branch dispensives spread over the State Primary education is also given free adult education forming an important item of the Rural Reconstruction programme Scholarships are granted liberally and an increased expansion of educational institutions has given a great impetus to the spread of literacy The State is rich in The recent discovery of palæolithic sites and other archæolo, ical finds testify to its ancient civilization and culture

With a view to bringing the people of the State into closer touch with the administration the Maharaja has maugurated 5 Praja Sabbas These representative assemblies consist of a majority of members elected on the basis of adult franchise and they represent all shades of local opinion in matters concerning the welfare of the people in The establishment of a Central Assembly has been announced and it will have the right of (1) making laws (2) discussing the budget and (3) interpellation and right of moving resolutions. Among other important steps taken during the reign of the present Ruler for the amelioration of the conditions of his subjects may be mentioned (1) the opening of the Mayurbhani State Bank (11) Installation of electricity and waterworks at the Capital (111) the introduction of telephonic communication all over the State and (10) the construction and remodelling of administrative buildings The Maharaja is ably assisted by his Dewan Major B P Pande BA LLB FRES (I ondon)

By his singleness of purpose and devotion to duty the Maharaja has inspired the entire population of the State where the war drive is daily gaining in momentum and Mayurbhani is proud of an unbroken history of services to His Majesty the King Emperor and the Empire Besides placing his personal services and resources of the State at the disposal of His Majesty the Maharaja has contributed three first rate air crafts costing approximately Rs 2 6 lakhs for use in connection with the The State has so far given over Rs 24 lakhs to the various war funds and war loans It has already supplied timber costing approvi mately a crore of rupees and has further undertaken to supply large quantities for war purposes The Mayurbhan Central War Efforts Committee and its branches are doing useful work in furthering the war efforts of the State With a view to preserving internal security and tranquility the State has introduced almost all important measures contained in the Defence of India Rules The Maharaja has also directed the issue of a war supplement to the fortnightly State Gazette for dissemination of authentic war news

Born In 1908 Succeeded to the Gads

Dynastic Salute 15 Guns Partabgarh State also called Kanthal was founded in the 16th century by a descendant of Rana Mokal of Mewar

The town of Partabgarh was founded in 1698 by Maharawat Partabsingh the ancient Capital being Deolia among Hills During the time Sawant Maharawat (1775 1844) Kanthal was invaded by the Marathas but the Maharawat arranged to buy off the Holkar by agreeing to pay Rs 72 700 Salam Shahi which was being coined in Partab garh and was accepted as legal tender throughout the surrounding territories in place of Rs 15 000 formerly paid to Delhi The first connection of the State with the British Government was formed in 1804 The earlier Treaty having been cancelled by Lord Cornwallis a fresh Treaty was entered into in 1818 Holkar by the Treaty of Mandsore ceded to the British Government all claims of tribute and revenue of every description which he had or might have had upon the Rajput Princes according to which Partabgarh paid the stipulated Rs 72 700 Salam Shahi (converted later to Rs 36 350 British Coin) to the British Government As this amount was found to be excessive it has been reduced to Rs 27 500 from the year 1937 38

Partabgarh enjoys the high zzzat of being one of the Treaty States in India and possesses plenary jurisdiction. The highest administra tive and executive office is termed Mahakma Khas presided over by the Ruler and the Dewan of the State There is a duly graded judiciary under a separate High Court Judge who is unconnected with the Executive Revenue Rs 10 12 000 Population 91 967

SANDUR RAJA SHRI-MANT YESHWANTRAO HINDURAO GHORPADE, MAMLAKATMADAR SENAPATHI, Ruler of Sandur

Boin 1908 Ascended the Gadi in 1928 Assumed the reins of Government in 1930

Married On 22nd December, 1929, the eldest daughter of Umadat-Ul-Mulk, Raj Rajendra Lieut-Col Malojirao Narsingrao Deshmukh Shitole Rustumlung Bahadur \mathbf{of} Gwalior Heir-Apparent Shrimant Yuvarai Murar Rao Raje Ghorpade, born 7th December, 1931 Second Son Shrimant Rajkumar Ranut Sinh Raje Ghorpade, born 16th February, 1933 Daughter · Shrimant Rajkumari Nirmala Raje Ghorpade, born 8th February, 1934 Third Son Shrimant Rajkumar Vijayasinh Raje Ghorpade, born 18th October, 1937 Fourth Son Shrimant Rajkumar Shivarao Raje Ghorpade, born 13th September, 1940

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

The Ruler of Sandur has a great and glorious tradition to uphold The House of 'Ghorpade' of which he is a true son—there have been no adoptions in this house—was founded in the Deccan centuries ago by Karnasinh, a Sisodia Rajput whose ancestors had died fighting Alauddin Khilji at Chitor The enterprising Karnasinh scaled the walls of the otherwise impregnable hill fort of Khelna (Vishalgad today) by means of a rope tied to a monitor lizard, called "Ghorpad" in Marathi and so acquired the title 'Ghorpade' for himself and his descendants. The line of Shivaji the Great was founded by the younger brother of Karnasinh, but the claim of the Ghorpade family to a place in history is independent of this relationship to the founder of the Mahratta Empire

"The vast region of Southern Maharashtra and Karnatak was long under the sway of the various Ghorpade Families and ruled by them" (Sardesai) The names of Bhyriji, Santaji and Maloji have inspired both terror and pride over this broad tract. Under Bhyriji's grandson, Murar Rao, the celebrated Chief of Gooty, the Ghorpades attained the height of their power. Murar Rao's empire extended as far east as Madras and Pondicherry and he levied a tribute of Rs. 7 lakhs from Mysore and Hyderabad. It was this same Chief of Gooty whose help Clive solicited during the siege of Arcot, and who routed Chanda Saheb, turning the scales and history itself in favour of the British

In 1818 during the time of Shiva Rao the State first came into political relations with the British and its unfettered internal sovereignty was recognised. The State pays no tribute to the Crown and the Ruler has absolute powers.

ADMINISTRATIVE SYSTEM AND REFORMS

Long before modern administrative reforms now urged in Indian States were thought of the Ruler had instituted such a system of administration in Sandur State and this has had the advantage of trial and improvement over many years of peace and five war years. The Ruler is the fountain head of all authority. The administration is carried on by elected representatives of the people and by official councils.

LEGISLATURE

A State Council was established in 1931 lown as Prajamandal consisting of 25 members of whom or are elected. The Prajamandal has the right to initiate legislation move resolutions and ask questions. The second Chamber of the State Legislature was constituted in 1939 with powers to legislate and vote upon the Budget. A Standing Committee was then constituted elected by both Houses of the Legislature further to associate the people in the administration of their own interests and all matters of public interest such as Village Panchayats and Rural Uplift Education Public Health and the levy of new taxes are referred to this Committee

EXECUTIVE

The policy now enunciated of Government by Executive Council was long forestalled by the State The Ruler constituted an Executive Council known as Huzur Darbar in 1931. This was reorganised in 1937 and further strengthened and the procedure adopted was regularised by the issue of the Mantin Mandal Manual in 194. A Constitution Manual was issued in 1943 and this lays down the entire adm in trative system of the State.

JUDICIARY

Sandur is perhaps the pioneer among States of her size to constitute an independent Chief Court presided over by a Nyayadish of unimposach able integrity. This court is competent to refer cases to the Federal Court. The Judiciary has been separated from the executive

The Ruler is present at the Secretariat every Tuesday to hear the grievances of his subjects and no one is denied access to him on that day

A Debt Conciliation Board was constituted in 1936 to relieve agricultural indebtedness By the Temple Entry Proclamation of 1942 the ban on Hanjans worshipping at temples was lifted

EDUCATION

The State established a central educational institution known as Shri Chatrapathi Shivaji Vidyamandir in 194° Students are coached up to the Matriculation standard and special stress is laid on pre-military

education, extra-curricular activities and a study of "Dhainashastra" A Technical Training Centre has been established at Ramgad in collaboration with the Government of India and it is proposed to use this centre, after the war, for imparting technical training to demobilised Mahratta Soldiers and others

MINERAL RESOURCES.

Sandur holds extensive and excellent deposits of important economic minerals, particularly iron and manganese. Mr Bruce-Foote of the Geological Survey of India has observed that "Sandur is one of the richest iron yielding centres in the whole world" Recent geological reports have revealed the Sandur iron ores to be high grade, with over sixty per cent iron metal. Eminent geologists have testified to the high percentage of pyrolusite in Sandur manganese ores, which have obtained first grade unit prices in Continental markets. There are also extensive deposits of red and yellow iron oxides, which on analysis are found to be highly suitable for the manufacture of paints which satisfy I S D specifications. Enormous quantities of high grade jasper, most useful for the manufacture of mosaic tiles, are available. Kaolin of exceptionally good quality, and suitable for application in the paper industry, or for high quality porcelain and refractory manufacture is also found. Sandur forests abound in sandalwood with a rich oil content.

RULER'S ALTIVITIES.

The Ruler accompanied by Shrimant Rani Saheb Maharaj visited Europe in 1935, and Australia in 1939. The Ruler presided over the Akhila Karnatak Literary Conference at Bellary in 1938, when he stressed the need for a common script for India He also presided over the Inter-Group Sports Tournaments of the University of Bombay in December 1940. In Feb 1941, he unveiled the statue of Tanaji Malusre at Sinhgad. The Ruler is the President of the All-India Maratha Educational Conference and a Member of the Chamber of Princes, representing Phaltan, Aundh, Surgana and Sandur. Since the commencement of the war,, the Ruler is taking active personal interest in war efforts both within and outside the State. He is a Member of the Mahratta Officers' Recruiting Committee constituted by His Excellency the Governor of Bombay and his appeal to the Marathas to join the Aimy in large numbers, was widely responded to A Technical Training Centre to train war technicians has been located at Ramgad Hill Station largely by the Ruler's efforts

His Highness is Colonel-in-Chief of the Travancore State Forces, Hon. Colonel of the 12th Malabar Bn and Hon Lt-Col in the British Aimy He is the founder and Chancellor of the Travancore Univ

Although the Ruler of Travancore is legally the source of all authority, judicial, administrative and legislative, yet for more than a century the Maharajas have acted as constitutional monarchs, without, however, failing to maintain effective personal contact with the administration of the State H H the present Maharaja has not only sedulously adhered to these great traditions of his House, but has readily responded to all the legitimate aspirations of his subjects. There is a Legislature consisting of an Upper and a Lower House with a majority of elected members and possessing large legislative and financial powers and powers of interpellation.

In Nov 1936, H H. promulgated the epoch-making Proclamation throwing open all the temples under his control and that of his Government to all classes of Hindus including those hitherto regarded as untouchables, a reform which evoked universal satisfaction and thankfulness all over the world Another humanitarian reform was achieved by H H's Proclamation in Nov 1944, abolishing the death penalty provided for certain offences under the Travancore Penal Code By another Proclamation in 1937, a University designed specially to promote technological studies and research has been established

Among notable legislative measures recently introduced are the Debt Relief Act, which is designed to alleviate the burden of indebtedness and is wider in scope and application than similar enactments elsewhere, and the Trivandrum City Municipal Act which makes provision for the better management of the municipal affairs of the City through a Corporation

have taken under their control nearly the whole of the road transport system in the State They have also a .cheme for nationalising the water traffic on the chain of canals and lagoons which lie fr m end to end of the State. The Travancore Steam Navigation Company has been started for thedeve lopment of coastal traific. They have established the Travancore Credit Bank for granting long term loans to the agriculturists and small industri alists of the State To reduce unemp loyment and to exploit the immense natural resources of the State the Govt have embarked upon a programme of industrialisation

Among the first fruits of this policy may be mentioned the Pallivasal Hydro Electric Scheme the Cera micFactory at Kun dara and the Tray

ancore Sugars and Chemicals Ltd. the last being incorporated in Travancore and manufacturing desides sugar 260 varieties of pharmaceutical products such as hniments liquid extracts liquors pulves spirits syrups and spe cialities including Caffeinaspirin and Lysol The Rubber Factory at Trivandrum is largely engaged in the manufacture of articles for was purposes The Aluminium Smelting Factory at Alwaye which has commenced production of Aluminium has great possibi lities for the future The Glass Factory at Alwaye and the Plywood Factory at Punalur have started work

The Travancore Fertilizers and Chemicals have been started with a capital of five crores of rupees

The construction of a chemical and fertilizer factory at Aiwaye for the manufacture of Ammonium Sul phate and other important chemicals has been taken in hand

Arrangements are being made for establishing a cane sugar factory Central Travan core Schemes are well under way for establishing tories for the manu facture of cement cane sugar caustic fertilizers soda sulphuric acid potassium chlorate ammonium sulpha te acetic acid and carbide cylcum Measures are also in progress for the establishment

H H M h ra i S t Pa rati Baji Motte of H s High ess

Refined salt is being produced on a commercial scale and the State is now able to export salt after meeting all its requirements

The State stands in the fore front of educated India According to the recent census the percentage of literacy on total population is 47 i for the whole State 58 i for males and 36 o for females and the percentage of literacy on the population aged 5 years and over is 55 o for the whole State 67 9 for males and 42 i for females

(Travancore contd)

On the outbreak of the War H. H. the Maharaja generously offered to place the entire resources of the State at the disposal of the British Govt He has not only made munificent contributions to the War Fund but sent the First and Second Infantry Units of the State Forces on active service He has contributed Rs. 6,50,000 for equipping the trawler and mine sweeper "HMIS Travancore" for the use of the R. I N and Rs 1,50,000 for the purchase of two fighter planes for the R A. F Besides, H H has contributed Rs 1,430,000 to H. E. the Viceroy's War Fund, Rs 2,00,000 to H E the Viceroy's Comforts Fund, Rs 1,10,000 for Red Cross Work, Rs. 150,000 for Women's War Work, Rs 25,000 to the King George's Fund for sailors, Rs. 15,000 to H E the Governor's War Fund, Rs 10,000 to St. Dunstan's Fund and Rs 1,000 to General de Gaulle's Funds for amenities to the French prisoners of war H H. Maharani Setu Parvati Bayi has contributed Rs 1,00,000 to H E the Viceroy's War Fund apart from contributions towards equipping a Field Ambulance Unit and to other funds.

H. H's benefactions include large sums of money for earth-quake relief, for fight against tuberculosis and similar purposes and annual donations to several philanthropic and scientific bodies. Among his other charitable works is the establishment of a home for the destitute and the infirm. He has founded an Art Gallery at the capital in addition to the one he maintains in the Palace. H. H's hobbies are tennis photography, riding and motoring

Travancore is one of the most populous and important of Indian States, next only to Hyderabad and Mysore in population and revenue and occupies the south-west corner of the Indian Peninsula. ALMIA, SETH RAM-KRISHNA, runs a chain of Cement Factories, a Paper Mill, many Sugar factories which rank among the largest of their kind in India, Electric Companies, Chemical Works, a Plywood factory, a number of collieries, large Agricultural farms, a public Railway carrying . passengers and goods, the Bharat Insurance Co. Bharat Fire & General Insurance Ltd. Bharat Bank Ltd, and many other concerns Despite these and other notable enterprises, his private life is one of rigorous simplicity and he gives away most of his income in charities

His ancestors, rich aristocrats of the Marwari community, originally belonged to Dalma, a village in the Punjab States, from where they derived their family name Dalmia From Punjab, his ancestors migrated to Jaipur State, and to Seth Harjimal, a scion of the Dalmia family, were born two sons, Ramkrishna and Jaidayal Ramkrishna's daughter, Shrimati Ramadevi, a highly educated and cultured lady, is married to Seth Shanti Prasad Jain, also a leading industrialist and business magnate Seth Jai Dayal and Seth Shanti Prasad are his loyal and closest business associates who have quietly organised the Dalmia-Jain Group of Industries

Ramkrishna began life at the early age of 12, being apprenticed to a firm on Rs 10 a month, and made a mark when he was in his teens. His schooling was desultory, but by assiduous home study, he mastered the essential principles of economics and finance. Throughout his stormy career, which was full of numerous ups and downs, he has pre-eminently been a "Karmayogi", and his steadfastness and strong will-power have raised him to his present position. Besides his mastery of technicalities of finance and economics, he has also acquired a good knowledge of English, Hindi, Bengali and Gujerati, all of which he speaks well and with ease. He is well read in Hindu scriptures and his knowledge of Indian philosophy is extensive

His industrial career commenced only twelve years ago, and to-day he is one of the biggest industrial magnates in the country. He has a way of making a success of concerns, which in other hands tend to sink or fail. Always keeping in view the best interests of the country he forged ahead and planned industrial enterprises, which have ultimately proved of immense public benefit and utility. Not many years ago, his centies of activity were scattered in small isolated places. To-day they have grown into self-sufficient towns, aptly named after his ancestors, Dalmianagar (Bihar), Dalmiapuram (South India),

Dalmia Dadri (Punjab) and Shantinigar (Karachi Sind) the last bear ing the name of his illustrious son in liw. These are the perfect model towns well planned with clean filtered water and electricity laid on Large parks picturesque lawns green playgrounds and wide cement roads surrounding well ventilated modern fuctories present a colourful spectacle. These unique features attract every week crowds of tourists and visitors.

The growth of Dalma Cement industry which he entered in 1937 admirably illustrates his organising capacity and perseverance in the face of tremendous competition and opposition from powerful combines. The keen competition put up by his rivals which has been hitherto imprecedented lasted for years but his untring energy patience and courage wore its edge off and the industry was set on a sound and prosperous footing.

At the end of 1942 he floated the Bharat Bank Ltd with an authorised capital of Rs 20 crores and an issued capital of Rs 15 crores. The avowed aim of this enterprise is to render service to the masses of India ultimately to help in spreading industry to every nook and corner of the country and to make crores of men and women bank minded by thousands of branches operating in every city and town of India

Seth Dalma lives plainly wears simple clothes and confines his personal expenses to the barest necessities of life. He keeps himself abreast of latest developments in world politics trade and industry and devotes hours daily to the study of religion and philosophy. His connections are widespread and he is on terms of close friendship with eminent political leaders commercial magnates ruling princes provincial governors executive councilions and high officials.

Dalmanagar is the seat of the manufacture of diverse articles of public utility such as Cement Sugar Paper Vegetable Ghee Sulphuric Acid Bleaching Powder Caustic Soda Table Salt Distempers Filter Paper Playing Cards etc Seth Dalmia takes greater pride in the facilities Dalmianagar provides to the workers than in the magnitudes of the industries it houses. He takes keen personal interest in the welfare of his employees for whose recreation special provision has been made. There are clubs libranes gymnasiums playgrounds orchestras theatricals study circles and schools which are the best of their kind in any industrial colony. On all these he spends generously always aiming at providing for workers a happy and healthy life.

His charties run into millions but publicity being avoided few know much about them Following the precepts of the Grid he gives because he should making no distinction of caste and creed in giving In spite of having monumental achievements to his credit Seth Dalmia views them with a sense of detachment always realising that he is not the doer of what he has done but that in him God has fulfilled Himself

He set up the firm in 1932 by becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange and within less than a decade earned a name for himself both on Stock Exchange and among the commercial community He combines in himself those per sonal qualities which bring success in business as well as affection of those with whom he comes in contact. His personal comes in contact. His personal charm and magnetism easily wind for him the trust and confidence of those he meets and his absolute devotion to duty and sound business instinct strengthen the relationship so formed

Harkisondass was born in Bombay on 31st October 1904. He was educated at the Bharda New High School and then joined his fathers firm of Freight Brokers well known in freight line as Messrs Aspinwall Lukhinidass & Company. Soon after he was taken as a partner. He joined the freight business at the early age of 18 and his association with his father's business which continued for ten years enabled him to come in contact with many businessmen as well as shipping and export houses. Due to diversion of export trade from Bombay to other Indian ports and to general world depression he turned his attention to the Stock Exchange in 193°. Harkisondass is also a member of the East India Cotton Association and the Bombay Bullion Exchange. The training he had under his father combined with his own abilities helped him to bring the firm to its present position.

The firm of Messrs Harkisondass Lukhmidass is today anjong the front line firms on the Bombay Stock Exchange It has set before itself the aim of specialising in genuine investment business for which a Stock Exchange primarily exists For promotion of such business correct information should be supplied to the investing public and Harkisondass has made a point of developing a statistical department which publishes from time to time wall charts as well as special Surveys of industries

Harkisondass has displayed a broad progressive outlook in business activities and in other walks of life as is evident from the financial assistance he has given privately to many institutions and individuals Address, 17 Carmichael Road Bombay

UREISHY RATIUSHAN ITTIKHARUL MULK, KHAN BAHADUR, LT-COL, HAJI MAQBOOL HASSAN, MA, LLB, Home Minister, Bahawalpur Government, belongs to a respectable family of the Kureish of Arabia Though hailing originally from the Meerut District, his ancestors had long settled in the State Boin at Bahawalpur in 1900 received his early education in the State, and, later on, joined the Muslim University, Aligarh, where he passed his MA, LLB in 1925 From his earliest childhood he exhibited traits which gave promise of his future eminence

His personal magnetism made itself felt in the sphere of his employment, where he won the golden opinions of his colleagues as well as the ruler under whom he served He began his career in 1925, when he joined the personal staff of His Highness the Nawab Ruler Bahadur of Bahawalpur as an Aide-de-But, it did not take long to discover that the young incumbent had in him the makings of a capable administrator in 1927, less than two years from the date of his appointment, he was promoted to the rank of Assistant Military Secretary But this was only a stepping stone In January 1930 he was given the combined office of Private and Military Secretary, with the additional charge of the portfolios of Education and Municipalities, and was subsequently raised to the status of Minister-in-Waiting In 1932 he paid a visit to England and other Western countries in company with His Highness the Nawab Ruler Bahadur—a visit which he repeated in The beautiful volume in which he has chronicled 1935 and in 1936 the impressions of his first itinerary is an eloquent testimony to his great powers of observation and expression He has also been to the Near His services to the State East and performed the holy pilgrimage were recently recognised by the Government by the grant of the title of Khan Bahadur, which is the first distinction of its kind to be conferred upon a purely Riyasti Vizier in the State He is also the recipient of many decorations and distinctions from the State, and is His Highness the Nawab Ruler Bahadur's representative in the Senate of the Punjab University

During the 18 years of his incumbency he has been in charge of several departments, and in each he has left the impress of his personality in the shape of many useful administrative reforms which he introduced from time to time. It is due mainly to his efforts that the Chief Court of Bahawalpur has been raised to the status of a High Court. He is a very capable and efficient administrator, having won the highest praise of both the ruler and the ruled by his politeness, impartiality and keen sympathy with the people of the State. He is immensely popular with all classes of His Highness's subjects.

PADAMPAT, M.L.A. (U.P.), Governing Director, J. K. Industries, Cawnpore, is the eldest son of the late Lala Kamlapat Singhania, the doyen of Indian Industries in U.P. Originally belonging to the province of Marwar, the Singhanias have made Cawnpore their home and the high position now occupied by the United Provinces in the sphere of industry is in a great measure due to their business acumen, integrity and foresight.

Born: January 1905.

Educated privately; Sir Padampat entered into his father's business in his teens. Soon afterwards, with his father, he undertook an extensive tour of Europe. The knowledge gained during this tour enabled Sir Padampat to harness it for the betterment of Indian industries. It also enhanced his business acumen and he has spared no pains to translate into reality what he learned and saw during his tour.

Ably assisted by his two brothers, Kailashpat Singhania and Lakshmipat Singhania, Sir Padampat was able to raise what was an ordinary industry in the UP. to a high level in a very short time J. K. Industries, which today comprises more than forty-two different units including Textiles, Iron and Steel, Plastics, Aluminium, Glass, Food Products, Chemicals, Ammunition, Banking and Finance, Sugar, etc., are the results of Sir Padampat's strenuous efforts towards India's industrialisation

In 1932 he founded the Merchants Chamber of UP and in 1935 was honoured with the Presidentship of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry From 1941 to 1943 he was guiding the activities of the Employers Association of Northern India

In recognition of the valuable assistance received by the Government and of his efforts towards promoting the industrial development in India Government were pleased to confer on him the honour of Knighthood in January 1943 at the young age of 38

His activities in the sphere of business are large and varied He is the Chairman of —

The UP Industrial and Financing Corporation Ltd

The Bank of Japur Ltd

The Hindustan Commercial Bank Ltd and a host of other companies

Sir Padampat was Chairman of the Government P_{OWer} Alcohol Committee

He is also a member of

The Central Advisory Board of the Forest Utilisation

The Indian Central Jute Committee

The Indian Central Cotton Committee

The Cotton Textile Panel representing U P Textile Mills

The Board of UP Industries etc etc

A noted philanthrophist Sir Padampat has donated large sums of money to deserving causes such as Primary Schools propagation of Hindi and to religious social and educational institutions

His chief hobby is to construct modern buildings of which Kamla Tower (where are housed the Central administration offices of the J K Industries) Kamla Retreat (the beauty spot of Cawnpore) Ganga Kuti (his residence) are examples His chief recreations are riding sports and music

Industrial needs...

The present war has given an important impetus to industrial expansion in India, but it has brought home to her industrialists the extent to which the national industries depend on materials imported from abroad. While, the expansion of such industries has increased the demand for basic materials many fold, the growing restrictions on imports have caused acute shortage of available supply. The Swaika enterprises manufacture many of the essential basic materials. They are the biggest suppliers of vegetable oils, chemicals and minerals to vital industries throughout India and are pioneers in the manufacture of such basic chemicals as Oleic and Cresylic Acids. They specialize in manufacture of coal-tar bye products require healthy gums. Prevent gum diseases by regular use of 'Genozo' tooth paste. Dentists recommend 'Genozo' because it contains a special vaccine which protects gums against attacks by germs of pyorrhoea and other dental diseases.

'Genozo' cleans and polishes your teeth gently and thoroughly, leaving the mouth cool and refreshed.
